Greetings from the Conchair

Hello! Welcome to Cryptic ConFusion. Whether you come every year or this is your very first ConFusion, I hope you find many moments of fun and happiness throughout the weekend.

I often describe ConFusion to people as a sort of three-ring circus. With 24-hour gaming, 24-hour ConSuite full of drinks and foodstuffs, day and night-time panels on all kinds of SF-related topics including wonderful filk music concerts (and this year a live radio play!), KidFusion, the Art Show, the Huckster's room, the Masquerade costume contest Saturday, B-Movie and anime rooms upstairs, dances Friday and Saturday night, and an all-convention Cryptic Game, there's a lot going on. What did I leave out? Parties! There will also be parties Friday and Saturday night, including DDR and Rock Band parties hosted by ConFusion itself upstairs, and then Sunday night there's a "Dead Dog" party in the ConSuite, for those who just aren't ready to let the convention end.

It's that much fun, and then in addition there's all the magic and fun you yourself bring to the convention. Which is key, really, because the main reason people come to conventions is to find the wonderful friends they've never met before, and connect with them. Talk, dance, dress in silly or gorgeous obsessively detailed costumes if you like (or don't), and let the real you see and be seen. If you need help getting oriented, attend "So This is Your First Convention" and ask questions!

Do come to opening ceremonies on Friday at 8 pm and then the reception next door at 9 so you can see who our GoHs are and meet them in person. We have a lot of Guests of Honor this year, and they are all fabulous. Read all about them right here in the program book. There are other important things in the program book, like a map, schedule, rules we ask you to follow, and a list of the concom who made this possible - which reminds me, please do consider volunteering. You can win prizes, gain the adoring appreciation of your peers, and next year that could be you on that concom list. Honestly, that is not a threat.

I wouldn't do this if it were not rewarding, and the best reward for me is to stroll around this beautiful hotel watching moments of fun, silliness, creativity and connection pervade the halls.

So have fun. For me. Oh, and could you carry this flat of pop up to the ConSuite?

--Anne

Cryptic ConFusion
Confusion Policies:

We ask that you wear your con badge at all times. Please remember that a con badge will be required for entry to all convention functions, to include the consuite, dealer’s room, and all panels. A badge is only recognized if it has a number and is registered to you. Please do not lend your badge to anyone, as it will result in both the lender and the borrower being ejected from the convention. If you lose your badge Badge replacement: If you lose your badge, come to Ops and beg, prettily, with a show of photo ID and some green stuff, and we might give you a new one. Further disciplinary action to be determined by the head of Ops might involve Vaseline. In other words: Don’t lose your badge.

Please notify us in Operations if you have any problems or concerns. We can only fix what we are told is broken, and the Operations desk (the coatroom across from the ballrooms on the main floor) is staffed 24 hours to take care of your needs. Additionally, you will be able to call INSERT NUMBER HERE to reach Ops.

The ConFusion Convention Committee reserves the right to expel any attendee without a refund should they forget the common sense rules of respect, tolerance, and peaceful conditions for others attending the convention. Should you wish to contest your unreasonable expulsion, you can do so by sending your complaint, in writing, to AASFA, P.O. Box 8284, Ann Arbor, MI 48107 to plead your case. All attendees are invited to attend the “What Did We Do Right, and What Can We Do Better” session on Sunday to tell us what you liked and did not like. The panel is typically at 3PM in Dennison I/II, but please check your schedule book for the most up-to-date information.

Most importantly, have fun. Please enjoy your time and do what you can to make the time that others spend at your con more enjoyable. With that in mind, here are a few less-than-obvious (and in some cases all-too-obvious) rules:

Alcohol:
Michigan’s minimum drinking age is 21. This is not a guideline, but a law, so please don’t expect to be made an exception and please recognize that we will ask to see ID before serving. We also reserve the right to stop serving anyone who appears to have overindulged. It is our job to help provide fun, but it is our job to help provide safety too; we appreciate your help in doing both.

If you are sharing your personal stash of alcoholic beverages, whether at a room party or while wandering about, please ensure that all recipients are of age. Anybody (or party) found allowing minors to consume alcoholic beverages will be immediately shut down. No warnings, no exceptions.

If you do consume, please do not drive. Michigan has very strict laws and a .08 BAC limit. If you have been drinking, and you need to be someplace, please contact Operations and they will do whatever is in their power to ensure that you do not have to drive while intoxicated. If you need to get someplace within 5 miles of the hotel, the hotel shuttle service can also take you there, and will do so at no charge. Please, please, do not drink and drive.

Because the hotel has a liquor license that applies to the first floor hospitality areas, all alcohol served by the convention or its party hosts must stay on or above the 2nd floor at all times. If we fail to do this, the whole convention could be canceled (no, we are not shitting you) according to our contract with the hotel. If you are drinking alcohol, keep all those nice free drinks up on the party floors and do NOT attempt to take them with you to the dance or other programming on the ground floor. If you carry your drink down to the 1st floor it will be taken away from you and your convention badge may be taken away as well.

Controlled and Illegal Substances:
Regardless of your personal views, drugs are illegal in Michigan. Medicinal marijuana notwithstanding, you know what could get you busted. So do we. So do the authorities. Please do us all a favor and just don’t partake.

Weapons and Replica Weapons:
Officially, if it looks like a real firearm, it is a real firearm, so real or realistic firearms are NOT permitted at the con, regardless of status. Peacebonding, disassembly, or lack of functionality do not change this. Absolutely no real or realistic firearms. All other weapons should be brought to Operations to get a red yarn mark indicating that your weapon is peacebonded—that you will not draw or wield your weapon. No weapons—sword, staff, martial arts device, or whatever—should be used in any fighting, mock or otherwise, or brandished in any way short of posing for a photograph. Violators of this policy will be asked to get rid of their weapon or be ejected from the convention.

BDSM & Public “Lewdness”:
Many fans enjoy this opportunity to flaunt their leather, lace, PVC, duct-tape, and other costuming choices, often with very skin-presenting results. Please keep in mind, though, that “Safe, Sane, and Consensual” includes bystanders and other convention members. Please adhere to the legal regulations covering nudity and cover the essential “bits” while in the public areas. Also, no BDSM equipment should be demonstrated in those public areas, so we ask that you get your whips, floggers, cats ‘o nine-tales, crops and other implements of BDSM fun peacebonded with purple yarn. What you do with them in your own room is your own business, but please be aware that other con-goers did not consent to see you flogging your partner in the hallway.

Please also be aware that the age of consent is 16. We all know what 15 will get you…

Appropriate Footwear for the Lobby
We all need to support the restaurant that is open to and contiguous with the hotel lobby by observing health regulations: Always wear shoes in the lobby, no matter how sparse the rest of your costume may be. Masquerade contestants for whom it is part of their costume to have bare feet can do so in the muster room and on stage but are requested to don appropriate footwear for the trip to the masquerade area as well as for any parading about in the lobby afterwards.

Not every good writer is also a nice person with the coolest name ever. In fact, only one person, in my opinion, epitomizes all three of these qualities: Cat Rambo. Engaged in the genre community, the feminist community, and helping out with Clarion West, I think Cat would exemplify the definition of “proactive” even if she wasn’t also a first-rate fiction writer and editor.

I’ve seen all aspects of Cat’s personality while working with her on the novelette The Surgeon’s Tale, the most fun I’ve ever had in collaboration. She’s a strong, confident writer with a healthy sense of humor wedded to the kind of discipline and endurance it takes to make it in this business. In a very short time she’s gone from being just another promising newcomer to someone with credits like Weird Tales, Asimov’s SF Magazine, and Strange Horizons. Her fiction is often lyrical but tough-minded, unabashedly mixing traditional tropes with unconventional approaches. You get a sense in her work of someone who has actually lived a life and experienced a lot. That’s something you can’t really fake in fiction.

In addition to her writing, Cat has recently received kudos as fiction editor at Fantasy Magazine, with Sean Wallace, and in a very short time has left her very positive stamp on that publication. I know that Cat is hard at work discovering the next generation of fantasists, and that more than one writer is going to come up to her at a convention in the future—maybe even this one—and tell her just how much her comments meant to them. Cat really understands the meaning of paying it forward.

Another thing I love about Cat is that she has a healthy sense of curiosity, she cares about other people, she’s open to new adventures, and, well, as I might have mentioned she has the coolest name ever (which she freely admits is in no small part due to her husband, Wayne Rambo).

Although she’s primarily known in genre circles, Cat’s experience is far wider than that. She is a graduate of the John Hopkins Writing Seminars and studied with the legendary John Barth. She is also one of the people behind Armageddon MUD, one of the oldest interactive text-based role-playing games on the Internet; she continues to be involved with the gaming industry to this day. In addition, Cat currently serves as the chair of the Copyright Committee of SFWA.

You’re very lucky to have Cat as a guest at your convention, and knowing her like I do, I’m sure she’s looking forward to meeting all of you. – Jeff VanderMeer
It would be impossible to list everything Cat has done over her career so we have chosen a selection from 2008 – present; she is one busy woman!

Cory Doctorow is a science fiction novelist, blogger and technology activist. He is the co-editor of the popular weblog Boing Boing, and a contributor to Wired, Popular Science, Make, the New York Times, and many other publications and websites. He was formerly Director of European Affairs for the Electronic Frontier Foundation. His novels are published by Tor Books and simultaneously on the Internet under Creative Commons licenses, encouraging their re-use and sharing. He has won the Locus and Sunburst Awards, and been nominated for the Hugo, Nebula and British Science Fiction Awards.

Cory's latest novel, Little Brother, was published in May, and his latest short story collection is Overclocked: Stories of the Future Present. A collection of his essays, called Content: Selected Essays on Technology, Creativity, Copyright and the Future of the Future will be published later this year by Tachyon Books. Also due in 2008 is a collection of comic books inspired by his short fiction, coming from IDW, called Cory Doctorow's Futuristic Tales of the Here and Now. He is presently working on a new young adult novel, For The Win (about union organizing in video games). On February 3, 2008, he became a father. The little girl is called Poesy Emmeline Fibonacci Nautilus Taylor Doctorow, and is a marvel that puts all the works of technology and artifice to shame.
So You Think You Can't Draw?

When I first met Diana, 30 years ago this past October, she could not draw. I won't say she couldn't draw a straight line, cause she could. Great at straight lines and curves and circles. Very exact. All her art was very graphic, boxy, symmetrical. Even her people and her creatures. They looked like they'd come off a draftsman's table. Big "Frying Pan" eyes, paddle like hands and hidden feet. While her talent for design and layout already shown through, she wasn't going to be on in the inside of Analog any time soon.

But she WANTED to be an artist, more than anything. So she dedicated herself to being one. Line after line, drawing after drawing, sketchbook after sketchbook. Chuck Jones, the great animator, said that his instructor had taught them that every artist has 1,000 bad drawings in them. And the sooner they got them out of the way, the sooner they could get down to the good stuff. And that's how Diana taught herself to draw, by drawing. Hundreds and hundreds of drawings. Pages of hands, of noses, of wolves and dragons. Hours with her nose buried in collection books by her art heroes, Michael Whelan and Alphonse Mucha and the Hilderbrant Brothers and great Fan artists like Tim Kirk and Leah Dowling and Alicia Austin and more. Studying them, learning from them.

Diana cut her teeth drawing illos for fan zines, fanfic. The Pern based Fanfic club, Fort Weyr, the Elfquest club, Timberlake Holt were excellent training grounds for assignments and deadlines and feedback.

Now, all these years later, she's been nominated for three Hugo Awards as Best Fan Artist. She makes her living selling art at cons from her dealer's table, some via art shows and a commission list that has upwards of a year to bubble to the top of. She does great business on the Furry Con circuit and had become one of the movers and shaker artists of the fandom. She also makes a great showing at the comic and gaming cons too.

You'll find no one more willing to discuss art than Diana. About the business, the fun and ins and outs of it.

Oh and yes, she did get to do an illo inside Analog.
Elizabeth Turtle is a planetary scientist at the Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory (APL). She received a B.S. in Physics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1989 and a Ph.D. in Planetary Sciences from the Univ. of Arizona in 1998. She studies impact cratering and other geological processes on the terrestrial planets and the satellites of the outer planets through a combination of remote sensing observations and numerical modeling. She has worked with the imaging teams of the Galileo and Cassini missions, planning and analyzing observations the satellites of Jupiter and Saturn, respectively. She is also a co-investigator on the Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter Camera, planned for launch to the Moon in Fall 2008, and a member of Science Definition Teams convened by NASA to investigate possible future missions to the outer Solar System.
Ralph Lorenz has a B.Eng. in Aerospace Systems Engineering from the University of Southampton in the UK and a Ph.D. in Physics in 1994 from the University of Kent at Canterbury. He worked 1990-1991 for the European Space Agency on the design of the Huygens probe and during his PhD research designed and built its penetrometer instrument that 12 years later measured the mechanical properties of Titan's surface when Huygens landed in January 2005. From 1994-2006 he worked as a planetary scientist at the Lunar and Planetary Laboratory, University of Arizona with particular interests in Titan, Mars, planetary climate, nonequilibrium thermodynamics, aerospace vehicles and radar. He continues to work on those topics at the Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory in Laurel, MD. He is on the editorial board of the International Journal of Astrobiology and is author or co-author of several books including Lifting Titan's Veil, Spinning Flight, and Space Systems Failures as well as over 140 publications in refereed journals.
David “Davroz” Rozian
Raconteur Guest of Honor

David Rozian grew up in the suburban Detroit community of Plymouth, MI, son of an engineer and a social studies teacher. This predisposed him at an early age to a fascination with science and history, and creative use of language (ie, bad puns). As a child, he immersed himself in space technology and astronomy, following the exploits of NASA’s Apollo program, the Viking landers, Pioneer and Voyager probes and the Space Shuttle. At age 12, he won an Optimists Club Speech Contest as an outspoken proponent of nuclear energy (since then, he has seldom been out-spoken!).

In October 1982, he was privileged to wait in the parking lot of a Romulus hotel while his dad made a emergency delivery to his sister, who was attending a convention of some kind. But for his woeful ignorance of such things, Conclave 7 might have been his first con. That distinction instead belongs to ConFusion 101, in January, 1983. David has not missed a ConFusion in the following 26 years!

David studied at the School of Natural Resources and Environment at the University of Michigan, specializing in Remote Sensing, pursuing his longstanding interest in imaging science. While at U of M, he became a member of the Stilyagi Air Corps and formed his lasting association with the fannish community. He was also a member of the British SciFi fanclub, TARDA^2 , where he learned of Dr Who and the evil scientist Davros, creator of the cyborg race, the Daleks. By coincidence, he saw that in combining the first three letters of his own first and last names, he could adopt the nickname by which fandom has now come to know him... DavRoz.

Fascinated with photography since he was 10, David has made picture taking a mainstay for many years. Over a quarter-century, he has amassed an archive of thousands of photographs of Michigan conventions, including the big three, ConFusion, ConClave, and Penguicon, as well as ConTraption, Youmacon, U-Con, Bacchanal, ConVersation and ConVocation, and dating as far back as Ground Zero and Nova. He has worked in such diverse fields as forensic and evidentiary photography, portraiture, graduations, automotive crash-testing, fashion and movies. He has taught seminars on photographic techniques for costumers at Conclave and Penguicon and will host a workshop Saturday afternoon.

Well known for both bad puns and garish clothing, David has also earned a reputation in fandom for bold costumes and excessive behavior. Along with a longstanding love of music, and known for playing two recorders simultaneously (/dialos/), he created a costume in order to better emulate his favorite mythical character, Pan the Piper, complete with cloven hooves and horns. Recently, at Penguicon, he joined the cast of Buffy the Musical as Sweet, the Dancing Demon. He has also handcrafted Renaissance festival garb. Find him leading late night drum circles or carousing at the Elven Toast.
Michael Andaluz is an author. He's the fan known as Freon. But, first and foremost, Michael Andaluz is an alien. But he's the type of alien that gives you hope for the future of first contact.

Michael Andaluz is the Fantoon Dynasty author guy. (Go forth and read his stuff!) But before that, he was Freon, the guy everyone in fandom knew. His first convention, when told he could put any name he wanted on his badge, he chose a newly banned car refrigerant, and has used it ever since. I know this is important, even if I can't quite explain why. When he brought his friends, they all named themselves after Bart Giamatti, thus creating the Bart Brigade. At conventions, he has occasionally slept under the table in consuite. Other years, he hasn't slept at all.

From cars to computers to random medical equipment to the con-dog machine, Freon is a mechanical genius with a mad scientist bent. The things he fixes always work, but inspection often reveals stunningly robust mechanisms which involve duct tape.

He is the Radio Free Fandom guy, freely providing all fen access to a microphone, airtime, and total creative license. He is the Pinata Riders guy, inspiring costuming creativity both by his own inspired projects (remember the huge Coke versus Pepsi Vending Machine Faceoff?) and, also by getting a bunch of creative people drunk, giving them glue guns, and then badgering them to take the results out in public. Freon has shared bourbon, weird stories, and laughter into the small hours of the morning with more folks than I can count, and never cared if he'd known the person 15 years, or 15 minutes. He's started several fannish karaoke things, leading many hapless fans to acts of lyrical and musical mayhem. He had a man in a dog suit as part of his wedding.

Freon talks to people. And he makes fun and thought-provoking sh*t up. And then he talks to people about the shit he makes up, and they either go along with it, or go forth and make up stuff of their own. The man's a creativity breeder reactor. As an added bonus, has a heart of gold. He's been helping people out, making people comfortable, getting folks to laugh their faces off, and encouraging people to get off their asses, create things, and share that creativity with each other, pretty much since he walked through fandom's doors. If you get a chance to say hi, say thank you, or hang out with him, you should go do it.

Mediterranean GAMING – Vampire (4 hrs.)
They are the blood-drinking creatures of the night. Horrors born of darkness, whose sole purpose in life...unlife, actually – is to satisfy their unholy thirst for the blood of the living. Without doubt vampires are monsters. Monsters need not always be unthinking, unfeeling terrors empty of remorse or even compassion or other human traits. Indeed, vampires can exceed their deathless curse, themselves becoming antiheroes or even heroes. But some vampires remain monsters This is the purpose of Vampire: The Requiem. It is a Modern Gothic Storytelling game, a role-playing game that allows you to build chronicles that explore morality through the metaphor of vampirism. In Vampire, you “play the monster,” and what you do as that monster both makes for an interesting story and might even teach you a little about your own values and those of your fellows. Dragon Storm is a role-playing game about shape shifters: Human werewolves, dwarven gargoyles, human dragons and elven unicorns. These characters live in an area known as the Stormlands. They use supernatural powers to battle powerful enemies, and to save the world from Dragon Storms. Most Stormlanders live like peasants of the European Middle Ages. They are ruled by nobles, who spend their time fighting for control of Stormland city-states. These struggles mean little to most people, who live in isolated villages scattered throughout the land. Magic is more important to stormlanders. They respect Od, the force of pure magic, used by wizards, witches and shamans to heal and protect. They fear Warp, corrupt magic used by necromancers to debase and destroy. Warp can blight a land, poisoning water and tainting the soil. It twists living things into warpspawn and plague beasts, insane monsters that kill for pleasure.

Friday 10-11pm - Stilyagi’s own Dennis Tabaczewski has lined up an hour of Ballroom & Swing tunes.

Friday 11pm-1am - DJ_Brick returns to ConFusion with his usual mix of aural excitement for your dancing pleasure. Brick is owner and operator of Brick House Disc Jockey Entertainment which serves Southeast Michigan. Brick will be spinning popular hits from the 50’s to the present, and yes, the Time Warp at Midnight! He’ll be taking requests too so bring yer boogie shoes!

Friday (Early Saturday) 1am-???” - DJ Noise brings his extensive mixing talents back to ConFusion. Having held residencies in Minneapolis at First Avenue (the club where Prince’s Purple Rain was shot), Ground Zero, and as DJ for the Minnesota Rollergirls, he’ll be covering several musical areas such as Trance, Psychedelic Trance, Breakbeats, Industrial and even a little Anime & Videos mixed in!

Saturday 10pm-1am - DJ_Brick didn’t get enough of you all last night so he’s back with another mix of sonic delight for your dancing pleasure. Brick, who wants area fen to know he’s available to satisfy their DJ needs (He does this for a living you know) <end shameless plug> will be spinning popular hits from the 50’s to the present, and yes, once again, the Time Warp at Midnight! He’ll once again be taking requests! Of course we’ll be announcing the Masquerade winners as soon as we know them too!

Saturday (early Sunday) 1am-???” - DJ Noise wants another shot at you too and so is back with more Trance, Breakbeats, Industrial and other surprises! From running the main stage at Minnesota’s largest science-fiction convention, he’s collected a lot of sci-fi related dance music to throw your way before finishing off the night with some deep and powerful grooves to keep you dancing late. He says he’ll even be mixing some vinyl. You remember vinyl records right? Round, flat, black with a little hole in the middle and they went around and around while a little needle sat atop the little black grooves ... well look it up on Wikipedia then ;-)
