INFORMATION ABOUT OUR LOGO

Alan Stewart asked me to provide some details for this PR regarding Constantinople the three legged feline mascot and hero of the Convention in '94. Well what does one say about a three legged cat ?

Firstly, Constantinople is approximately 5½ years old. The oldest drawing of him exists to my knowledge on page 4 of a fanzine titled The Adventures of Man N^o 9 published in March 1986. In October of the same year I published Constantinople the Brave, Fun with a Three Legged Cat. It was a 20 page colour-in book that was handed out to fans, Hare Krishnas and anybody who was interested in it.

Since then the happy three legged pussy cat has had appearances in various places, not just in fanzines! He has been scrawled on bits of paper and pinned up on walls at parties usually with the victorious slogan 'Constantinople Lives!'. Then there was the time I constructed a life size blue three legged cat in the form of a child's wooden toy on wheels. It was given to Danny Heap for his birthday.

Now Constantinople has the unique and honourable position as Convention logo. I am personally glad to see him employed in this manner. It guarantees his survival. He won't just disappear into obscurity as part of some forgotten fanzine.
