BULLETIN NUMBER 4

Convention and/or Bust!

With the Convention almost upon us, this last issue of the Convention Bulletin will try to answer many of the questions asked by you, and to give you again a brief recapitulation of what you may expect to find at the Tenth Anniversary World Science-Fiction Convention next week. We sincerely hope to meet you all there. And if for some reason you will be unable to make it this year, we would like to thank you for sending in your dollar to support the Convention, and hope that these bulletins will have given you a share in the proceedings.

All paid members of the Convention, whether attending or not, will receive free a copy of the beautiful printed Program Booklet.

Last Call

The Convention begins officially with the 2:00 p.m. session on Saturday, August 30, in the Terrace Casino. Previous to this, the conventioners will be asked to register. No conventioner will be admitted to the proceedings without registering. On Saturday, registration takes place in the Burgundy Room, mezzanine floor. At the Registration Desk you will receive your badge...which is your admission "ticket" to all meetings and sessions...your program, and other convention literature to which you are entitled. From 2:00p.m. Saturday until the close of the Convention Monday night, registration will be held in the Monte Carlo Bar, anterior to the Terrace Casino.

On Saturday, the Registration Desk opens at 10:00 a.m. Be there early and save time.

If you have not made a reservation, you will probably find that the hotel is full. But in anticipation of this, and to take care of those who found they would be able to attend only at the last minute, your Convention Committee has had set aside a special block of ROOMS RESERVED IN THE NAME OF THE CONVENTION COMMITTEE. If you arrive and find no rooms available, contact a member of the committee and ask him to authorize one of the special rooms for you. We will do this as long as the space is available.

PARKING on the side streets of Chicago is forbidden by City Ordinance, and you will find that the rates charged by private parking services are high. We suggest, therefore, that you take advantage of the public parking facilities located at the foot of Monroe Street near the Lake. Cost for a day of parking is only 50¢---as opposed to 50¢ per hour charged by Loop garages. Drop your luggage and family off at the Morrison, and park your car. Shuttle bus service from the lakefront parking lot will bring you back to within a block of the hotel.

BABY SITTERS will be available at the hotel, and it is also possible, if you act shrewdly, to make a deal with the maid to sit with your child. Incidentally, the maid is likely to be more economical!

PLAY PRACTICE for groups presenting skits in the Monday night entertainment portion of the program will take place in the Terrace Casino on Sunday morning, from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00p.m. Contact the Program Chairman, Mrs. Oliver Saari, at the convention, and she will assign you practice time.

BANQUET TICKETS may be bought at the Registration Desk, and must be purchased by Noon on Sunday, August 31.

Opposite is a diagram of the Right Balcony of the Terrace Casino with exhibit tables. You may set up your exhibit Saturday at noon, checking first with David Ish, the Banquet Exhibit Chairman. No tables will be released until paid for. According to our records, the following bills for $4.50 are still outstanding: N. F. F. F., Agnes Harok, Ronald Friedman, Roger Nelson, Karen Kruse, W. Paul Ganley and James Williams. Table Number I is still available. See David Ish at the convention if you wish to reserve it.

Conventioneers who have notified us of their plans to exploit Lunar real estate will be pleased to hear that the Moon Commission has prepared special deeds, suitable for framing, on which can be entered your moon claim. Second Lunar Commissioner E. E. Smith, Ph.D. will be glad to inscribe your deed with his signature and the seal of the Lunar Commission. Don't miss getting your deed.

Part of the convention decor will be a huge moon map, ten feet square. Begun in 1932, the map took 19 years to make and is the work of H. Percy Wilkins, F.R.A.S. Director of the Lunar Section of the British Astronomical Assn.

You will be able to find your crater on the giant map, and then locate it on a large photo of the moon which will also be part of the Moon Commission exhibit.

Those who may wish to own a section of the map containing their crater (sections are approximately two feet square) may write to: Prof. W. H. Haas, 1205 N. Alameda Blvd., Las Cruces, N.M., for information, naming the crater you wish included. The cost is very moderate.

The photo above right shows members of Den Elven, Gnomen und Kleine Männern Zukunftroman, Fischsuppe und Marschieren Gesellschaft of Stuttgart and Berkeley raising the organization's official standard on the slope of the crater Ritter D on the moon. The group, in persistent defiance of the Commission, has claimed an area in the southwest corner of Mare Tranquillitatis. Several months ago First Lunar Commissioner Mark Reinsberg disappeared while on a reconnaissance flight near the area, but Commission investigators were unable to learn his fate.

OLD INCIDENT AT MACLEAR STATION

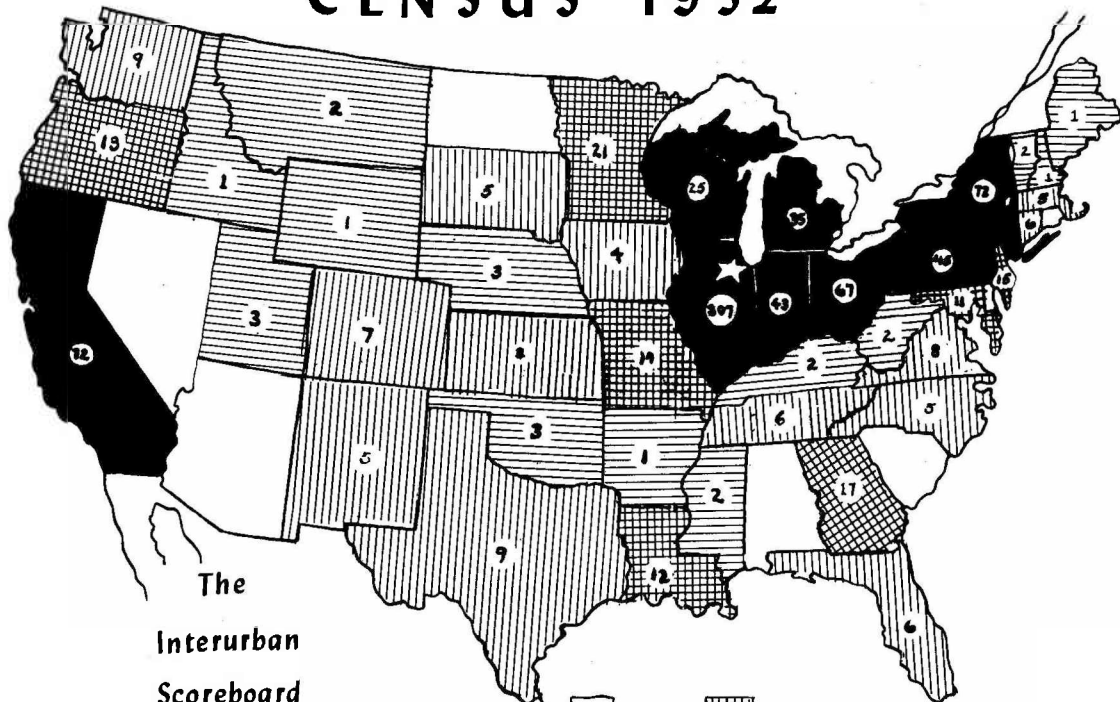

Lt. I. T. Macauley III, Chief Observer at Maclear Crater Outpost Station, had a strange tale to tell cronies when he visited the Luna City Officers' Club last Tuesday.

According to Macauley, a routine prospecting expedition covering the area near Maclear discovered a spacesuited man lying in the bottom of a small craterpit. Nearly dead from lack of food and oxygen, he was rushed to Maclear Infirmary. Station surgeons marvelled that he was still alive, since he had apparently lain in the crater for some weeks. Half deranged from his ordeal, the victim was unable to tell authorities his name or any details of his mishap.

Doctors attributed his survival, strangely enough, to the fact that his spacesuit contained an infinitesimal leak. Through this were able to creep minute lunar ants (Formica lunensis) which have the faculty, as everyone knows, for making their own air. The victim is recovered somewhat now, and has brought a small colony of his saviors back to the Terran sanitarium where he is recovering. He still knows nothing of his past. The Mystery Man sits in a chair by the window, near his ant colony. Now and then he looks up reminiscently at the waxing moon, sighs...and scratches.

Who is he? Only Luna knows. And she isn't saying.

ON THE PROGRAM

LAST MINUTE PROGRAM ADDITIONS include a debate between Willy Ley, author of popular science books such as The Lunefish, the Dodo and the Unicorn and conductor of GALAXY's science department, and Raymond A. Palmer, for many years Editor of AMAZING STORIES and currently Editor of OTHER WORLDS and FATE magazines. Title of the debate, which should be a dilly, "Flying Saucers--What Are They!"

Among the skits presented Monday night will be "The Demolished Null-A And Now You Don't," a science-fiction farce presented by the Pittsburgh Science-Fiction Society. We have had an advance peek at the script, and for laughs, surprises and derring-do, don't miss this caper starring Dirce Archer, Donald Susan, Philip Castora and Bill Venable.

Friends of Northern Ireland's famous fan Walter A. Willis will be glad to know that Willis will definitely be at the Chicago convention. For the past year a fund drive has been waged by Shelby Vick to defray cost of importing the well-known Editor of SLANT, who bears the unofficial title of Number One Fan. Willis is to take part in a debate "Fandom-- Is It Still A Force In Science-Fiction?" and will be assisted on the positive side by E. Everett Evans. Taking the negative are Edward Wood and Lester Cole.

The Convention Committee will hold Open House in their suite on Saturday Night, from 10:30 until 1:00 a.m. All members of the convention are invited to attend, meet the folks who are responsible for the Convention, and sample our special invention, Three Planets Punch.

Ted Sturgeon will accompany himself on the guitar and sing science-fiction ballads such as "Green Hills of Earth," "Thunder and Roses," "Old Man Atom," "Calypso From Calypso," "A Nova, Nui" and many more.

Longtime s-f author Clifford Simak will make his first convention appearance at Chicago. Mr. Simak will speak at the banquet. Fans will remember his work from ASTOUNDING, particularly the "City" series which was recently brought out in book form.

A RECAPITULATION on the portions of the program which were discussed in previous bulletins follows below. While we make every effort to insure that program reports are accurate, we cannot be responsible for last minute changes due to unforeseen circumstances.

Program changes: George O. Smith regrets but the imminent arrival of a Little Smith makes it unlikely that he will be able to attend. Randall Garrett regrets that while he will attend the convention, he will not give his talk "The Perfect Thermoplastic."

And don't forget the Masquerade, to be held Sunday night, August 31, in the penthouse suite. There will be music, refreshments, and colorful costumes--and everyone is invited to join in the fun!

Auction

.....And an original illustration, or a beautiful cover painting, or a manuscript now belongs to you--at a bargain price!

The auction of science-fiction pictures, manuscripts and books is your chance to come away from the convention with a concrete memento of the good time you had. Visualize your living room or den brightened by a cover from GALAXY, STARTLING, OTHER WORLDS, IMAGINATION or FAMOUS FANTASTIC MYSTERIES. And you collectors will up the bidding when you see the precious old Paul covers--real beauties--we have for you.

There are interiors also, by Finlay, Orban Lawrence, Cartier and others, and among the MSS which have been donated is one by Robert A. Heinlein.

Look at the pictures in the Exhibit of Science-Fiction Artwork, located in the left balcony of the Terrace Casino. You will see them displayed for your inspection, matted and ready for the Auction on Sunday, August 31.

POLITICS

The Democrats and the GOP aren't the only ones who engage in politicking in Chicago in 1952. Look out for sparks when the bidding begins for the 1953 Science-Fiction Convention site on Monday afternoon. No holds are barred when the nominating speeches begin, and the demonstrations will match those of the political conventions in enthusiasm, if not in size.

Rumors are flying as to who will be the leading contenders for the consite. The hat is already in the ring from San Francisco, with the Elves, Gnomes and Little Men's Science-Fiction, Chowder and Marching Society at the helm.

We've also heard that Cleveland is planning a surprise bid, and voices from the peanut gallery keep yelling Pittsburgh! Pittsburgh! at us. It's anyone's guess whether the up and coming new Baltimore Science-Fiction Forum will try to grab the affair for the East Coast, and those in the know are betting that the annual New York bid won't be far behind.

The Buffalo group, who have rolled up an impressive record with their Buffalocons may take a flyer as a dark horse long shot and walk away with the 1953 wing-ding. Watch those two fellows Ganley and Leverenz for some fast last-minute smoke-filled-rooming.

What makes a town put on a good convention? That's easy. The good convention is held in a town where the local group's love of science-fiction holds out over love of peace and tranquillity. Because putting on a convention is a tough and thankless job; thankless, that is, until your convention is on, and running smoothly, and you can take some justifiable pride in accomplishment.

What makes a town be selected as consite? A lot of fans would like to know the answer to that one. Sometimes politicking does it, sometimes a convincing nominating speech, delivered by the right person, hitting each municipal asset briefly and tellingly. And sometimes plain dumb luck will do it if you come up with a compromise during a deadlock.

Does your city really want the convention in 1953? Don't wait until the last minute.. Do your planning ahead and prove to the voters that your city has what it takes. A colorful demonstration with banners and hoop-la will be fun, and might prove that your group has the enthusiasm to put on a good convention in 1953.
