About the Awards

Hugo Awards

The Science Fiction Achievement Award, also known as the Hugo Award®, is given annually by World Science Fiction Society® (WSFS®). Worldcon members have awarded Hugos every year since 1953 except for 1954. For more information about the Hugo Awards, see <http://www.thehugoawards.org/>.

John W. Campbell Award for Best New Writer

The John W. Campbell Award is given to the best new science fiction or fantasy writer whose first work of science fiction or fantasy was published in a professional publication in the previous two years. The award is sponsored by Dell Magazines. For more information about the Campbell Award, see <http://www.writertopia.com/awards/campbell>.

Forrest J Ackerman Big Heart Award

The Big Heart Award was created by two prominent fans, Forrest J Ackerman and Walter Daugherty. They did so in the name of that era’s special fan and pro E. Everett Evans who, in passing, personified the remarkable spirit of science fiction fandom. There are some special fans who are known for their selfless deeds—each one of whom has a spirit of big-heartedness, specially singled out once a year for The Big Heart Award. In 2006, this award was renamed in honor of one its founders, Forrest J Ackerman.

For more information on the Big Heart Award, see <http://www.denvention.org/bigheart.php>.

First Fandom Awards

The First Fandom Awards are presented annually for contributions to and accomplishments in the field of science fiction dating back more than 30 years. Contributions can be as a fan, writer, editor, artist, agent, or any combination of the five.

This year, First Fandom will give out three awards:

First Fandom Hall of Fame Award

Posthumous Hall of Fame Award

Sam Moskowitz Archive Award (presented for excellence in science fiction collecting; it can be for a personal collection or for an institution's collection)

For more information on the First Fandom Awards, see <http://www.firstfandom.org/ffhofaward.htm>.

Fan Funds: TAFF and DUFF

TAFF and DUFF are the longest-standing, best-known fan funds. The Down Under Fan Fund (DUFF) raises money to send fans between Australia and the US and the Transatlantic Fan Fund (TAFF) raises money to send fans between Europe and the US. TAFF winner Chris Garcia and DUFF winners Sue and Steve Francis will be presenting the art-related Hugo Awards this year.

For more information on these fan funds, visit <http://sffanz.sf.org.nz/duff/> and <http://taff.org.uk/>.
