DC in 2021 Worldcon Bid

Gearing up for a Monumental Worldcon

What is DC in 2021?

Washington, D.C. fandom has played host to many science fiction and fantasy conventions, including Disclave, Capclave, and two Worldcons — Discon I (1963) and Discon II (1974). A new generation of area fans is bidding to bring the World Science Fiction Convention (Worldcon) to DC for a third time in August of 2021 at the Marriott Wardman Park in the Woodley Park neighborhood of Northwest Washington, D.C.

A Message from the Chair

Welcome to our first Progress Report,

As I write this in Dublin, on the banks of the river Liffey, from the warm comfort of a public house, I can see the CCD.

I cannot wait to see you all there. To see all the things that we want to have happen, brought to fruition, joining us as we enjoy a five-day convention celebrating the world of science fiction here in Dublin.

It is now six months since we won the bid, and it is such an exciting prospect to be bringing the Worldcon to Ireland for the first time. Support has been strong, and we have been out flying the flag.

We've had a lot of people join the con, and I'd especially like to welcome the 100 members so far whose first Worldcon this is. Welcome.

We've been recruiting and need to do more of that and will be having our first All Staff weekend here in Dublin on the last weekend in April. That is exciting, as we start to engage with some of our 400 volunteers and start to work out all the details of what we are doing. Will you join us? Would you volunteer? Please do.

Our first price rise occurred on 3 April, but before that we announced our Family and Installment plans. I hope that is something that can help you spread the cost. We are heavily engaged with the Garda (police) vetting department, working on how we can deliver children's programme and child care in line with local legislation and best practice. This is important to us, but in many respects we are breaking new ground.

Our programme brains trust kicked off in January and Exhibits recruited the Art Show team. GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation) will be live in May 2018, and we have been working hard, to ensure that we comply with these new data rules.

I was very excited to see that people are already booking Air BnB accommodation, which is great news. Our own hotels will be shared with you in August, and will be released to the general public in January, with an early release for those with access requirements, it is great to hear fans taking the initiative and doing their own thing, be it an apartment, or a small bed and breakfast. Go for it!

It is important to me that everyone feels welcome and that interactions are positive and enjoyable. We have had a code of conduct for Irish conventions since 2015 and it continues to be updated as we get closer to the convention. We've recently expanded our team, and please do check our code of conduct out.

I am tempted to list all the progress we have made, but I am limited to a word count (thank goodness): although our convention is 16 months away, we are working on so much right now.

You can help us, though, and that is important. Please do make mention online of this progress report, and that you are coming to Dublin 2019- An Irish Worldcon. Feel free to volunteer, and get involved in the many opportunities on many levels. We love to hear ideas, and our programme team welcomes them, so do send them in.

It was absolutely amazing to watch the votes get counted, to see the support and enthusiasm, and to feel it, especially at home in Ireland, when we visited Irish Discworldcon, Octocon, Gaelcon, and Leprecon. Also, internationally already this year we have had a strong presence in Boston and Chicago, and we were out in numbers at Eastercon in England as we continue to welcome people and ask them to join us.

Most of all, my thanks, and continued thanks for your support.

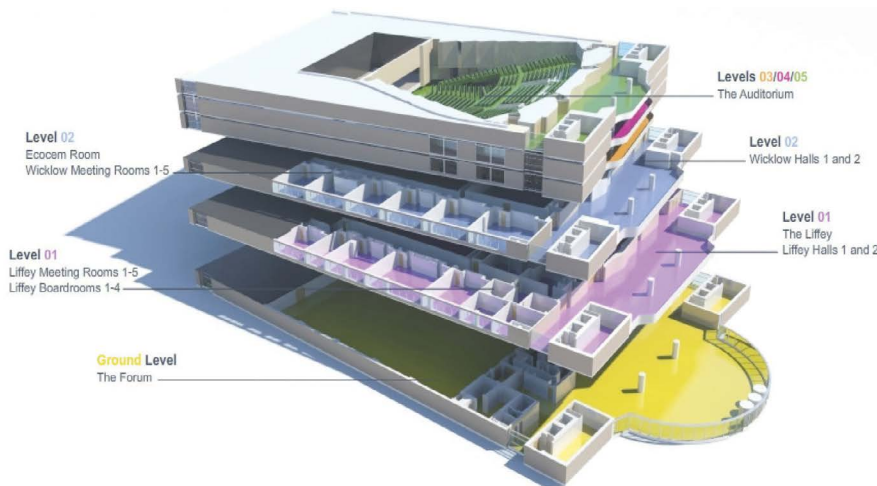

If you have any query at all, please do not hesitate to contact us at info@dublin2019.com As ever, my very best and sincerest thanks, with continued thanks for your support.

*James Bacon,
Chair*

The Convention with a View

The venue for Dublin 2019 is the Convention Centre Dublin (or CCD), a somewhat unique venue for a Worldcon in that it's located in the city centre and its construction is vertical, rather than horizontal. This geometry will reduce the amount of walking you'll do, if not your vertical movement on escalators and in elevators.

Worldcons have been far from average size, you'll be happy to note there are facilities available near the CCD that would allow us to expand our programme space by up to 50% and our social space can be increased by nearly as much with the construction of a marquee in the CCD grounds.

Entrance to the CCD is from North Wall Quay into a large foyer on the Ground Level, where you'll find Registration and all the usual member services functions.

Behind this area is the Forum, a 2,721m² double height hall that will be the home for most of our Exhibits, Art Show, and Dealers Room.

Up one floor on Level 1 is a bunch of our programme spaces, our 900-seat second stage, and our fan bar and lounge. Up another floor to Level 2 is the rest of our programme spaces, which in the evening will be turned over to parties. On Level 3 are the entrances to the stalls of our 2,000-seat main auditorium, with entrances to the balcony on the next floor, Level 4, and wheelchair access to the back of the balcony on the top floor, Level 5. On every level are large open foyers that will provide places to sit and just chat or get a coffee and cake, all with great views out across the city. All in all, the CCD provides the perfect location for an average-sized European Worldcon.

However, given that the last two European

Earlier I mentioned parties, which we are hosting in the CCD. However, these will not be like convention centre parties in the past as we have a beverage and snack waiver that will allow you to serve not only unlimited amounts of non-alcoholic beverages but a reasonable amount of alcohol to boot, along with an unlimited amount of dry goods (crisps, nuts, etc.). The only real restriction is on the serving of food (hot or cold), which will need to be sourced through the convention centre.

We will have six standard party rooms each night (one of which can be split into two for smaller parties), with an average capacity of around 100. We also hope to have some larger rooms available for large parties with an average capacity of around 250. These rooms will be available Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings, and the hire cost should be comparable with the cost of a similar capacity hotel suite at a North American Worldcon. Each hire will include glassware, ice, and lemons/limes that will be replenished by the CCD as required. We expect to open party bookings shortly after Worldcon 76.

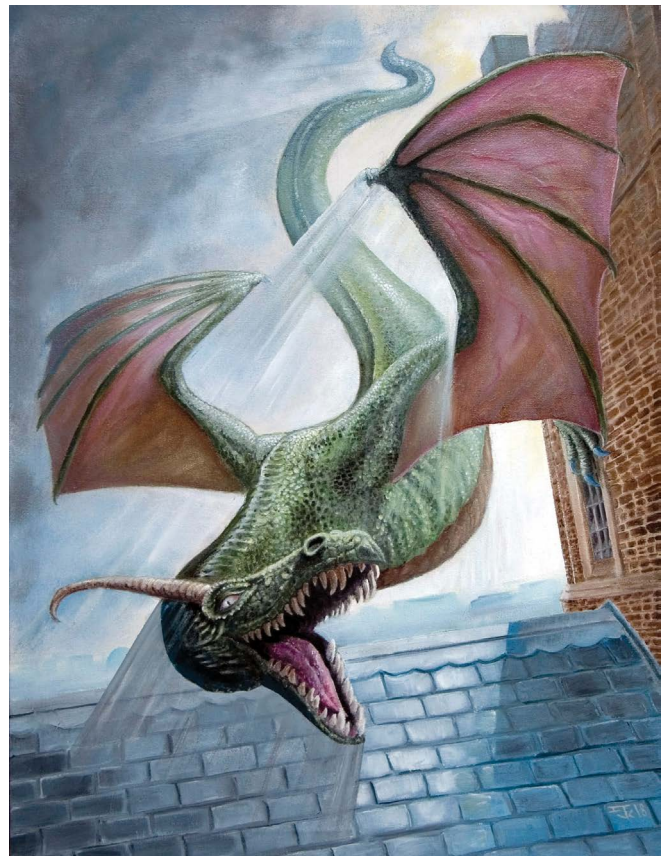

The other area I know you'll all be interested in are the accommodation arrangements for the convention. It's too early to give actual rates right now but we are negotiating for a range of blocks in variety of hotels and some student accommodations to try to provide a range of rates to match all purses (as best we can, given the nature of Dublin hotel rates). Our aim is that all our blocks will either be within a kilometre walk of the CCD or within a half-kilometre walk of a public transport stop on a route that will take you to the CCD.

We plan to publish our blocks, with full details of the rates, location and transport options, and room details (including access room details) shortly after Worldcon 76. This will enable you to research the best option for you before standard room bookings open through a single portal in early 2019. (We aim to open for access booking in late 2018. Note that to access this option you'll need to be registered with our access team before that date.)

To contact us with any facility questions, email us, for now, at facilities@dublin2019.com, but watch the website for announcements of party and accommodation-specific email addresses coming soon.

Programme

Fáilte, a cháirde! Dublin 2019's programme planning is underway, which likely means you're wondering "What the craic?" Well, you've come to the right place to find out what's programme up to, and we've got a lot to share. From brainstorming to recruiting, the Programme Team is hard at work actively bringing on staff members to build a programme to remember.

Dublin 2019's programme will be a wonderful assortment of panels, presentations, and discussions designed to delight, entertain, and educate our members. In addition, programming will feature a wide selection of games, music, and demos -- but wait, there's more! We will also have an incredible selection of program participants who will be available for autographing, readings, and kaffeeklatsches.

Our Programme Team comprises volunteers from Dublin (Baile Átha Cliath) to Boston, Helsinki to Thailand, London, The Netherlands, California, and beyond! Fáilte roimh Gael agus Gall! We're keen to have a diverse team that is focused on bringing together a world-class programme that includes Éireann's legends, science, history, and language -- not to mention our innate love of a well-spun tale.

Get involved! While we're well on our way to a brilliant programme, we'd love a bit of help from our friends:

- Anyone interested in volunteering to work as a staff member for Programme is encouraged to fill out the Dublin 2019 General Staff Volunteer Form.
- Got a great programme idea to share? We're keen to hear it. So, be sure to submit your programme ideas today.
- Coming to Dublin? Fantastic! If you'd like to be considered as a programme participant, all you need to do is fill out our programme participant request form.

Dublin 2019 is sure to be magical, and we are looking forward to creating a fantastic programme for you and with you.

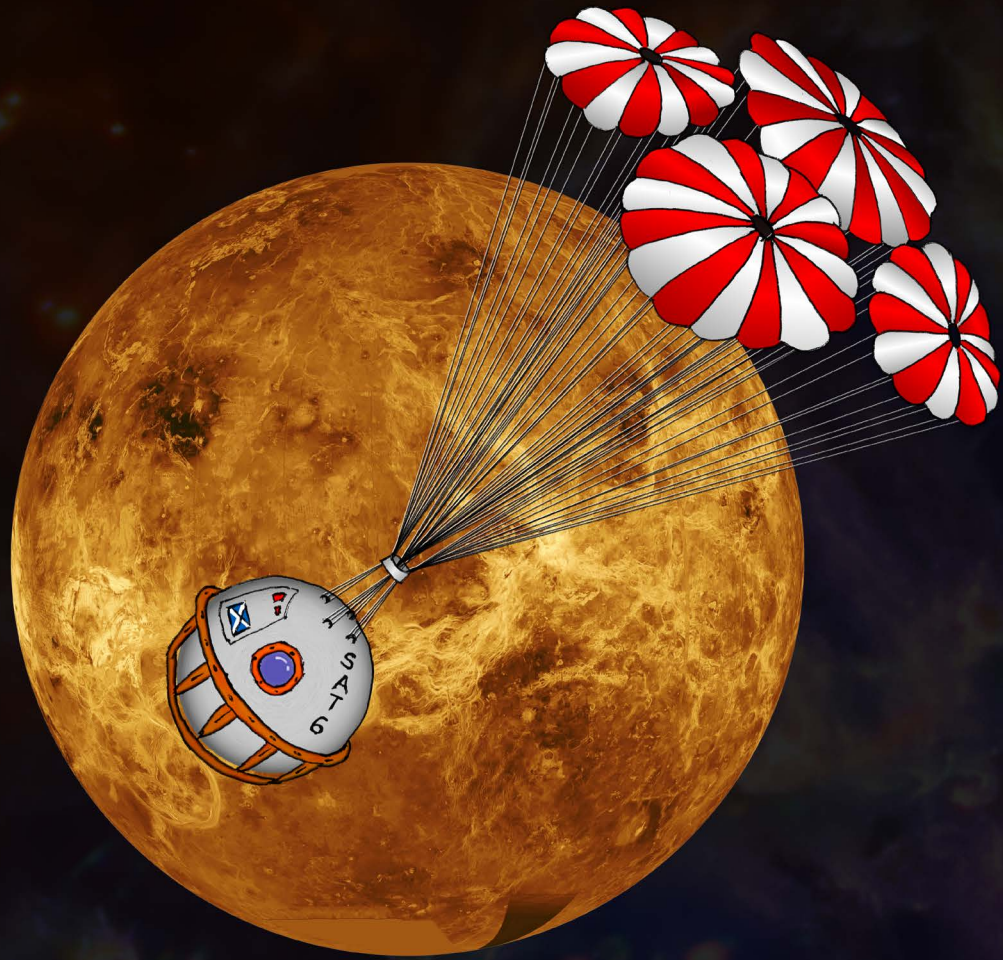

Visit the programming page on the website today to submit ideas or participate at:

Theatre Call

Are you someone who makes theatre happen? Are you an actor or playwright? Do you know one? Dublin 2019 Theatre is looking for a few good people who would like to stage a play or theatrical event at Dublin 2019. We are open to any proposals but are particularly looking for performances of science fiction or fantasy – think genre – with hopefully an Irish connection! Please contact co-Theatre Heads Fiona O'Sullivan and Lisa Macklem (theatre@dublin2019.com). Please contact us if you have an interest in volunteering in any capacity for theatre!
