

DON'T PANIC CONCAVE 42 IS BACK

February 23rd–26th, 2023 Bowling Green, KY

Do you know where your towel is? Have you been searching for the answer to life, the universe, and also maybe a place to hang out with a bunch of sci-fi nerds? The answer to this Ultimate Question is ConCave 42. After a two year hiatus due to cooties, we are back in action. Things are much the same, but we have made a few tweaks.

Foodses: Things will be a smidge different. This year we will have the obligatory assortment of munchies for you to get your snack on, but we will not have the kitchen/cooking Con' catered meals. We are instead taking advantage of several of BG's best food trucks. We will strive to have trucks that cover every special diet short of cannibalism

Room Parties: The only thing more awesome than the room parties are the hosts that put the effort into throwing them. What Con' needs is MOAR. In order to make this a little easier, we now have a "Joni". Please contact her at concaveevents@gmail.com early so we can get you a primo spot and stuff. We can help coordinate cost savings such as splitting room cost across the two nights between two different parties using the same room.

Vendors: Concave provides vendor facilities unlike most other conventions. Our venue features a large open atrium room where most of the convention activities and traffic is concentrated which we call Concave Village Vendor rooms are fully furnished hotel rooms facing the Concave Village area and include up to three 8 foot tables for a fee of $100 plus Concave membership fees as presented below. Vendors are responsible for covering hotel room charges as detailed in the hotel info section below, including furniture moving charges if required. There are a limited number of single vendor tables available in a shared vendor room for a cost of $80 per table. For questions contact Kelly at: ConcaveHucksters@gmail.com

Art Show Information : To receive a copy of the Concave Art Show rules, bid sheets, control sheets, hanging fees, and shipping information contact: Curt and Kim Payne at concaveartshow@gmail.com

Gaming Program Informations: The Concave Gaming Program is very informal. There are no sponsored tournaments or prizes. Just a bunch of gamers doing their thing in the game rooms provided by Concave. If you are interested in running a particular game or tournament. You can contact our Game Master Josh at concavegm@gmail.com
