A bid to host the World Science Fiction Convention in Melbourne
by
Victorian Science Fiction Conventions
Inc

Australia is bidding to hold its fourth World Science Fiction Convention in 2010, following on from its intimate and successful Worldcons in 1975, 1985 and 1999.

Having a Worldcon come to Australia is an important event for fandom in this country. A Worldcon represents the best opportunity for science fiction and fantasy fans to see and hear a large number of writers, artists, publishers, editors, and readers, from all parts of the globe, all in one place. If you've ever thought about attending a Worldcon, then having one in Australia is your best and cheapest option.

In order for us to win the right to host the 2010 Worldcon we need to do a lot of work to convince fans both overseas, and in Australia, that we have the knowledge, enthusiasm and expertise to run such a big event.

To that end we have organised a bidding committee, based in Melbourne. At this time we are relatively few in number but aim to increase in size over the coming months. If you'd like to get involved to further our chances of having this once-in-a-decade event back in Melbourne, drop us a line, send us an email or coat-tail one of us at a convention near you. Or, failing that, become a pre-supporter of the convention and donate $20 to the cause.
