FORWARD

The following listing of the alpha-numeric ACE BOOKS has been compiled in three parts:

- Part 1 - Listing by Publisher's Number
- Part 2 - Listing by Author
- Part 3 - Listing by Title

The data contained in the listing has been checked carefully against the actual books and has been proofread three times; I am certain that there are still some typing errors, however. I believe that the listing is complete and I can authenticate every entry from my own collection. There may be arguments, however, concerning some of the titles that I chose to include or exclude. Considering the importance of Edgar Rice Burroughs and Andre Norton to ACE BOOKS, I have included all of their titles, regardless of the science fictional content. On the other hand, I have excluded most of the STAR ("K") series, Asimov's Is Anyone There? (N-4) and Lupoff's biography of Edgar Rice Burroughs (N-6) on the basis that they are not science fiction.

The system that I have used for alphabetizing is based on the first significant word, and any punctuation is disregarded. Therefore, "Moondust" (one word) is shown later in the listing than "Moon Maid" (two words), and "Game-Player" is considered a single word.

I have been assisted greatly in making this listing by Don Kramer and Marty Massoglia, both members of the Los Angeles Science Fantasy Society. They have helped me in making the listing complete, and also in locating copies of many of the books and furnishing me with publication dates.
