

The Bozo Bus CRIBUNE

Volume 28 No. 3: Sunday, Final Edition

Goodbye!

Child Saved By Friendly Congoors

At approximately 8:20 pm on Friday, Donna M. Strand was carrying her 10-month old child on a pack on her back. "My baby started choking on a cracker", says the mother, "when two men walked by. I asked them if the child was choking. They helped get the child out of the backpack, and one ran to get Life Support while other watched older (4 yrs) child, then helped me to get to the Bridge. Thank you thank you!"

Donna never did find out the names of the two men, but she wishes to let them know that everyone is fine.

Preliminary Registration Numbers

Preliminary count, as of close of registration, Saturday: 2846 attendees (yike!). Approximately 300 badges were not picked up, so we actually had nearly 3100 people registered.

Pet Ferret Lost

Fodo, a small furry animal said to resemble Ferret in Beastmaster (if that means anything to you) was lost in a room on the 14th floor early Saturday afternoon. A $100 reward is offered for his safe return. If he is sighted, please call the Bridge immediately. He is said to be quite tame, but unless you know how to handle ferrets we recommend that you not try to capture him yourself.

Dave Clement's Non-Smoking Music Party

A Review by Mostly Cognizant

The music Friday night/Saturday morning was rich. Dave started the evening by saying that the music was by Winnipeg Rules (which is that all songs can be joined in on; no solo performances). Kathy Mar held back most of the time and let others take the show, but when she came in it was wonderful. I wish I could have heard more.

Most of the music was original or non-mainstream, which made for great listening and singing. The evening's music ranged from blues to incredibly silly; from mellow to great sing-along. What was especially pleasing was that there were many new faces doing the music.

The Bozo Bus Tribune

Volume 28 No. 3: Sunday Final Edition

Editors: David E Romm and Sharon Kahn.

Mimeographer: Jeff Schalles. Logo by Laramie Sasseville. Artwork by Jeff Schalles. BBT was generated using PageMaker 3.01 on a Mac SE, stencils cut on an ImageWriter II, art drawn on stencil and pasted in and printed using two Gestetner 360s. Published April 11, 1993 at Minic on 28. Copyright 1993 by the Minnesota Science Fiction Society. Any opinions expressed herein are those of the contributors, not necessarily anyone else's.

Karen Johnson

Linda Paul

Sara Logan

These are the people whose cards we have already who worked the most hours. (Therefore, it's not entirely accurate; if your name isn't on the list and you have worked oodles of hours, we're most dreadfully sorry.)

If you've got a spare hour or twelve, why don't you try to break the record. Come see us!

— Erik Baker and Betsy Lundgren,
Volunteers Committee

Programming Changes

New Items

Jane Yolen will give a reading at 2:00 p.m. Sunday in the Bloomington.

Clarifications

"Designing and Building Fantasy Castles" Sunday from 1-3 pm in Krushenko's is a children's programming item.

A list of the picture books mentioned in "Books For Little Kids" 4 pm on Saturday will be available on the freebie table and at the workshop on Sunday at 10 am in Atrium III.

"The Validity of the Thorsen Experiment" held Saturday at 8 pm reached no important conclusions.

Ice Cream Social

The Ice Cream Social raised $312.10 for the Literacy Project. Thanks to all who helped support this cause.

Overheard on the Bridge

"We don't have an alphabetical listing by badge name - you know, from Asshole to Zorba???"

Personals

The Gameboy, reported missing in the previous BBT, has been found. Thank you.

∞

A stuffed tiger is missing. He is a little over a foot long and was last seen in a bush poolside Friday afternoon. If found, please bring him to the bridge.

∞

If anyone has my paperback copy of Princess Smartypants (or any other book shown at the panel), please return them to me or bring them to the Bridge. — Laura Krentz

∞

Dr. Grant Thorsen and Ted Davis have combined their talents and will submit a proposal by the end of the summer.

Erratum

Your editor (Sharon, the scatterbrained one), is humiliated to report that she seriously misquoted the poem in Saturday's issue. Lasagne was substituted for lossage, gravely impairing the rhyme scheme of the poem (not to mention making nonsense of the content). Abject apologies to the author. Mea culpa, mea culpa.

Schalles '93

Hey - in my day we walked 10 miles through the snow to get to Minicon!