omewhere in North America, twelve precious jewels are buried in hand-crafted casks. The key to locating each treasure can be found in the twelve full-color paintings and verses of THE SECRET. THE SECRET also reveals the enchanting tale of how these treasures came to be buried, how the Fair Folk of the Old World came to the new, seeking haven from the ways of man. And it contains a complete, tongue-in-cheek field guide to their modern descendants—the Maitre D'eamons and Toll Trolls, Preps' Ghouls and Tupperwerewolves who bedevil and beguile our existence. THE SECRET is produced by Byron Preiss, creator of DRAGONWORLD, DINOSAURS and Samuel R. Delany's DISTANT STARS.

Welcome to Chicon IV!

A modern World Science Fiction Convention is a very strange beast. It is virtually impossible to describe to a person who has never been to one. But we'll try, anyway.

For many years, those of us with a love for SF have been gathering in various corners of the world to celebrate our eccentricities. We dress funny and stay up all night and talk about esoteric subjects. Over the years we have been laughed at and made fun of — and we still are.

But we care. There are very few other groups of people (outside of religious and certain special interest groups) who have such an overwhelming concern for the future of mankind and the effects of man's inventions upon himself and his environment. We think beyond the next paycheck, the next year. We dare to dream of flight to the stars.

The World Science Fiction Convention concerns itself primarily with SF literature — the written word. Many of our panels reflect this, as well as topics of a scientific and/or whimsical nature. You may well lose yourself for hours browsing among the material for sale in the huckster room and art show. If you want large-scale events, be sure to attend the masquerade, awards ceremonies, and Guest of Honor speeches. Our film program contains recent hits, older classics, and little-known gems — it is one of the finest and most well-rounded seen anywhere.

If you don't know much about the history of SF fandom, you really should make an effort to find out about "fanzines," "apas," and such. It is a pity in our media-oriented age that the aspects of fandom which most carry on the old traditions are ignored by the people who benefit from them.

We could go on and on about what is here. A Worldcon is a three-ring circus — no matter what your favorite SF or fantasy subject, you will find a panel, film or slide show that tickles your fancy. Check the pocket program for an up-to-date listing of what is scheduled.

Please take some time out to meet our Guests of Honor. Bertram, Kelly, and Lee are all delightful people. This is the highest honor we in fandom can give them for their long years of service to us — help to make it memorable for them!

Get out and see the city! It has been 20 years since we have last had the chance to host all of you, and our city has grown and added new restaurants and attractions. Don't leave without some Chicago-style stuffed pizza or without seeing some of the museums and galleries in the downtown area!

If you have the time, please go to our recruiting desk and spend a few hours working on the convention staff. This is the largest convention in the country that is run entirely by unpaid volunteers. Its success depends on people like you helping out!

If you go to several conventions, you will notice that fandom forms a sort of "extended family." Common interests forge a social entity that ignores generation gaps, gender and income. People who stay in fandom form friendships that last for decades, in an environment that accepts them for what they are. Though economics have forced many in fandom to stay close to home, this is the one event of the year that everyone tries to attend — a simple family reunion for 6000 + of our closest friends.

Welcome to our family reunion. We're glad you could make it!

A. Bertram Chandler:

My Life and Grimes

I was born on March 28, 1912, in Aldershot, in the county of Hampshire, in England. Most of my earlier years, however, were spent in the small market town of Beccles, in Suffolk. (Just in case anybody is interested, Beccles is the birthplace of David Frost.) I was exposed to education first at the Peddars Lane Council School and then at the Sir John Leman Secondary School which was founded by John Leman during the reign of Queen Elizabeth I. I pride myself on my collection of neckties—British Merchant Navy, three major shipping companies, one learned society—but an Old School Tie I do not possess, although I could obtain one if I so desired. The reason for this is that I am not one of those who regard their schooldays as the happiest days of their lives.

Had I not succeeded in becoming the Headmaster's bete noir I should probably have matriculated and stood a going chance of good on to a university, in which case I should have become an industrial or research chemist. As it was, my promotion to a higher form being blocked, I left school at the age of 16 to go to sea as an apprentice in the Sun Shipping Company (known to its personnel as the Bum Shipping Company) of London.

This was a tramp concern, its few ships engaged mainly upon Indian coastal trades, although there were occasional wanderings elsewhere in the Far East and, although very infrequently, to Australia, the U.S.A., the Black Sea, and the Mediterranean. (While I was with them just once to Australia —to Fremantle—and just once to the U.S.A., to New Orleans and Houston).

Having completed my four years' apprenticeship, I studied and sat for my Certificate of Competency as Second Mate of a Foreign Going Steamship and rejoined the service of the Sun Shipping Company as third officer. After a further three years, mainly on the Indian coast—and on the Calcutta coal trade at that—I'd had tramps in a big way. After a spell ashore working at various odd jobs, I joined the Shaw Savill line as fourth officer.

Shaw Savill—a very old company that now seems to have gone into its decline—maintained passenger and cargo services from England to Australia and New Zealand. Whilst in their employ, I became very well acquainted with the part of the world in which I was eventually to take up residence—also, during World War II when the Shaw Savill's vessels deviated from their well-worn tramlines, I came to know New York quite well.

My first visit to New York was shortly after Pearl Harbor. On a later visit, greatly daring, I decided to visit the editor of my favourite magazine, Astounding Science Fiction. At our first meeting, John Campbell complained that he was very short of material and suggested that I become one of his contributors. I thought that he had to be kidding; nonetheless, the next time in New York I had for him a 4,000 word short story—This Means War—that it had taken me all of a fortnight to peck out of my ancient Remington. Finally back in London—we'd crossed the Atlantic in a very slow convoy—I found a letter, and a cheque, waiting for me.

That started me off. For the remainder of the war years, I wrote mainly for Astounding. John, in those days, would ask his contributors to use a nom-de-plume when submitting to other magazines, so Astounding rejects sold elsewhere would carry the George Whitley byline in the U.K. and U.S.A. and that of Andrew Dunstan in Australia.

Then the war was over and, shortly thereafter, I got as high as I was destined to get in the Shaw Savill service—chief officer. My last ship in their employ was a cargo-passenger liner, and in her, during a voyage from Liverpool to Sydney, I met the lady who was to become my second wife. Resignation from Shaw Savill, emigration to Australia, divorce, remarriage, a fresh start.

I joined the Union Steam Ship Company of New Zealand—like Shaw Savill, a very old company and, also like Shaw Savill, one that seems to have gone into its decline and fall—as third officer. Most of my service was in ships under the Australian flag, although my first command, Kanna, was of New Zealand registry. Australian coastal trades, New Zealand coastal trades, trans-Tasman, Pacific Islands... Some of my experiences I have used in fiction, some have yet to be used. The things that happen to me should happen only to John Grimes. (They usually do, eventually, sometimes—but not always—slightly improved upon.)

Ah, yes. Grimes. Somehow he just sort of happened—a minor character at first and then taking charge. And always one jump ahead in rank. When I was still chief officer he was Captain Grimes. When I was made master he was Commodore Grimes. When I was sort of honorary commodore he was made an honorary admiral. When my wife wants to annoy me she refers to him as Hornblower.

My ambition is to write the Australian science fiction novel, Kelly Country. This will be one of those alternate universe efforts, a world in which Ned Kelly—freedom fighter as well as bushranger—successfully fights the Australian War of Independence and founds a dynasty. And just as George Washington had his British shipmaster, John Paul Jones, to handle the naval side of things, Ned Kelly will have his British shipmaster, John Grimes, to do likewise.

Grimes—the original Grimes, not his nineteenth century ancestor—has already been involved with Ned Kelly. This was in Grimes at Glenrowan, written for Isaac Asimov's, the first of the Kitty and the Commodore series. (In the third story, Grimes Among the Gourmets, I draw heavily upon my recent experiences in Japan.)

Nonetheless, at times I can sympathize with Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who killed off Sherlock Holmes and then was pressured by his readers to resurrect him. Quite often I have toyed with the idea of sending Grimes on Long Service Leave. There have been two non-Grimes novels written during the last few years. One, The Bitter Pill, was published only in Australia and failed to find a market elsewhere. The other, Selemsatta Rising, has been bounced by everybody.

Perhaps if I rewrite it, with Grimes as the protagonist, it will sell...

Notes on Grimes

Like Gaul, Grimes is divided into three parts - Early, Middle and Late. The novels and short stories featuring Grimes were not written in the correct chronological order careerwise. Only one publisher, Hayakawa Shobo of Tokyo, has endeavoured to sort matters out.

Early Grimes

All these cover Grimes' Survey Service career, from Ensign to Commander.

The Road To The Rim
To Prime The Pump
The Hard Way Up
The Broken Cycle
Spartan Planet
The Inheritors
The Big Black Mark

Middle Grimes

All these deal with Grimes' life and hard times subsequent to his resignation from the Federation Survey Service and prior to his becoming a citizen of the Rim Worlds Confederacy.

This period keeps stretching...

The Far Traveller
Star Courier
To Keep The Ship
Matilda's Stepchildren
Star Loot
The Anarch Lords
Find The Lady

Late Grimes

Probably there will be one or two Late Grimes novels prior to Into The Alternate Universe and at least one subsequent to The Way Back.

Into The Alternate Universe
Contraband From Other Space
The Rim Gods
Alternate Orbits
Gateway To Never
The Dark Dimensions
The Way Back

Two Views of Frank Kelly Freas

by Sandra Miesel

During this World Science Fiction Convention, we can admire our Artist Guest of Honor, applaud his speeches, perhaps shake his hand, or even chat with him at a party, yet never come near to knowing Frank Kelly Freas at all. Who would suspect that this grinning Irish gremlin is a veritable demon at the drawing board, a passionately convinced artist who paints in a state approaching berserker fury?

Let the work be the measure of the man.

Kelly's universe is a lush habitat populated by voluptuous women and craggy-faced men whose gleaming spacecraft race towards glittering stars. It is a fabulous domain of inspiration, quest, and romance. Kelly paints dreams, not hardware.

However fantastic the subject of an illustration may be, Kelly insists that art begin with reality. This requires both sensitivity to and knowledge about the world beyond the artist's private psyche. The emotional and aesthetic qualities of Kelly's pictures are buttressed by careful research, not all of it done from books. Models must be built, costumes made, compositions photographed. He once endured the company of a rotting mallard duck for two weeks while struggling to capture the exact appearance of light shining through its wings. Acquiring enough information to build a mental universe for one assignment, then tearing it down to make ready for the next is an acute mental strain. "For the serious SF illustrator," Kelly observes, "future shock is almost a way of life."

Kelly is the complete professional, devoted to fine craftsmanship, self-discipline, and technical competence. He calls the latter "a word in disrepute among painters who prefer to stress novelty and shock value, which they can palm off on the uninitiated as originality and deep insight."

When Kelly illustrates, he puts his art wholly at the service of the written word. "Any illustration must be the better for knowledge of the story," he declares. (Likewise, many stories seem the better for his illustrations.) Not even the possibility that his work will be mutilated when reproduced slows his drive for perfection.

The zeal for authenticity that infuses his romantic vision is a legacy from his long association with editor John Campbell, who taught him "a great deal about the intransigence of facts. Campbell liked facts, the more obscure the better." The discipline of working with this relentlessly practical man dovetailed with the inspiration Kelly received from other artists. Among mainstream figures he cites Bierstadt, Moran, and Church for their ability to convey the alienness of the New World; Remington, Russell, and other Western painters for representing accurate detail; and Klimt for light and color. Within the SF field, he admires Finlay's superb penwork and Cartier's "light-hearted and light-handed" approach to illustration. And beyond these, he claims, "I have been influenced by every painter that I have ever seen." Kelly maintains that the only proper approach for an illustrator is eclecticism.

He himself pursues appropriately eclectic hobbies (history, occult and Oriental studies, weaponry, music, and, formerly, the martial arts) and has spent an unusually variegated life. Born in upstate New York, he was raised in Canada, lived in Mexico, and currenty resides in Virginia Beach, Virginia with his vivacious wife Polly. She is not only the mother of his grown son and daughter but his business manager as well. He attributes his career success to her astute guidance, saying that her contribution to his work "can never be adequately assessed, let alone stated."

Although Kelly had read SF from childhood and sold artwork in his teens, it was only after serving in the Air Corps, trying college programs in engineering, mathematics, and medicine, studying at the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute, and the Columbus School of Art, doing commercial art for the aircraft and construction industries, and directing television advertising that he brought all of his interests together and became a science fiction illustrator. He sold his first cover to Weird Tales in 1950 and worked extensively in the pulps before obtaining his first Astounding cover assignment in 1953. (This illustration for Tom Godwin's "Gulf Between" is an acknowledged classic.) He has since worked for virtually every publisher in the field, was the exclusive cover artist for Harlequin's Laser series, and--with Polly's indispensible assistance--served as both illustrator and editor for Starblaze. His efforts have earned him an unprecedented ten Hugo Awards as Best Professional

In addition to his Hugos, Kelly has won prizes for fashion design, billboard art, and editorial illustration. He has also painted comic covers for Mad, done portraits of saints for the Franciscans, illustrated children's books and record album jackets, and once even silkscreened the fruit designs on slot machine tumblers. He publishes handsome reproductions of his paintings and has written a beautiful and well-received book about his own work, The Art of Science Fiction.

A keen advocate of the space program, he has attended the launches of five manned missions and was an official NASA artist for the Apollo Soyuz Test Project. His space posters are in the collection of the National Air and Space Museum and he designed the mission patch for the Skylab I crew at the request of the astronauts. Barring the availability of a berth to Mars, his fondest wish is for passage on the Space Shuttle.

But rather than be cited for this or that single accomplishment, he would prefer to be remembered as an illustrator who "tried his very goddamnest" in working for the field that he loved. Not only does Kelly love SF, he has a lofty opinion of the genre's importance to civilization. "SF is a literature and art of inquiry and alternative," he declares. "Culture, human or alien is our business. Our work is nothing less than the growth and development of the human soul." He is anxious to convince society of SF's message: "It is a very big and withall a very beautiful universe." Kelly predicts that:

"There will always be a need for artists, particularly of the type we call 'Science Fiction Artists', to putter around the edge of reality and point out their perception of its beauty and its wonder."

by Richard Garrison

The panic of finding yourself behind bars in a strange southern city is profound, especially when you're a Yankee and it is the early 1970s—and New York license plates, long blond hair and cutoff blue jeans don't help. When they take your shoelaces and belt, a promise from your parents to send the $96 for the speeding ticket doesn't go far. It was a long drive from Atlanta to Virginia Beach. I've always specialized in marathon nonstop trips to science fiction events and science fiction friends.

No blanket, no mattress. Just a steel bunk, a partial roll of toilet paper, a few drunks and monster cockroaches. Being in jail is one thing, staying overnight is another. Once out, by the grace of Western Union and my parents, it was back on the road to the Freas home, this time ever mindful of the 70-mph speed limit. The Freas's had become concerned because I was late and Kelly told me that he knew I was either in the hospital or jail... and knowing South and North Carolina, he thought jail. We sat in the studio/living room (well, the whole house is a studio, really) and had white wine while I told my story. One glass later—drunk. No sleep for nearly 48 hours (you think Mama's boy is going to sleep in the Durham, N.C., jail?), no food in 24 hours, and then a glass of wine. The next thing I knew, someone— Kelly, his wife Polly, son Jerry or daughter Jacqui-had put me in a shower and was feeding me crackers and cheese through a shower curtain.

That's the kind of people the Freas's are. Nursemaid those who need it; stroke the egos of those requiring it; a nice word for everyone and always a conversation—and vitamin B-6 for all other ills.

I first met Kelly at a comics convention in New York City. We were both there for the same reason—a fascination with comics in addition to our fascination with science fiction. I am sure I was attracted to him because he was a science fiction illustrator of no inconsiderable renown—and he had a cute daughter. He treated me exceedingly well, considering my motive. He was patient, courteous, engaging and generous—traits which fit well at southern conventions, where Kelly is a valued guest. It was these traits which brought me back again and again. Little did I realize that my perceptions of art, illustration and science fiction, as well as of life, would be forever altered.

I owe much of my maturation, experience and success to Kelly and Polly Freas. Not just personally, although I have known them for almost half my life, but because Kelly is much more influential in the field of science fiction than most realize. Frank Kelly Freas has shaped the visual conception of science fiction of two generations of science fiction fans, leading them to read certain writings and to perceive them in certain ways. He takes the decoration of a cover or page one step beyond—into illustration.

How many of the current illustrators really illustrate? To be sure, there are many who can produce moderately pretty pictures. But, more often than not, they are flat; the anatomical features of the figures are, well, wrong; the technical visualizations are, again, wrong, and they serve, if anything, to stimulate the libido, rather than the imagination or mind. Examine some of the current crop of illustrators one step further—can they render in wash, ink, tempera and acrylic equally well? Could they make money selling to advertising agencies? If the field were to become depressed, could they go to medical journals—or other journals—and make a living? Kelly does all these and more.

Kelly has all of the attributes to be the "Dean of Science Fiction Illustrators." He has the technical expertise to work as a master in any medium (save oils, to which he is allergic). He has an educational background in engineering and medicine, and in art at the Art Institute in Pittsburg, Pa. He has illustrated medical journals, slot machines, record covers, Mad magazine, religious journals, billboards, advertisements, library posters and bookmarks. He helped design Magic Mountain, a ride at King's Dominion in Virginia, and helped prepare a stunning audiovisual presentation designed to promote the project. Perhaps more importantly, he is a philosopher who expresses himself best visually on a piece of illustration board.

Kelly takes the rendering of a person, a weapon or a space ship beyond simple page or cover decorations. His illustration develops the concept of the emotional understanding of man's relationship to his universe. It is not enough to show an alien, a spaceship and homo sapiens in pleasant colors. Kelly tells us why this story is important to us as readers and thinkers.

Many will not realize that Kelly is taking us to the next rung of visual philosophy, until it is explained. Isaac Asimov once said, in Kelly's The Art of Science Fiction, "Science fiction illustrators clearly have the function of picturing the future in literal detail. Another function is to work hand in glove with the author to try to get over subtleties to the reader from another direction."

Some examples of this in Kelly's work are the use of dollar signs for stars, showing the real appeal to colonists in a Simak story; the use of a star pattern to reveal a creature threatening the protagonists, or the use of a folk rhyme in an illustration as a key to the characters in the story.

From Frank Kelly Freas: The Art of Science Fiction Donning 1977

Kelly is always willing to broaden his own horizons and seeks to pick the brains of scientists, electronic and weapons experts and sociologists—amateurs professionals alike. Not content with "book research" alone, although he has probably spent the budget of a small state in magazines and books for research material, Kelly has often spent more than his commission on models, research, field trips, phone calls and fabrication of working models of the persons, animals or items used in the illustration, just to get it right. I can recall wrapping Jacqui in Saran Wrap on the beach; a trip to a gun store because 22 separate pictures of one weapon was not good enough; a gull wing on the wall for correct detail; a white handkerchief stiffened and hung by wire to create a ghost; handmade weapons; marathon photo sessions of new knives and firearms, and incredibly patient amateur and professional models.

Kelly is first a fan of science fiction, dedicated to the genre. Stronger yet is his dedication to those involved in the field. Many a struggling convention giver, editor or publisher (fan and otherwise) has approached him and received illustrations, original artwork, posters, advice and last minute addresses—often for nothing or for postage expenses. Thousands of convention goers have received caricatures of themselves, and all for not a dime. Can he help out at a blood drive? Sure he can—sketching, caricaturing and reassuring. Need someone to introduce the guest of honor? Kelly can, because after all, he has illustrated five of the guest's novels and 12 of his short stories, has one or two juicy stories about him, and he has read everything the author has written.

After a spectacular entry into the science fiction field in the fifties, Kelly's life in New Jersey became unacceptable. Work was lucrative, perhaps too lucrative. After years of success, a change became necessary. When the Freas's make a change, they made a Change. From New Jersey to Mexico, the Freas clan moved to a completely different lifestyle. In Mexico, Kelly did more than complete long-distance obligations for diverse publications. He also painted for himself—profound personal expressions. In Frank Kelly Freas: The Art of Science Fiction, he writes that "self-expression is good psychotherapy." The stint in Mexico proved valuable to his health, physical and otherwise. A return to the east coast to settle near Virginia Beach's Blackwater Swamp brought another flurry of work and more recognition.

After receiving ten Hugos and the title of "Dean of Science Fiction Illustrators" from the Eastern Science Fiction Association, he still remains open to anyone and to virtually any challenging project.

When Polly became ill with cancer, Kelly entered the fray with her in the manner in which they have always approached any illustrating job—with research, hard work, optimism, late hours and more hard work. The end result is a younger, healthier Polly—and Kelly. The fight did have a price. Kelly was unable to illustrate much work because of the physical and emotional drain.

Kelly has influenced 30 years of readers. These readers of science fiction have now become physicists, astronomers, engineers, writers, movie makers, astronauts and even policemen. Each uses the visualizations that Kelly gave them in their dreams, their work and their lives to reach an emotional understanding of man's relationship to his universe.

Appreciations of Lee Hoffman

by Bob Tucker

Girls and women were scarce in science fiction fandom during the first quarter-century of fandom's existence. They were so scarce that we automatically assumed every newcomer was a male unless that newcomer had a distinctively feminine name. We were unsophisticated. And somewhat dumb.

Lee Hoffman appeared in fandom in the late summer of 1950 with a promising fanzine called Quandry and, as was our ignorant wont, we assumed Lee was male. There was nothing in the pages of Quandry to suggest otherwise, there was nothing visible to the unsophisticated reader in the lines or between the lines, and I don't remember the editor giving a hint to 'his' true gender one way or the other. 'He' made no attempt to deceive the readers, but neither did 'he' reveal femininity. In our collective ignorance we leaped to the wrong conclusion and meanwhile began writing for, and subscribing to, the new fanzine; Hoffman proved to be a superior editor.

There were a few women in science fiction and in fandom even in the 1930s, but their number was so few that they were regarded almost as oddities. In the New York and New England areas a few of the fans and a few of the professionals introduced women into our world, sometimes as their wives, sometimes as their companions, and sometimes as their sisters. The Los Angeles club (LASFS) numbered some women among its membership and two of those women journeyed to Chicago in 1940 to attend the first Chicon. They were lionized. In between the two coasts there were a few women and girls living in the hinterlands who had some attachment to science fiction or to fandom—usually as a relative or a companion to a male fan.

Twenty-two women signed the attendance register at the 1940 Chicon, a truly astonishing number all in one fannish place at one time—but there was a catch. It was a false paradise. More than half of those women were relatives, not fans. More than half of those women appeared at the convention hotel only once to see what their sons, their nephews, or their brothers had wrought. I counted three mothers, two aunts, and a doting grandmother among the horde. My sister wondered aloud why I was wasting my time on that crowd. Of those 22 women who signed the register perhaps ten were fans, or the truly-interested wives of fans and professionals.

The 1950 Fan Directory (published by Len Moffatt) lists 404 known fans in all the English-speaking world: Australia, Britain, and North America. Of that number, 51 were female.

Enter Lee Hoffman with the first issue of Quandry in August 1950. She came in too late to be included in the Moffatt Directory.

Lee Hoffman let it be known that 'he' was interested in attending the next world convention, Nolacon in New Orleans in 1951. Lee said that 'he' was short of funds, as most fans were in that bygone day, and any suggestions that I might offer on ways to stretch a dollar over the worldcon weekend would be most appreciated. Of course I was helpful. I told the newcomer how we professional deadbeats took in conventions. I described how we stood around the entrances to restaurants looking pitifully hungry, how we artfully cadged drinks at the bars, and how we roamed the halls and the room parties at night letting it be known that we had no place to rest our weary bodies. I offered to buy a meal and a drink for the new fan, but told 'him' that I couldn't offer sleeping space because I already had a roommate. Dumb me.

1951 was a good year. I arrived at the convention hotel early and checked in, and promptly hopped into the tub for a shower and a shave. I was standing before the mirror with a large towel wrapped about my waist when fans knocked at the door. It is always possible to identify fans at the door by the boisterous manner of their knocking. With shaving cream on my face and a razor in one hand, I opened the door and let in three young fans: one female and two males. They stared at me somewhat nonplussed and I hope I had the grace to blush.

One of the males wore a T-shirt which bore the legend "I am Shelby Vick." Shelby Vick grinned at me and said "Hi, I want you to meet Lee Hoffman." I looked at the other male and said, "Hi, there, Lee Hoffman. Glad to meet you."

The other male gave me an evil grin. "Not me," he replied. "Her."

The young female, about 20 years of age, seemed ready to bolt.

I stared at Shelby Vick with mounting consternation and he nodded assent. I stared again at the suddenly-female Lee Hoffman and recalled some of the remarks I had included in my letters to 'him.' There were but two things left for me to do. I gathered up my remaining dignity, picked up the towel that had fallen to the floor, and stalked into the bathroom to slam the door.

They were gone when I finished shaving.

At yet another Chicon, either 1952 or 1962 in Chicago, we were together again touring the museums to refresh our childhood memories. She had grown up in Chicago and I had lived but a hundred or so miles away. Each of us had visited the fabled museums in our younger years and now we wanted to refresh our memories to learn if the treasures were as we really remembered them: were the mummies still as awesome as we first believed, was the coal mine really as deep as we had first thought it to be, and was that bull elephant in the foyer really as high and as mighty as he first seemed? We met in Chicago again, and toured the museums.

Lee Hoffman became my granddaughter with the passing of time, and the manner in which she did so is my second most vivid memory of her.

The elephant, the mummies, and the coal mine were there. We wandered the marble corridors and relived early memories.

One of those Chicago museums displayed a full-scale replica of a 1927 living room, a family parlor as it existed in small-town America nearly a half-century ago. The parlor was life-sized, authentic, and very real: it may even have included an Atwater Kent radio resting on a side table behind the family. There was a family of four standing in the center of the parlor, a family so real that one could reach out and touch them if the glass window had not prevented contact.

Standing in the center of that parlor in attitudes of excitement were a father, his wife, and two children. The father was reading a newspaper while his wife and children stood close by listening to him read. Lee Hoffman and I paused before that window and contemplated the 1927 family. The newspaper caught my eye.

I sort of turned myself upside down, in a manner of speaking, and read the headlines on the paper that was dangling from the man's hands. The headlines said that Charles Lindberg had just flown across the Atlantic ocean, the first man to do so successfully alone. It was a sensation.

I was aghast, and not a little disappointed. This was supposed to be a historical museum offering gems and treasures of the distant past, yet here was a display of an event that had happened in my own lifetime. A yesterday-event. I probably spluttered my indignation and said something to the effect of: "That ain't history! That happened just a few years ago."

I had forgotten that my companion wasn't born yet.

Lee Hoffman looked at me with something approaching awe and said: "Gee, grandpa, what was it like in the old days?"

She has been my granddaughter ever since. Don't get fresh with her or I'll shake my cane at you.

In the Atacama Desert in Chile and Peru, there is a certain seagull with whom I have a certain relationship. His role in this Convention Booklet is to help me explain what it was like to know Lee Hoffman in the middle years of the Twentieth Century.

The seagull in question has a fly-on part in the BBC/WNET documentary on the Andes, probably the best thing of its kind ever done. The Atacama Desert, as I'm sure everyone already knew but me, is a thousand-mile stretch of totally barren coast, inhabited only by a few seabirds. In The Flight of the Condor, as this documentary is called, there is this haunting sequence in which the camera follows a flight of these birds along their lonely shore. In the closing moment of this shot there comes into view the setting sun..... and in the very last second a solitary bird in the remote distance begins to fly across the vast red disc.

So far away is this bird, and so brief its appearance on the screen, that I was seized by the strange thought that I might be the only person in the world to notice it: in which case there had at that moment come into existence a particular relationship between me, a solitary viewer on the northeast coast of Ireland, and a solitary seabird in South America. It was possible (though of course unlikely) that when the Universe had been set off like a firework, galaxies and stars condensing like Golden Rain, all had been in preparation for this significant event.

This may seem a rather extravagant analogy, but with convention expenses being what they are I figure you deserve the best that money can buy. Besides, I understand that conventions nowadays are very large affairs, attracting as many as several hundred people. In such populous surroundings it must be hard to realise how lonely fans could be when we were a minority only slightly above transvestites in public esteem and much smaller in number.

And of course it wasn't just that Lee Hoffman was a lonely exotic bird, she was a rara avis among fans; and no matter what Rich Brown tells you that doesn't mean she was a car rental cheerleader. She was a unique individual, so much so that finding her among the mundane millions gave me the same sense of wonder as when that lone seagull in the Atacama Desert flew into the sunset on my tv screen.

She is not an obvious sort of person. She will not, unless she has changed her habits since I met her last, sway the multitude at the Business Session with silvertongued oratory, swing from the chandelier at the Masquerade Ball or do conjuring tricks at the Banquet. For that sort of thing you would look to the Pro Guest of Honour. Why, you might even have a few minutes conversation with her without noticing anything except what a pleasant person she is to talk to.

But make not mistake. You will have had the privilege of meeting one of the most creative and influential people who have ever graced our microcosm.

I use those adjectives together because neither is enough. Her writings and drawings are indeed delightful, but no collection of them could do her justice. For her monument you have to look at fandom itself, and especially that era now known as Sixth Fandom. For some people this has come to seem like a golden age, a sort of fannish Arcadia, but really it can be said to exist still today wherever there is good nature, literacy and humour to be found among science fiction fans. That's where Lee Hoffman is remembered, because it was Lee Hoffman who brought their world into being with an unpretentious, open-hearted gay little fanzine called Quandry. How she did it I'm not quite sure, and I don't think she knows herself, but she has it seems to me the rare and precious gift of being able to bring out the creativity in others. It has I suspect something to do with sensitivity as well as intelligence, a rich deep sense of humour and a feeling for the fantasy that lies below the surface of things. And, perhaps, something to do with being feminine.

At any rate, in her quiet subtle way she has changed our world for the better, enriching it with myth and fantasy and fun, so that people thousands of miles apart smile at the same memories. After thirty years there are still dozens of people, from Robert Bloch and Bob Tucker to Chuck Harris and Vince Clarke, who remember Quandry with affection and will always remember Lee with gratitude and love. The fact that she is Guest of Honour for a new generation of fans seems no more than she deserves. Long may she continue to fly in the sunlight.

Marta Randall had already had one story published when I met her in the summer of 1973. She was then in her midtwenties, a wife and a mother, and she went by a different last name then; and that was the name under which the story had been published, in Michael Moorcock's estimable periodical New Worlds. Today, though still a mother, she is neither a wife nor in her mid-twenties, and she hates that first-published story with the inexplicable but not unusual hatred of a writer for the first-born. I don't know why, because it seems to me a perfectly good, tight, tough story, and it seemed that way to Moorcock, too. But because Marta doesn't like the story, I won't make it any easier for you to track it down, because Marta is Very Fierce when someone does something that displeases her, and my telling you the name under which that story was published or the issue in which it appeared would quite likely displease her.

She wasn't always Very Fierce, of course. I actually thought she was a bit on the timid side when I met her. (Stop laughing! Stop laughing! She acted timid. She told me she was timid. She didn't look very big. How was I supposed to know she was secretly Very Fierce?) I do recall that she timidly submitted a short story to me when I was editing New Dimensions, a lovely little thing called "A Scarab in the City of Time."

I was in her Berkeley living room when she handed me the story, and to her horror I sat down and read it on the spot, and finally I looked up and said, "Nice. I'll buy it." That amazed her. She absolutely did not believe she had sold a story to the formidable Robert Silverberg. (In her timid way she had handed me a hefty ration of my favorite rum as I began to read it. I don't think that influenced my judgment very much. The story's in New Dimensions Five, and I still think it's very good.)

At about the same time, she had also been working on a novel. Its name was—well, I forget the name, but it's the one that was eventually published as Islands. Her way of "working on a novel" was to fill an enormous looseleaf binder with background data, plot outlines, maps, character profiles, and God knows what else—a truly awesome mass of preliminary documentation. She had also written a dozen chapters or so of the actual book, and in her timid way she got me to read them. They were Good Stuff. Not quite on a par with Ulysses or The Demolished Man or Caves of Steel, maybe, but certainly of publishable quality. Harlan Ellison was then acting as editorial advisor to a paperback line specializing in new writers and first novelists, and at my suggestion she sent the novel to Harlan, who bought it.

I recall most vividly an editorial conference between Harlan and Marta on the threshold of Terry Carr's bathroom at a New Year's Eve party in 1974. They were discussing, I think, Harlan's desire to have the book almost totally rewritten, and Marta's timid reluctance to do any such thing. Who won the argument that night I don't know; but when the book appeared in 1976, the text was exactly as Marta had wanted it to be. It was about that time I began to think she might not be all that timid. The cemeteries are full of people who have held unsuccessful disputes with Harlan; but this time he had picked on someone his own size, and she had come out of the combat unbloodied and unbowed. (I got a half-hour harangue from Harlan later on for having unleashed Marta on him, but we have all forgiven each other since then.)

So now she was a novelist. She sold some more stories to New Dimensions, elegant and playful ones, and sold some to Terry Carr's Universe, and a couple to Fantasy & Science Fiction, and another novel, City in the North, and gradually it began to dawn on her that she was a professional writer. Not a full-time free-lance, mind you: she continued to work, as she had for many years and as she still does, as an assistant to the Crackerjack Bay Area patent attorney Harris Zimmerman. But the patent-attorney stuff took less and less of her time, the writing more and more.

She began showing up on convention panels—the New Writers' Panel, the Feminist Panel, the How to Count Words panel, all the usual pro stuff of the era. She waved her arms around at meetings of the SFWA and said loud things when she disagreed with the actions of the officers. She signed up for another novel, Journey, which involved some of the characters from City in the North, and it sold a lot of copies, which is the best way to make publishers take notice of you. There was contract for a sequel, Dangerous Games. And so on and so on: all the events of a career, in fact. The timid Berkeley girl who had sold that one story to Moorcock had metamorphised in seven years or so, into a Very Fierce Oakland woman who owned her own house and car, typed on a fancy electronic typewriter, and had won the respect of a good many editors and a great many readers.

In time she became an editor herself. I had been running New Dimensions for a decade, and I was heartily sick of the flood of hopeless manuscripts that clogged my post office box every morning. I was ready to give up. But who would replace me?

Secretly I auditioned Marta. I had written a novel called Lord Valentine's Castle, the first draft of which seemed to me not quite what it ought to be. I showed to Marta and asked for suggestions. "The first hundred pages are miraculous," she said sweetly, "and then it turns quite vile." She wrote me a four-page, single-spaced analysis, pointing out every flaw in the manuscript that I knew was there but which I hoped no one else would notice, and also noticing a few that I hadn't. She suggested some new twists of the plot. She proposed the addition of a couple of characters. She ruthlessly worked my prose over. All in all, she earned me about $50,000, I'd say, considering how much she helped me improve the book.

I don't remember meeting Marta Randall. One day in 1973, let's call it Thursday, she appeared to me in the form of an anecdote, and Friday, maybe a few months later, she was living two houses down the hill and we were exchanging little bottles of homemade chutney. If a close friendship can develop out of mutual love of garlic, hot peppers and cilantro, maybe that's what happened. I'm not sure.

But I'm skipping through time. The anecdote that brought Marta to my attention was this. She was part of a group having dinner in a Japanese restaurant and when someone asked what the restaurant served for dessert, Marta was reported to have said, "Sweet fish." Thus a certain affinity was born between us, even though she probably didn't know it yet.

Marta insists that she's part-Lebanese and spent 90% of her life here in Berkeley. I insist she's 100% Jewish and came from New York. She has a strange well thought-out fantasy life that includes having attended Berkeley High School, and she will swear up and down that her mother's house on Derby Street is the house she grew up in. But I make allowances for her; she's a science fiction writer, after all. The reason I know Marta is New York Jewish is that she talks fast and understands all about guilt. Also, I've never known her to "protect her own space." She worries about things most Californians don't, like being on time, and doesn't worry about things Californians do, like saving up the money to move the hot tub to Sonoma.

Marta's a juggler. She juggles a home of her own, a kid named Ricky who was a bonafide mensch even at age nine when I first met him, a busload of family, two cats and a German half-husky (Samoney, Zipper, and Christie, respectively), the anthology series New Dimensions, a full-time job, a full-time writing career, a succession of Nebula Award banquets, the presidency of Science Fiction Writers of America, and a current white water rafting fetish. Definitely New York Jewish Type A.

Marta is the kind of friend who says "no problem" when there is one, and will sit as close to the screen as you want. Her part-time guest room has held countless notables and not-so-notables, including Terry and Carol Carr (twice) when a 70-foot pine (Marta calls it the Tree of Damocles) threatened to fall into their house recently. She serves what is known in psychological jargon both the problem-focused and emotion-focused function. In English, this means that on very little notice she will offer either the wire-clipper you've been driven to look for in the freezer compartment,

I didn't give her the $50,000, of course. That would have been terribly unprofessional. Instead I gave her New Dimensions. She had demonstrated her mettle as an editor, in spades, and now, thank God, all those hopeless manuscripts clog her post office box every morning.

She is nine years older than when I first met her. She isn't a millimeter taller, she still smokes that awful tobacco stuff, and I don't think she knows how to pronounce "mischievous" correctly. But there have been a few changes in other aspects of her life in those nine years—including the writing of half a dozen terrific novels and a bunch of short stories, and the taking on of such professional responsibilities as the editorship of New Dimensions and the presidency of SFWA—and the toastpersonship of this very convention. If you ask her whether she's a timid person, she'll probably bite you. Or, more likely, she'll bite me.

or her shoulder to cry on, whatever is needed first. And she's one of the few people I know who don't keep score.

But no, Marta is not a saint. In fact, to call her a saint to her face is to invite an eyebrow raised even past the height of her slushpile. What mitigates her candidacy for sainthood and allows her to join the sigh human condition is her ability to Complain. She doesn't do it a lot, but she does it well, and with feeling. She Complained when a visiting guest passed out on her living room carpet and made a mess thereon; she Complains when Prince Charming, after one kiss, either turns into a frog and then wants to move in permanently, or turns into a frog and starts sidling sideways enigmatically. She complains when screwed by publishers, when the weather betrays her next rafting trip, when her dog covers the entire house with a thin, even layer of white flour. She is unfailingly polite and considerate when she complains. The phone rings at work:

Marta: "Do you have a minute?"

Carol: "Go."

Marta: "Aaaarrrgghhh." (pause) "Yesterday Rickey got beat up in the schoolyard by three goons who wanted to pawn his underwear." (pause) "Last night I found a wonderful story for New Dimensions by a new writer and this morning Simoney licked off the name and address and there isn't any return envelope." (pause) "My knee locked again, and on the way to the orthopedist a man in a three-piece suit stole my knee brace right off my leg, and then the engine died." (pause) "Oh, I forgot to tell you. Somebody stole my mother's house." (long pause) "Just to explain why I'll be five minutes late picking you up for that drink."

Marta gives the world's best all-woman parties. And no, we don't sit around dishing men, we simply burn in effigy those people we don't dare tackle in person: old lovers, body and personality parts of current ones, publishing industry giants and gnats, passive-aggressive family members, the driver who rear-ended us while simultaneously eating a Baskin-Robbins ice cream cone and flossing his teeth.

I'm glad that Marta Randall appeared out of the shell of an anecdote and grew to be one of the closest people in my life. Her sense of humor has enlivened many a dreary Monday morning, her gracious hospitality many a dull evening, and her willingness to share her interests and feelings has enriched my own. But one warning. If you have any intention of befriending her yourself, don't ever ever call her Martha.

BECAUSE OF MEN LIKE CYRANO DE BERGERAC.

"I MIGHT CONSTRUCT A ROCKET, IN THE FORM OF A HUGE LOCUST, DRIVEN BY IMPULSES OF VILLAINOUS SALT PETRE FROM THE REAR, UPWARDS BY LEAPS AND BOUNDS ..." —CYRANO DE BERGERAC, 1640

OMNI Magazine recognizes that science is not just the province of scientists, but of all thinking men and women. That's why a man like Cyrano de Bergerac, who was not a scientist but a renowned swordsman and scholar, could envision the rocket over three centuries before Man made his initial venture into the frontiers of space. He was a man of vision and imagination, the most basic elements of science. In his day, they called his work wild speculation, fiction. Today, we would call it prophetic.

Which is why OMNI feels that science fiction is as much a part of science as are laboratories and textbooks... and why every month, more than 5.4 million OMNI readers (MRI 1982) have come to see the full scope of today's science—and tomorrow's. Join us on the New Frontier. OMNI Magazine. It will change the face of science journalism forever.

TAFF/DUFF Delegates

TAFF Delegate — Kevin Smith

by Stu Shiffman

One morning in April of 1981, I looked up and saw a fan hideously changed into an...accountant. The dark suit, briefcase and umbrella—it was all in place. I was, to coin a phrase, uh-hell, let's go for a cliche: knocked for a loop. This run-of-the-mill British fan had been transmuted.

That was the end of my illusions about Kevin Smith, justly famed under his alias of Nivek the Terrible as an evil doer and...accountant. I'd been put off by the casual and friendly fannish conversations in the bar, the mimeograph stencils informally draped around his living room and his children's fantasy books.

I had yet to experience his Spaghetti Bolognese (in the western tradition).

I should have been suspicious from the start. I knew of his association with the fiendishly clever David Langford since their days in Oxford (I believe that Kev read physics at Oriel College, Oxon.). In fact they co-edit (a disgusting habit) the excellent Drilkjis, if only occasionally. I'd also read Kev's own fanzine, Dot, and the chronicles of insanity and dissipation therein.

I learned that truth about this man — but you obviously didn't. Kevin Smith is here at Chicon as this year's TAFF delegate. That's Trans-Atlantic Fan Fund for the newer folks, exchanging hostages between North America and Europe for nearly twenty years. He's here to drink your beer and compare it unfavorably to that of the United Kingdom. Be friendly. Ask the Eldritch Questions: Are you enjoying yourself?; What do you think of American conventions?; and Can you lend me a few dollars?

It'll serve him right.

DUFF Delegate — Peter Toluzzi

by Mark Ortlieb

What's cuddly, of less than average height, a fanatical reader of John Varley, a compulsive convention attendee, an enthusiastic and excellent backrubber, the 1982 DUFF winner, and has the name Peter Toluzzi? Oops, I gave it away there, didn't I... Yes: Peter is this year's gift to American Fandom, via the Down Under Fan Fund (a fan fund which arranges to send Australian fans to North America, and North American fans to Australia in alternate years). We can't let you keep him, though, much though we appreciate the American love for the soft cuddly fauna of Australia; Peter is strictly on loan. (Mind you, if anyone would care to negotiate the stud fees...) We would appreciate it, though, if you would keep him for a few weeks—if only to allow the rest of us a chance to catch up on our sleep.

It's not easy to sleep while Peter's around. He always seems to want people to do things: go throw a frisbee, play poker, organize a massage session, have a party, or put on a convention. Actually, I have this theory that shorter people are more active than those of average height: the mass that would have gone into bringing such people to a more decent height—say, five foot nine and a half inches—goes instead, via several pseudo-Einsteinian transformations, into pure energy... which said small person must somehow dissipate. Peter is living proof of this. He may not have been around Australian fandom as long as John Bangsund or Leigh Edmonds (Aussiecon introduced both of us to its joys), but he's certainly carved himself a niche in it.

I guess it's possible that a lot of Americans haven't heard of him; he's not that active a fanzine fan. The reason for this is simple: Peter is incapable of sitting still long enough to type out a complete fanzine. Certainly, he does manage to produce the occasional contribution for Applesauce (the Sydney-based amateur press association)... but I imagine that to get his genzine (The Peter Principle) finished, they had to tie him to his chair!

Peter is, above all, a convention fan. He claims to not have have missed an Australian SF Convention since Baycon (a regional convention in Adelaide in 1978). This is not quite correct: in 1981, he missed Cinecon in Melbourne. But he had a good excuse... he was, at the time, at SWANCON VI in Perth; fast he may be, but commuting between two conventions on opposite sides of the continent would have been a bit much. Besides, Cinecon was mainly a film convention...

One thing you will notice about Peter is that he is very friendly; don't hesitate to wander over and talk to him—his interests are quite varied. You could start with music, which is his other great love, from Genesis/Yes/King Crimson right through to Talking Heads and the New Wave. Or you might try discussing Sydney fandom; he's been involved in all the Sydney conventions since Aussiecon... as well as being the Official Editor of Applesauce, President of the Sydney Science Fiction Foundation, and a founder member of The Moira Crescent Household Sydney's most famous slanshack. But be warned: such conversations may last until the wee small hours of the morning... or even longer. I do recall leaving one room party, sleeping for not enough hours, and returning to find his party still going... though it had changed venues at least three times: Peter's need for sleep seems subjugated to the convention schedule.

Indeed, just about the only fannish thing Peter has not done too much of is becoming a publishing giant, an alternative he may well be leaving until he slows down a little. I'm not holding my breath waiting though—with any luck, or I'll have gafiated by the time he settles down enough to become a prolific fanzine editor.

Peter will be spending two months in the States and Canada, visiting at least fifteen cities and getting to as many conventions as possible ("If this is Bubonicon it must be Alberqueque"). After all, DUFF is a People trip...

So there you have him—Peter Toluzzi—conventioneer extraordinaire—"Official Mascot" at the 1981 Canberra SF convention—willing to convert to feelie fandom should he get anywhere near the South... If I could ask you people one small favour: please do your best to tire Peter out while he's over there. That way we just might be able to hold him down for long enough to allow him to type out a DUFF report before he embarks on his next round of Australian Conventions!

Tickets for Masquerade and Hugos

You probably have noticed by now that tickets are required for the masquerade and Hugo awards. We tried to think of a way to let everyone attending the con see the masquerade and Hugo awards ceremony, honest we did. We even considered holding these events on Oak Street Beach or in the Hyatt parking garage, but we decided to trade unlimited space for comfortable chairs, a sound system, and air conditioning. Because not even the Hyatt can handle all of us in one room, we will limit attendance by issuing tickets that you'll be able to pick up at con registration on the day of the event.

For the Masquerade, 2500 tickets will be made available at 10 a.m. Saturday; 3000 tickets will be made available on Sunday at 10 a.m. for the Hugo Awards. Each person will be given a limited number of tickets, to be determined later.

If you're wondering why the 500 seat difference, it's because the walkway for the masquerade will take up a considerable amount of space that will be turned into seating for the Hugos.

Information Desk/ Member Services

With 7,000 people, five hotels, barbarians wandering the halls looking for parties, and many foreigners (meaning people who don't come from Chicago), there are sure to be some medical emergencies, hotel problems and questions from totally confused fen. Luckily for all these people, the staff of Chicon IV's Information Desk/Member Services department is there to help. An administrative receptionist will be on duty 24 hours a day during the convention.

We would like to think that people will have nothing but good things to say about the hotel, but we aren't writing science fiction here. If you have a complaint about your hotel, whatever hotel, please see the representative at the Chicon information desk in the Hyatt. This person will talk sweetly to you and to the officials at your temporary residence and straighten things out. Please do not look for our Hotel Liaison, Tom Veal, or his intrepid assistant. They are there to deal with problems on the corporate level. Besides, folks, they've been through enough already.

If you are taken ill when attending Chicon, stop by the information desk and ask for help. If you feel too ill to walk over, you can telephone (the number will be listed at the convention). We have a medical staff on call throughout the con.

We've said this before, but it bears repeating. Do not seek our medical help if you are merely hungover or have an upset tummy from eating too much at McDonald's. Our medical staff is there to handle medical emergencies. The generous doctors, nurses and paramedics who are donating their time are also fans, and they want to enjoy the convention, too. If you feel that you really need medical attention, definately call, but don't come asking for a hangover cure or Tums.

Bulletin Boards

Yes, gentlefen, we will have bulletin board space for those of you who want to arrange meetings, clandestine and otherwise. We only ask that you date your messages — especially the ones like "Tarzan meet Jane at 3 p.m. in the con suite." We will occasionally be clearing the board and removing outdated messages. We'd hate to accidentally ruin your rendezvous because you forgot to write down a date.

Contacting the Convention

At all times during the convention, Chicon IV staff members will be available to answer questions, avert disasters, and direct confused fen. We have two methods of communication. If you need to talk to a staff member you can't find roaming the halls, an Administrative Receptionist will be on duty in our office to take your message and deposit it into the proper mailbox for delivery or pickup. If you're trying to contact an attendee who is not a staff member, you'll have to use the Chicon bulletin boards that will be scattered around the Hyatt. Sorry, but we don't have the resources to find your old buddy from Ypsilanti.

Thanks to modern technology, you will also be able to telephone the Chicon office. The Hyatt phone operators will transfer all Chicon-related calls to a central office for processing. You'll be able to get answers a lot quicker if you know whom you need to speak with, or which department can help you. We will NOT take messages for individual, non-staff members of Chicon, and, if they're not staying in the Hyatt, the operators won't be able to help much either. In case of emergency, we recommend telling your family back home which hotel you're staying in and under whose name your room is registered.

Photography

Flash photography will be allowed at most Chicon IV functions. The Masquerade will have a backstage flash photography area for 100 photographers, and also a backstage available-light area for 100 more photographers. You must sign up in advance at the convention for either one of these. Once you are admitted to either one of these areas you will be locked in until all the contestants have gone through.

The backstage available-light area will have tungstentype lighting, i.e., 3200°K illumination. The stage lighting will try to approximate standard (5500°K) photographic daylight. Note, KODAK EKTACHROME 50 Tungsten balanced film or KODAK EKTACHROME 160 Tungsten balanced film can be used unfiltered with 3200°K illumination. KODACHROME 40 (type A) film needs only slight filtration, i.e., Wratten 82A.

Raffle! Raffle! Raffle!

Ever wanted to own an original Kelly Freas magazine cover? So have we, but paying for it has proved to be quite a problem in the past. Well, Chicon has a solution for you. At the convention, we will be raffling off the original of one of the many fabulous magazine covers Kelly has done in his distinguished career. Tickets for the raffle will cost $2 each or three for $5, with no limit on the number you can purchase. These tickets will be sold only at the con.

Members of the Chicon staff and their families are not eligible to participate in this raffle. (Sorry!) But there is a consolation: There will be a separate raffle for a Kelly Freas study, limited to Chicon staff members. Each staff member will be given one free ticket for this special raffle.

Volunteers/Gophers

You will have a rare chance to start the long, painful process of becoming a TruFan. Yes, you can be a gopher for Chicon IV. We still need helpful, smiling people who would like to earn some fannish glory by working for various divisions of Chicon IV. All you have to do is go to the Gopher Control Room at the Hyatt and tell Jim Green, the manager, that you would like to donate some of your time to the Worldcon. We'd love to show you what fun you can have as a member of the staff.

Weapons, Drugs, Liquor and The Chicago Police Department

The late Mayor Daley once said "you don't go to a rock concert with a baseball bat." Inspired by this timeless sentiment, the Chicago Police Department came up with its own set of rules about what it would like people to bring to conventions.

The police do not like it when con-goers carry concealed or automatic weapons, whether concealed or not (we're talking real world here, folks, not just the Chicon Weapons Policy).

Chicon IV does not advise bringing marijuana to the convention. Marijuana possession in small quantities is a misdemeanor in Illinois. Possession of 2.5 grams or less is a class C misdemeanor — 30 days and a fine. If you get caught with 2.5 to 10.0 grams, you are committing a class B misdemeanor — 6 months and a fine. If you have more than 10 grams, or try to raise a little spending money by giving it away for cash, you are committing a felony.

The drinking age in Illinois is 21, and you will be carded. That goes for the Con Suite, as well as restaurants and bars. We literally cannot afford to be found serving liquor to a minor.

The Chicago Police Department is filled with reasonable people, who will treat you kindly if you treat them kindly. The CPD is perfectly willing to stand back and leave everyone alone so long as they refrain from unfannish behavior like vandalism, violence, and taunting mundanes. Let's keep the management happy, folks.

Tourist and

Restaurant Guides

To those people who leave the Hyatt Regency only to go back and forth from the airport, Chicago may seem to consist entirely of barbarians, crowded elevators and traffic. Although the Chicon IV staff acknowledges that there are a few barbarians running loose on the streets (no, they are not confined to the convention staff), we'd like people to know that Chicago is more than a gangster town or the home of the Cubs. In entertainment, museums, restaurants, beaches, architecture, and occasionally in sport, Chicago is the Second City in name only. Now we are offering free Tourist Guides and Restaurant Guides to Chicon IV attendees that detail events, directions, and descriptions, and it's all a reasonable distance from the con hotels. Pick up your copies at the Information Booth near Registration, and Go Chicagoing!

The Science Fiction Radio Show

A Commentary on Science Fiction and Fantasy

Science Fiction is a phenomenon in the world of cinema and publishing today. Fantasy and science fiction books take up one of the largest sections in any bookstore, and science fiction movies are among Hollywood's biggest money makers each year. The Science Fiction Radio Show is an informative and entertaining examination of science fiction and fantasy and its current popularity.

The program is aimed at a general audience—the science fiction enthusiast, the casual reader and even the listener who knows nothing of the field. The show is five minutes in length, and the basic format consists of interviews with science fiction and fantasy authors talking about their own work and about the field. Many programs deal with other aspects of science fiction: interviews with scientists, movie producers, publishers and agents; shows on related fields, such as fantasy gaming; and discussions of traditional science fiction themes, such as time travel or alien contact. Some of the authors already interviewed are the biggest names in the field: Larry Niven, Frederik Pohl, Roger Zelanzy, L. Sprague de Camp, A.E. van Vogt, Brian Aldiss, Jerry Pournelle, C.J. Cherryh, Jack Vance, Jack Williamson, Hal Clement—and many, many more.

Each 5-minute program stands alone, though often an author interview or a theme will be carried through an entire week as a series. Though some shows deal with authors and classic works from the past, the producers try to keep the material as contemporary as possible; often, book or movie reviews conincide with the publication of a book or premiere of a movie. For instance, for the major heroic fantasy movie, Conan the Barbarian, the producers interviewed authors of Conan books; friends of Robert E. Howard, the deceased author; the technical advisor to the movie; and scholars doing a biography of Howard. These shows were aired the week the movie premiered across the country.

The Science Fiction Radio Show is in half-track stereo on 7-inch reels. For those interested in obtaining a sponsor for the show, each program has a 15-second open for a commercial, followed by a 3-second window, and then the 5-minute show.

WSFS Meetings

The World Science Fiction Society will hold its business meetings from 1 to 3 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to noon on Sunday, and Monday if needed.

Masquerade

The answer is yes, of course, there will be a masquerade. We guarantee that Saturday night in the Grand Ballroom of the Hyatt you will have the opportunity to attend the best Chicon IV masquerade ever held.

If you intend to participate, you must pick up you registration forms either Thursday or Friday at the Registration Desk. There is no charge to enter.

If you are planning to attend, be aware that you will need a ticket and only 2,000 will be available. You can get a ticket at Registration beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday — one person, one ticket.

And for those of you who cannot decide between the first two options, we have yet a third. Costumed ushers will be needed to handle the crowd, but will not participate as contestants. We need some volunteers here, so let's see some fannish spirit! Appy at the Functions Division Office on the skyway level.

Exhibits

The Exhibits Division will feature standing displays from film companies, NASA, and companies that specialize in hard science and science and technology.

We have confirmation from Lucasfilms that it will have presentations on Revenge of the Jedi (expect a long line to see this one, rebels) and a second film entitled Twice Upon a Time.

The Ladd Company has confirmed presentations on the films Blade Runner and The Right Stuff. Three new Steven Spielberg films—E.T., Poltergeist, and A Guy Named Joe (a re-make of a World War II movie fantasy which originally starred Spencer Tracy) are also likely to be present.

The film companies will most likely be distributing posters, flyers and hand-outs, and will have representatives present to answer or evade your questions.

NASA will fill a large part of the exhibit space and will offer presentations on the space program in general and space shuttle in particular.

Science technology exhibitors will include companies that produce computers and computer games, and specialize in the home use of computers. Confirmations from other science-related industries were still pending at press time.

THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME.

ATLANTA IN '86

Like the Phoenix, Atlanta has risen from the ashes of the Civil War to become one of the most vital cities in the U.S. today.

Now, the Atlanta in '86 committee rises to meet the challenge of building a better Worldcon. And we can do it!

Altanta is one of the most modern, yet least expensive, convention centers in the country. The city combines old-fashioned Deep South charm and hospitality with a cosmopolitan atmosphere.

From among the many fine hotels in Atlanta, we have chosen two, the Hyatt Regency and the Hilton, which, together, offer more than enough space and facilities necessary to a Worldcon of the 80s. These hotels are well-located, both in relation to overflow hotels as well as restaurants and shopping centers. Special attention has been given to the needs of the handicapped in the choice of these two hotels: thus all our facilities are easily accessible.

The Atlanta in '86 committee is not merely local. It also encompasses some of the most experienced convention people in the South who have chaired dozens of large Southern regionals.

Southern fandom has a tradition of cooperation and cohesiveness which is the strength behind our bid. We of Worldcon Atlanta, Inc. are proud of the opportunity we have of bringing Southern fandom to the world and the Worldcon to Southern Fandom.

Huckster (Dealer) Room

The Huckster Room is located in Wacker Hall in the East Tower of the Hyatt Regency, two floors below the Main Lobby. The easiest way to reach the Huckster Room is to take the escalator down one flight from the lobby, circle back to your left (south) through the Car Lobby Foyer and then take a second escalator down to Wacker Hall. There is also an elevator at the south end of the Car Lobby Foyer. Although the Art Show shares Wacker Hall with the Huckster Room, there is no authorized access from one to the other.

Hours of Operation

Thursday 12:00 Noon to 6:00 P.M. Friday through Sunday 10:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. Monday 10:00 A.M. to 3:00 P.M.

The 7% Chicago Sales Tax Applies to Most Sales

Inside the Huckster Room, there are over 150 dealers displaying an astonishing variety of wares relating to science fiction and fantasy, covering 260 tables and filling ten display booths. To find the location of a specific dealer, see the dealer directory at the foot of the entrance escalator, cross-referenced to a large-scale floor diagram.

We have not attempted to group dealers by type of merchandise. There's a lot to see, so take your time. You may find just the item you want on your second or third trip through. Merchandise on sale includes new, used and rare books and magazines; T-shirts and medieval clothing; jewelry, pottery and glass sculptures; original art work, limited edition reproductions and portfolios; movie posters, video tapes and films; swords, knives and futuristic weapons; custom designed buttons; comic books; and other items too numerous to mention.

CAUTION: If you purchase a weapon, it will be securely wrapped by the dealer before it is given to you. If you wish to wear or display your new purchase at the convention you must comply with the Chicon IV Weapons Policy which is printed elsewhere in this Program Book.

Due to the anticipated occasional congestion and the nature of the merchandise on sale, we must insist that members refrain from smoking, eating or carrying open or frosted beverage containers in the Huckster Room. In addition, you will be refused admittance if you are not wearing your membership badge.

Many of the authors at Chicon IV have agreed to sit at the autograph table in the Huckster Room for a limited period of time. If you wish to purchase books or magazines to be autographed, you should do so before the time the author is scheduled to be present. The waiting line will run from the foot of the escalator, behind the display booths, to the autograph table to avoid blocking any dealer's table. You will not have a chance to purchase anything while you are waiting in line.

Burroughs Bibliophiles Dum-Dum Luncheon

The annual meeting of the Burroughs Bibliophiles, the Dum-Dum, will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. in Regency Ballroom A on Sunday. Tickets may still be available—inquire at the Information Desk. Speakers have not been confirmed as of this writing, but the Bibliophiles are going all-out for this year's luncheon!

This year marks the 60th anniversary of the first publication of Edgar Rice Burroughs' John Carter of Mars and Tarzan stories in All-Story Magazine. Chicago is the birthplace of Burroughs, who would be 107 years old on September 1, 1982, so this year's Dum-Dum brings ERB's 107th birthday party back home again.

The Burroughs Bibliophiles have been in existence for 22 years. They held their first Dum-Dum luncheon in Chicago 20 years ago with Mrs. J. Allen St. John (wife of the famous Burroughs illustrator) as the Guest of Honor, and have been holding their annual meetings at Worldcons ever since.

The Bibliophiles publish an irregular fanzine, The Burroughs Bulletin, (the only ERB fanzine authorized by Burroughs himself!) and a newsletter, The Gridley Wave; and they maintain a publishing house for ERB reprints and memorabilia called the House of Greystoke.

Art Auctions and Sales

Chicon IV will have four art auctions: Saturday afternoon at 4 p.m.; Sunday morning at 11 a.m.; Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m.; and Monday morning at 11 a.m. Each auction will last approximately two hours. There will be a bulletin board near the entrance to the art show which will have a list of the artworks to be sold at each auction.

In order to participate in the auction, you must have a bidding number; this is to ensure that art is indeed picked up by the right person. Register at the art show control desk to receive a bidding number. The control desk will be located near the art show entrance and the hours for registration will be posted on Friday.

Artwork may be picked up two hours after the end of each art auction:

Auction	Pick-Up Time
Saturday 3 p.m.	7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.
Sunday 11 am	3 p.m. to 5 p.m.
Sunday 3 p.m.	7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.
Monday 11 a.m.	2 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Please note that the art sales offices will open at noon on Monday. Be sure to check your pocket program and the bulletin board in front of the art show for more information, including the location for payment and pick-up of artwork.

Artwork not picked up on the same day of auction may be picked up at later sales hours during the convention. Please be sure to pick up all the artwork you have purchased by Monday at 7 p.m. (Please, don't all of you show up Monday at 5:30!!!)

In payment for artwork, Chicon will accept Master Charge, Visa, personal checks, traveler's checks and, of course, cash. If you are paying with anything other than cash (including a credit card), at least two I.D.'s will be required. The I.D.'s considered acceptable will be a passport, driver's license, school or work I.D. with your picture on it, major credit cards (other than that offered in payment), and credit cards from major national departments stores (e.g., Saks Fifth Avenue, Bergdorf Goodman, Neiman Marcus, I. Magnin, Macy's, Bambergers, Bloomingdales, etc.). Please note, we will not accept local store charge cards because we will have no way of verifying if they are valid. Also, we are not accepting American Express charge cards, green or gold.

To ensure promptness, please be sure to have your pickup slip (which will be given to you at the art auction), your bidder's number, and your identifications ready when you come for your artwork. No piece of art will be released without a pick-up slip. (No tickee, no artee!!!!!!)

Lewis Grant Jr. Memorial

Award for Art

Lewis Grant was a fan whose life resembled the literary genre he loved. He was the first of the "blue babies" to survive beyond infancy, a research chemist and Mensa member, an avid collector of fanzines and worldcon program books, a member of the Chicago Rocket Society, and a cheater of death. His doctors told him he could take life easy and live a fair span, or continue his mad fannish social whirl and die at any time. Despite his chronic heart disease, he remained a fan.

He was also a regular at the old "Tuesday Night Group" that used to meet on the South Side, and one of the most incorrigible punsters in fandom.

He died in his early 40's, at a convention (the 1966 Wilcon). He reportedly haunted the memorial meeting held for him by the Tuesday Night Group.

Lewis Grant's collection of vintage Astoundings and Analogs, as well as most of his fanzines, disappeared until 1973, when a fan living in his old apartment (the apartment housed a steady stream of fans) did her laundry late one Friday night in the basement and got the distinct impression she was being glared at from a dark corner. Mop handle in one hand, she reached into the storage locker (old lock, newly broken) and hauled out an old fanzine with a glaring Tim Kirk goblin on the cover, followed by a complete run of 1945 Astoundings in perfect condition.

The rest of the collection followed. She swears she heard Louie chuckle, and from that day on the pipes in the kitchen stopped whistling. Even eerier, two days later the basement flooded — for the first time in 20 years and just after the collection had been moved upstairs. Louie loved that kind of practical joke.

In memory of this popular fan, whose sense of humor apparently extended beyond his own premature death, Windycon art shows have dubbed their "Best in Show" award the Lewis Grant Jr. Memorial Art Show Award. A monetary grant traditionally accompanies the award.

This year, by special arrangement with Illinois Science Fiction Conventions, Inc. (Windycon's sponsoring body), the Lewis Grant Jr. Memorial Award will be given to the "Best in Show" winner at the Chicon IV art show.

We are grateful for the opportunity to honor a valued, loved and possibly not quite departed friend.

WHY PHILADELPHIA?

Well the first SF Convention ever held was in Philly. (By a strange coincidence, 1986 is the fiftieth anniversary of that con.) Then, there's the 1953 Philadelphia Worldcon, where the Hugo Award was created.

But what have we done for you lately?

Philcon, the oldest SF convention, has come into its own as a regional; bigger and better than ever. Increases in the size of Philcon have led to increases in the sophistication and complexity of the programming, but we've never sacrificed the basic tradition of fandom. Philcon—we like to think—is still a good place for fans to get together and just relax if they want to. And many of the people involved in the running of Philcon are members of our bid for 1986.

Come to our hospitality suite at Chicon. We'll have munchies, soda, and sangria punch, and we'll be glad to answer any questions you may have about our bid.

But we'll be doing much more for you:

- * The Phil A. Delphia Show: live performances of the radio adventures of our own secret agent. Thrill with Phil as he fights the forces of Chaos in a never-ending battle for Ghu, justice, and the fannish way of life.
- * The Great Tully Hunt: We've managed to get our hands on a bottle of the legendary Tullamore Dew. And we want YOU to have it. Watch the daily con newsletter (and our hospitality suite) for clues. The first person to guess what person or thing the clues refer to gets the Tully. (Subject to Illinois liquor law.) If more than one person guesses right, we'll have a drawing from among the correct answers. If nobody guesses, the Tully will be given away Sunday night in a random drawing from all Philadelphia in 1986 presupporting members. (See, it does pay to pre-support.)

SPECIAL BONUS FOR READERS OF THIS AD:

The first clue in the Great Tully Hunt is:

If you've never seen me, just ask anyone who has; I tell everyone I meet, "I'm perfect just the way I am".

Program Note

Part of the fun of writing a worldcon program book is that two of the major divisions, programming and publications, work with entirely different deadlines. As this is being written on a chilly day in late June, publications is racing to get the program book to the printer by mid-July. Meanwhile, programming's deadline is the end of August, and new panels (even entire tracks!) are being added as we type.

We wrote the preceding article on programming, thinking we wouldn't have anything more complete. Then we got the following schedule, just barely in time to include it here. Because we are so close to our deadline, we don't have time to rewrite and combine the article and schedule. We do, at least, want to give you the latest possible information — whether it looks pretty or not.

The schedule that follows is more recent than the article; however, neither is final. The pocket program has more current information, and we hope you will keep that close to your heart throughout the con.

SHORT FILMS WANTED!

Film Program Notes

Program Philosophy:

With the wide variety of film titles available to today's SF film programmers, and especially considering the recent upsurge in production of large-budget science fiction and fantasy films, your programmers rapidly concluded that there was no excuse for any film being on the Chicon program that was not in some way remarkable; either remarkable because new, remarkable because classic, or remarkable because remarkably bad. Therefore, we have organized our program with this thought uppermost in mind.

In addition, we felt that a film program of this magnitude deserved to have some structure, as opposed to the typical potpourri of cinematic offerings served up at the typical convention. Therefore, each of the four nights that the convention is officially open will be divided into seven time slots. In each time slot the fan viewer can expect to find a particular type of film which we hope will not only help the fans in scheduling their viewing time, but will also encourage them to expand their cinematic horizons.

The period between 3 and 5 p.m. is designated as the slot for "Classics of the Cinema." This slot has a very heavy emphasis on the works of the German Expressionist filmmakers such as Lang, Murnau, Leni, and others. Many of these films have had a terrific impact on the evolution of cinema that is felt to the present day, but is unrealized by many fans because they had not had the opportunity to view these films.

The period from 5 to 7 p.m. is designated as the "Foreign Film Festival." Although films from other countries appear at various other spots on the program, the films in this time period are specifically selected as interesting excursions into non-American culture.

The period between 7 and 11 p.m. is "Prime Time." During this time, we have scheduled the four "biggest" and most recent films on the program, each of which will be repeated.

"Late Prime Time" continues after ll p.m. with films of recent interest, including one recently available after a very long period of unavailability. Prior to 1 a.m., there will be episodes of a serial run as a continuing event.

The period commencing at 1 a.m. is designated as "Significa," films of undeniable quality that are not seen often enough.

Commencing at 3 a.m., we have the "Guerrilla Cinema/ Late Night Turkey Shoot." These films are intended to mesh nicely with the slightly unraveled state of consciousness that tends to prevail at three in the morning. These films are either staggeringly bad or staggeringly strange, whichever suits your taste.

Here are some notes on what you can expect to be seeing:

THE LOST WORLD - This is the first film adaption of Arthur Conan Doyle's novel about an isolated plateau in the Amazon jungle harboring refugees from prehistoric times. Featuring special effects by Willis O'Brien, this film is the direct ancestor of a great many Grade B dinosaur and giant monster films, as well as stop motion animation epics of today, including Clash of the Titans and Dragonslayer.

by Gregory G. H. Rihn

THE GOLEM - This 1920 film is an expanded remake of Paul Wegener's 1914 film, which tells of Rabbi Loew's conjuring up of the monstrous Cabalistic robot of Jewish legend in order to avert a pogrom against the Jews in Hapsburg. This, of course, is a lineal ancestor of the Frankenstein films, as well as many other "mad scientist's creation runs amuck" movies. Lighting techniques, used to excellent advantage, make this film visually interesting.

SEVEN SAMURAI - One film on the program that is not specifically science fiction or fantasy, Seven Samurai is still a tale of mythic proportion set in old Japan. Many people are unaware that this film provided the basis for the famous American western, The Magnificent Seven, but the younger members of the audience may be most familiar with the plot line as the skeleton of the recent SF potboiler, Battle Beyond the Stars. It should be seen so that the interested viewer may enjoy a fine story.

ALTERED STATES - Of the science fiction/fantasy cinema of 1981, this film probably received the most acclaim from the mainstream critics. Part of this may be due to the film's basis in the work of Paddy Chayefsky, a noted screenwriter. Although parallels can be drawn between this film and Dr. Jekyll & Mr. Hyde, which is, as Stephen King pointed out, essentially a werewolf tale, Altered States is a refreshing treatment that pushes human science to the limits

OUTLAND - Again, as in Altered States, a film noted for its entertainment value rather than the sheer originality of its content. Outland has frequently been compared to High Noon, but really goes to show that stories of conflict, corruption and struggle can be set anywhere to good effect. THE OLD DARK HOUSE - Often believed to be lost for the past 30 years, The Old Dark House, directed by James Whale, is one of the most literate and visually striking horror films of the 1930's. It is a masterful mixture of gothic horror, parody and humorous but civilized responses to the absurd. Starring Boris Karloff, Melvin Douglas, Charles Laughton, Raymond Massey, Ernest Thesiger ("Dr. Paracelsus" in The Bride of Frankenstein) and Eva Moore, certain scenes from this award winner have been credited with inspiring many other films, including Rocky Horror Picture Show.

SPIRITS OF THE DEAD - This French-made film combines three fairly obscure pieces of work by Edgar Allen Poe, effectively directed by three different directors, Roger Vadim, Frederico Fellini and Roger Malle, and performed by a remarkable cast, including Jane Fonda, Peter Fonda, Brigitte Bardot, Alain Delon and Terrance Stamp. Settings range from the Poesque castles and seashores of "Metzengerstein," 19th Century period of "William Wilson," and the contemporary setting of "Toby Dammit." For the connoisseur of Poe's works, this is a distinctly different approach from that taken by American International Pictures.

STAR CRASH - There is very little excuse for this outrageously silly film, other than it is silly. With its handshaped space ship that clenches into a fist for combat mode, ever-lovely heroine, mysterious powers and fatuous dialogue, it's nothing but fun.

Friday:

THE CAT AND THE CANARY - Director Paul Leni came to America from Germany after the success of his film, Waxworks, and with The Cat and the Canary created the definitive haunted house thriller, a rich mix of horror, comedy and expressionistic camera work, that has been often remade (most recently with Bob Hope as The Ghost Breakers), but never equaled. The relatives of a deceased eccentric gather at midnight in a long-abondoned mansion to hear the reading of his will. A niece is named heiress, but only if she spends the night in the house—and is judged still sane in the morning. Needless to say, the remainder of the night is filled with all manner of clutching hands, sliding panels, watching eyes, revolving bookcases and uncanny apparitions. This film was a cornerstone of the famous Universal horror style that dominated the 1930's and continues into today.

THE CABINET OF DR. CALIGARI - This 1919 film adapted many of the criteria of the Expressionist school of art and letters and applied them to the cinema at a time when that movement was dying out in many other circles. Expressionism gained a new lease on life in the cinematic medium thanks to this film. Warner Kraus stars as the mysterious conjurer-magician who sends a somnambulist (Conrad Veidt) out on rampages of abduction and murder. The eerie, unreal settings make this the most extreme example of Expressionism ever transfered to film.

APPLE WAR - Possibly one of the most delightful pieces of cinema of recent years, this Swedish film is set in a pure rural village threatened with extinction due to the plans of a cabal of German industrialists to create a "Deutschneyland" amusement complex for German tourists in their backyard. As the people of the village rally round, the female protagonist, who happens to be the last of a long line of witches, arouses the spirits and denizens of Scandinavian folklore against the invaders, including giants, dragons and Fata Morgana. It must be seen to be appreciated.

TIME BANDITS - Although not without its flaws, Time Bandits gets your programmers' award for the most original science fiction/fantasy film of 1981. A group of midgets and a child with a map of temporal gates chase through time—past, present and mythical—encountering ogres, giants, Napoleon, Robin Hood, an evil genius, a Supreme Being and King Agamemnon. Steal the time to see this film.

DRAGONSLAYER - This film takes an otherwise ordinary sword and sorcery tale and by means of extraordinarily high production values, attention to detail and careful use of special effects, makes it remarkable. A rather grubby little medieval kingdom is beset by the truly fearsome dragon, Vermithrax Perjorative, and the people call upon the last of the wizards, played by Sir Ralph Richardson, to save them. When the wizard dies, his apprentice, played by Peter McNichol, attempts to do in the dragon himself. Brian Johnson and Derek Valint, the team who photographed and created the special effects for the film Alien, spent almost a quarter of the film's budget animating and bringing the dragon to life, which was money well spent, as it is certainly the most effective such creature ever placed on film.

DRACULA - (1979) This is the film adaptation of the stylish stage presentation starring Frank Langella as the durable Count Dracula. Ably supported by Laurence Olivier and Donald Pleasence, this is a must-see for all vampire fans out there.

CAPTAIN KRONOS, VAMPIRE HUNTER For those of you who are not vampire fans, enter Captain Kronos. Often referred to as a gothic version of Clint Eastwood's "Man With No Name," Kronos is a swashbuckling wanderer who combats evil where he finds it. This is one of the last and best-produced films by Hammer before its demise, and suffered underexposure due to the breakup of its American distributorship.

ATTACK OF THE KILLER TOMATOES - Not intended to be taken seriously, Attack of the Killer Tomatoes has become screamingly popular on the late night convention circuit. Allegedly a "musical," excruciatingly bad songs are mercifully few, and have their greatest comic value in their titles, such as "Tomato Stomp" and "Love Theme From Attack of the Killer Tomatoes." Must be seen to be believed.

Saturday:

THE WOMAN IN THE MOON - Directed and produced by Fritz Lang, this 1929 feature could very well be designated one of the first true science fiction films, and one of the first to have a scientific adviser. Hermann Oberth of the German Rocket Society collaborated on the design of the moon rocket. In fact, the rocket ship was such an accurate reproduction of rockets being tested by the German government that the film was later censored. Designs and effects in the film were widely copied and set the style for science fiction cinema for decades to come.

THE WICKER MAN - This is a masterpiece of the modern occult cinema, written by Anthony Schaefer, famous for his intricate scripting of such films as Sleuth and Alfred Hitchcock's Frenzy. It is from the intricacy of the eerie plot, contrasted with the other-worldly beauty of the settings, that this film draws its compelling tension. It is a true rarity among modern "horror" cinema in that it creates suspense without resorting to gore and cheap shock effects. This film goes into the "foreign" category due to its chilling exploration of the superstition underlying old British folklore. The folk music of the area is used to compelling effect in building atmosphere.

OUTLAND - See notes to Thursday night.

ALTERED STATES - See notes to Thursday night.

ESCAPE FROM NEW YORK - Is the future the only thing more horrifying than "The Fog?" Director John Carpenter supposedly answers in this adventure flick that carries urban decay and big city crime paranoia to the ultimate degree. In 1997, the city of New York has become a penal colony under the anarchic rule of its inmates. A plane carrying the President crashes into this morass. The government concludes that only criminals can survive in this environment and sends in a convicted criminal who will be pardoned if he is successful in rescuing the President.

PHANTOM OF THE PARADISE - We included this film because we like it! An extremely stylish take off of the recording industry and the horror film genre, combining themes from The Phantom of the Opera, Faust and The Picture of Dorian Gray, it is enlivened by skillful setting, a bouncing score by Paul Williams, the same Paul Williams' utterly slimey performance as the satanic Swan, William Finley grimacing as the Phantom, and Jessica Harper as Phoenix.

PLAN NINE FROM OUTER SPACE - This film has had the distinction of being deservedly singled out as possibly the worst film ever made. The producers of this Grade "F" potboiler about an invasion from outer space shamelessly parlay the one shot of Bela Lugosi that they got on film before he died into an "appearance" - which they might just as well have done for the rest of the cast.

Sunday:

THE HAUNTED CASTLE - Friedrich Wilhelm Murnau, one of Germany's two finest silent film directors (along with Fritz Lang), is best known as the producer of Nosferatu, the first vampire film. On-location sets, authentic atmosphere, frequent harsh realism of details and restrained rather than exaggerated acting show the influence of a Swedish school rather than that of the German Expressionism that was otherwise prevalent in the cinema of the time. The Haunted Castle is a mystery, the unraveling of which coincides with the film's climax. The film is set in a castle in the North shrouded in a moody atmosphere of mist, rain and barren landscape, against which is played out a complicated plot involving disguises, jealousies, foreboding dreams and murder.

THE STUDENT OF PRAGUE - This is one of the most important films in the history of the German silent cinema. Made in 1913, it bears the stamp of Expressionism, making it the originator of the Expressionist movement in German cinema predating as it does Dr. Caligari by almost seven years. The Student of Prague incorporates such myths as the doppelganger, the Faust legend and the image captured in the shattered mirror common to The Picture of Dorian Gray and Phantom of the Paradise.

KWAIDAN - This is a quartet of ghost stories, thoroughly

Japanese both in content and viewpoint, and reminiscent of some of the best works by Edgar Allen Poe. Celebrations of men in arms, betrayed love, superstition and terror, based upon the works of Lafciado Hearn. Often favorably compared with the classic Dead of Night.

DRAGONSLAYER - See notes to Friday.

TIME BANDITS - See notes to Friday.

EXCALIBUR - John Boorman's Excalibur is the latest of many film adaptations of the Arthurian legend. While somewhat clumsy in attempting to deChristianize the Quest of the Holy Grail, the film's utter beauty is faithful to the spirit, if not the letter, of high Arthurian mythos. The sheer visual impact of the film, plus the performance by Nicol Williamson as Merlin, makes the film worth seeing.

DANGER: DIABOLIK - In 1968, DeLaurentis Productions made two film adaptations of European comic strips. One, directed by DeLaurentis, was the famous Barbarella. Danger: Diabolik, directed by Mario Bava, is based upon the Italian comic strip "Diabolik." John Phillip Law, who played the blind angel in Barbarella, stars as the super criminal who steals jewels, pilfers the world's largest gold ingot, and closes down the British internal revenue system, just for the fun of it.

KENTUCKY FRIED MOVIE - We close out our feature presentations with Kentucky Fried Movie, which is an entire film program in itself. The movie is a combination of blackouts, that could not be done for stage or television, including a "United Appeal for the Dead" by Henry Gibson, a parody trailer for a soft core pornography film called "Catholic High School Girls in Trouble," and probably the best parody of the Bruce Lee type Kung Fu film ever made. From the people who brought you Airplane and "Police Squad."

Alternate Media

Throughout the convention, our alternate media program will be providing "alternatives" to both our main film program and other events. As this goes to press, it is too early to give a schedule, but we promise a mix of professional and fan-produced video, professional and fan-produced audio, multi-media and whatever else becomes available. See your pocket program for details.

Chicon Masquerade Rules

Combined with Mother Joni's Helpful Hints to Costumers

by Joni Stopa

- 1. Judging will be done in three categories: Novice, Journeyman and Master. There will be no media category.
- 2. Absolutely disallowed are straight media human costumes. We will not permit Han Solo, Princess Leia, Indiana Jones, etc., ad infinitum. This is not costume designing, but plain copy-catism, and will not be tolerated! However, if you have an interesting twist or idea based on a media production, we will be more than glad to have you in the competition. Media aliens are also welcome.
- 3. All special effects must be cleared through me at masquerade registration. The broad outline of what to avoid is anything that could hurt another person or damage someone else's costume; these are strictly prohibited. The traditional ban on flamethrowers, smoke bombs and peanut butter is in effect.
- 4. SCA constumes and "Hall" costumes are not allowed on the stage, although they can be seated in the audience providing that the wearer has tickets. Non-costumes are non-costumes (gee, dad, a tautology) and will not be allowed. Judges will be circulating Thursday, Friday and Saturday looking for outstanding "Hall" costumes. These "Hall" costumes will be invited to participate in a short competition before the Masquerade on Saturday night.
- 5. We have no policy or ban on nudity, other than that a non-existent costume cannot be entered. If you are planning a costume that involves a certain amount of nudity, and if it is both artistic and justifiable in terms of the costume, it is okay by us. BUT make sure you have the body for it, the presence of mind, and at a minimum, a G-string. Also, cover yourself while in public areas of the hotel; the Hyatt attracts patrons off the street to its restaurants and activities, and it would like to keep this business after Chicon.
- 6. If you are planning to use weapons (real or fake) or any hand-carried stage props, please check them with us. It will be easier for you and the other participants because space will be at a premium, and the less baggage you have, the better. Any laser-type weapons that you plan to use must be checked through the con-committee and conform to the Chicon IV Weapons Policy, printed elsewhere in the program book.

7. Presentations will be limited to 60 seconds or less. The presentation has one purpose only — to project your costume in the most dramatic light possible. Simple gestures and movements usually work best. If you insist on doing a playlet, skit, song or speech, we will want to know in advance — so we can provide you and others of like mind a deep dungeon in the old wing of the hotel, where you can have fun while the rest of us can get on with business and enjoy the many fine costumes.

* * * *

So much for what is and is not allowed. Here is what you must do and the general set-up you will find at the convention.

- A. Registration will not be handled through the mail. I, for one, do not trust the Post Awful to get it to us either in time or at all. There will be some registration on Thursday night with the times and place listed in the Daily Bulletin. Registration on Friday will be between 1:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m., with the place again being listed in the Daily Bulletin. If you arrive later than that, check the daily newsletter for the site of the masquerade rehearsals. You may register at that site and wit your turn to go to the Theatrical Training Workshop.
- B. The Theatrical Training Workshop is mandatory for Novice and Journeyman categories; Masters need not show up for this, but if they wish to to so, they are more than welcome. You will be assigned to a workshop when you register. Under the direction of Marty Gear, we have assembled a staff of professional and semi-professional actors and others with extensive theatrical experience to give you instruction on how to "play" your costume to the hilt during the competition. They will advise you on how to walk across the stage, how to gesture, etc. They will not design a presentation for you, but they will take what you want to do your ideas and suggest ways to maximize its effect.
- C. The "call" for costume participants will be at 6:00 p.m. on Saturday; the place will be announced at costume registration. Don't be late! Your assignment of places in the competition by number will be given to you at that time; once you have your number, remember it! Please be in place when your turn is up.
- D. After being assigned a number, you will proceed to the photographers area and then to the stage. Keep your props with you at this time, and check them later after you cross the stage.
- E. The stage is roughly 15' by 25', with a 10' platform extension into the audience. Only white light will be used, to eliminate ruining presentations with a special lighting glitch. A rough map of the stage area is attached.
- F. There will be no second run-through.

G. Sound effects and/or special music may be used, and we will do our best to see that no glitches occur with these effects; however, you are advised not to make your presentations solely dependent upon your sound cues, as technical difficulties have been known to arise in the past. The only permissible format for your sound cues is a standard C-60 cassette.

SPECIAL LABELING RULES FOR CASSETTE TAPES: We will provide a blank white label at registration and "call" on Saturday night. You must use this label to avoid confusion among our sound staff. On it you must print you name(s), your costume(s) name and your assignment number. We will then collect your cassette at that desk and forward them to our sound staff.

H. Bring with you to costume registration and "call" on Saturday night a 3" x 5" white index card typed with the copy you wish the announcer to read. The card should be in the following format:

YOUR NAME(S) ASSIGNED #
YOUR COSTUME'S NAME(S)

Any additional copy you wish the announcer to read, should be typed neatly and legibly. The length of the text may not exceed the rest of the front side of the card.

If you have a name that is difficult to pronounce, please write it phonetically. Al Frank, a professional actor and radio announcer, is scheduled to be our announcer for the masquerade. Al will be available at "call"; if you have any special instructions for him with respect to reading your copy, please talk to him at that time.

Medical Services

So, here you are at Chicon. Months of planning, spending and lying to your boss are at an end and you're here, you and about 6999 other fans. And, as in any week-long gathering of this size, somebody is bound to get sick, especially when you consider that the favorite activities at a worldcon are drinking, staying up late, smoking, smoffing and not eating.

With this likelihood and your health in mind, and terror in our hearts, we have formed the Chicon IV Medical Services Team. There will be a nurse or paramedic and an Illinois-licensed M.D. on call throughout the convention. We even have a vet. Inquire, in person or by telephone, at the Information Desk.

Please remember that we're offering an emergency service; hangovers and three-year-old backaches won't be appreciated. Also remember that we will not stock any medications. The doctors on call will be able to write prescriptions, but would rather not. They will NOT write prescriptions for cold remedies.

What medical services CAN do is help fans who become ill or sustain injuries during the con. Refer to Dr. Bob's nifty med services diagram for details on how a request for assistance is processed.

Dr. Bob also urges all Chicon attendees to attend to his rules for worldcon survival:

Rule 1 — Sleep (occasionally).

Rule 2 — Eat (at lest one real meal a day).

Rule 3 — Wickerman's Maxim — If you don't want the plague, don't kiss the carrier. (This generalizes to colds, sore throats, and the Grunge, as well as Traumatic Primordial Ooze, with perfect ease.)

Rule 4 — Yang's Law — Do not drink more than a glass of anything unfamiliar, no matter how good it tastes. (Honored more in the breach than in practice, alas.) A word of warning - the medical treatment for "Drunk and Disgusting" is incarceration in the linen closet until the following Monday. This goes double if you add antihistamines or recreationals.

Rule 5 — There is no Rule 5.

Rule 6 — Nothing mixes with recreational drugs.

On top of this is the important fact that not all fans enjoy perfect health. Fans are people, too, and are subject to the usual run of chronic illnesses: asthma, high blood pressure, epilepsy, allergies, diabetes and heart disease, all of which can be aggravated by stress. Most such fans know their illnesses well and come to conventions prepared. Even so, the following suggestions, which may save your life, are

- 1) If you take medication routinely, make sure you have brought enough for the entire convention, plus three days to spare, just in case. If you haven't brought enough, don't wait until after you have run out to try and get your prescription refilled; do it now.
- 2) PLEASE don't mix up your medications. Make sure all containers are labeled. Remember, generic drugs do not appear in the Physician's Desk Reference.
- 3) If you have a medical problem likely to give you trouble, let us know about it now. There are forms at the Information Desk for the purpose. We'll also issue a sticker for your badge that indicates you have medical information on file.
 - 4) Carry an ID or MedicAlert bracelet.
- 5) Carry a list of your medications and medical problems in your wallet, pocket, or purse, along with the name and phone number of your regular M.D. If you run into problems, your doctor will want to know.

Naturally, we hope this whole medical services setup doesn't get used. The members of the medical team are fans, too, volunteering their time and expertise, and Dr. Bob warns "we don't treat stupidity." Hoaxes will receive even worse treatment than "Drunk and Disgusting."

If you are sick or hurt, and it's not something you know you can sleep off, contact the Chicon information desk at the Hyatt.

Where to Meet Pros And What to Do When You Get There

by Phyllis Eisenstein

In many respects, science fiction writers are just like ordinary people. They respond positively to friendliness and negatively to hostility. A worldcon presents a great opportunity for meeting them, provided that you remember a few simple guidelines. Probably the most significant among these is your choice of time and place. You can't just lasso them in the hallways, after all.

Aside from the official Meet the Pros Party, some of the best times to encounter the pro of your choice are after the author has given a reading, participated in a panel discussion, or otherwise appeared before an audience; just be sure to move along with him or her, to the back of the room or out of it-you don't want to infringe on the next program item. Another good opportunity is after a gala attraction of the day which most authors would be likely to attend, such as the masquerade, the Hugo ceremonies, or the Guest-of-Honor speeches. Pros can also be found at large in the Art Show, the Huckster Room, or even from time to time at the nightly parties. Finally, there are the official autographing sessions... but unless no one is standing in line behind you, it would be unfair to other autograph-hounds if you did more than offer a brief "Hi" to any pro busy getting writer's cramp at one of these.

Times not to try to meet pros ought to be obvious: when they are on their way to participate in program items, to the SFWA business meeting, or to dinner. Or when one appears to be engaged in a particularly animated (or intimate) discussion with only one other person.

Which brings us to etiquette. Once you have located a pro under good conditions, how do you act and what do you say?

First of all, you smile. You look open and friendly, but with a certain amount of reserve. You never interrupt an ongoing conversation; rather, you wait for a natural break in the verbal flow before saying something appropriate. A good way to ingratiate yourself is to ask for an autograph, and while the pro is signing your book or lunchbox say something appreciative about his or her work. Comment on the panel or the reading you just heard, or on the conversation you walked in on. Do NOT start out with a barrage of insults, as this will invariably cause the pro to look askance and terminate the meeting with great speed.

If you feel you must take issue with something the pro has recently said or written, try to find something positive to say before launching into your denunciation; and remember, this is only a human being before you, with all the flesh-and-blood frailties of a human being like yourself. Do not expect the pro to entertain you, either with scintillating wit or with cleverly insulting repartee; no matter what you have seen him or her do onstage or in print, the pro is not a 24-hour performer. Don't be pushy; don't ever crowd a pro into a corner and harangue him or her for long periods of time; give other people a chance to meet the author. Above all, do not tell a pro all about the novel you're writing, nor offer to send him or her a copy of criticism; some pros are too polite to tell you they're not interested, but they're really not—critiquing other people's fiction is hard work and not one of the reasons most writers attend worldcons.

The key to meeting pros is to project a combination of friendliness, courtesy, and interest. Most pros will respond well to this and will be happy to chat with you if they have the time. Just remember that many of them experience as much anxiety over meeting strangers as you do; don't mistake their shyness for snobbery. At a worldcon, they expect you to come up and talk to them. A little consideration on your part can help to make these occasions, and the entire convention, pleasant for all of us.

Program Book 69

Chicon IV Weapons Policy

Introduction: Why a weapons policy?

The misuse of weapons in fandom has increased significantly over the past few years, especially at the larger conventions. Role-playing activities in complete costumes are an intrinsic aspect of fannishness, and SF and fantasy are often weapons-oriented. However, widespread carrying of weapons causes problems because many weapons are just plain dangerous, weapons are often handled incorrectly, and many con attendees don't like weapons at all. This set of guidelines is designed to promote an enjoyable time for all who attend Chicon IV. We believe that those who want to play at using weapons must be allowed to do so consistent with the safety and enjoyment of other convention members, the hotel staff, and other guests of the hotel.

There is a tendency to put unfair demands on a weapons policy. It has been suggested, for example, that it should be restrictive because that would (in some undefined way) reduce the number of fringe fans, media fans, or certain special-interest groups at the convention, without having a similar effect on trufans. Or that a strict weapons policy is necessary as an educational tool to "discourage the further development of violence in today's society."

Whether these ideals are desirable or feasible is irrelevant; these issues are outside our scope here. Similarly, no policy can cover every inconvenience, or we'd be here for hours listing the necessity of using deodorant, or proposing executions for those who filksing off-key. Likewise, this is not a "no-vandalism" policy (that is hopefully an obvious no-no). This article, and policy, concerns weapons, weapon-like hardware, and non-weapons used in a weapon-like manner.

A reminder is in order that these guidelines are applicable in the public, not private, areas of the convention. Public areas include the hotel lobby, convention space and corridors.

The goals? A policy that is simple, clear and fair, that demonstrates and encourages common sense, conforms to applicable state and local laws, and is enforceable and consistently enforced.

The policy itself:

- I. No "real" firearms, ordnance, or ammunition.
- II. No projectiles or working projectile weapons.
- III. No bare steel.
- IV. No lasers.
- V. Handle all hardware responsibly.
- VI. Enforcement will be at the discretion of the Hyatt Regency Chicago, the Chicon IV committee, and the Chicago Police, not necessarily in that order.

Some points of clarification and explanation

I. No "real" firearms, ordnance, or ammunition. If the weapon was ever designed to fire or explode with stunning or deadly force, it may not be worn, carried, or exhibited, even if rendered inoperable. Replicas must be obviously fake — if it looks real, it will be treated as such. This applies to ammunition of any kind or character; a bandolier of bullets, even with the explosive charge removed, is not permitted.

II. No projectiles or working projectile weapons. This covers an extraordinary number of objects, all of which pose dangers because they are uncontrollable, often come into direct physical contact with their "target," and promote interactive battles. Projectiles may include frisbees, paper airplanes, flung food, etc. Projectiles from weapons may include rubber darts, ping-pong balls, arrows, microwaves, earth, air, fire, and water — and endless other possibilities. Don't.

III. No bare steel. Naked steel cannot be allowed in the function rooms and corridors of the hotel. Even dull blades can be dangerous; keep steel sheathed. Peacebonding might be a nice touch, but it is ineffective in terms of actual control. The person who would take a peacebonding request seriously is the same person who would take a "no bare steel" request seriously; he isn't the one who is likely to cause a problem.

There are only two exceptions to this rule. (1) Dealers in the Huckster Room may exhibit and sell bare steel weapons. Once sold, they must be wrapped in some manner. (2) This rule does not apply to masquerade participants during the actual presentation of their costumes on stage on in the photography areas. Do not go into the audience with bare steel, real or simulated! And again, this policy is applicable in all public convention areas. If you must show off a blade, do it privately.

IV. No lasers. Harmless lasers can become harmful lasers by boosting the power pack, hitting a particularly sensitive target, or concentrating on a given target for an extended period. Fear of lasers exceeds fear of most other weapons (with the possible exception of nukes, and they're outlawed, too), which makes a laser particularly likely to offend others. In addition, while lasers may be considered fan-related, they cannot be considered either fan-intrinsic or irreplaceable by a reasonable facsimile.

Yes, we realize that this is the most difficult, most debatable section of the policy. Since lasers are technically projectile weapons, this section basically reinforces that rule, refusing to except lasers. We are planning to have some panels about lasers, and possibly some demonstrations under controlled conditions. We just don't want them to be wandering loose in the convention in general.

V. Handle all hardware responsibly. This is the "don't act like a fugghead" section of the policy. Hardware that is normally safe can be dangerously abused. No weapon may be carried or used in a way which harrasses, annoys or endangers others. Don't fire any kind of weapon at the face or body of another person. Don't swing hardware, run while wearing or carrying it, or participate in battles or contests with it. If ropes, whips, or chains are an important part of your persona, carry them for display only; keep them coiled. Large and cumbersome weapons are inappropriate in crowds (including most meeting areas and all elevators). Weapons that do something are interesting, but recognize that sensitivity to light and sound may vary and don't overdo it.

In short, any object can be used to annoy or hurt someone: watch your actions as well as your hardware.

VI Enforcement will be at the discretion of... This has been left purposefully vague, for not all situations are created equal. A melee in the registration line is not the same thing as a fan displaying his knife to a friend in a secluded corner. To handle both situations in the same manner is to enforce on an arbitrary basis. In short, while the rules apply equally for all and the fact of enforcement applies equally for all, the method of enforcement will vary with the situation. Prying people apart while screaming for order may be appropriate in one situation, but certainly absurd in another. Confiscation of the hardware or revoking a membership or a soft-spoken reminder are methods available, as appropriate. This allows for genuine enforcement and the freedom to concern ourselves with safety rather than running rampant looking for offenders to "punish."

Conclusions

We feel that the above policy is nothing more than good, common sense. We intend to have consistent and persistent enforcement without watchdogging, witchhunting, or becoming an annoyance ourselves.

There will always be a number of attendees who will ignore any weapons policy. For them, this policy only serves as something to point to when action is taken. These few can ruin it for all, and that is what we are trying to avoid.

A story, once it has appeared in English, may thus be eligible only once. Publication date, or cover date in the case of a dated periodical, takes precedence over copyright date. A serial takes its appearance to be the date of the last installment. Individual stories appearing as a series are eligible only as individual stories and are not eligible taken together under the title of the series. An author may withdraw a version of his work from consideration if he feels that that version is not representative of what he wrote. The Convention Committee may relocate a story into a more appropriate category if it feels that it is necessary, provided that the story is within five thousand (5,000) words of the new category limits.
- SECTION 3: Best Novella: The rules shall be the same as those for Best Novel, with length between seventeen thousand five hundred (17,500) and forty thousand (40,000) words.
- SECTION 4: Best Novelette: The rules shall be the same as those for Best Novel, with length between seven thousand five hundred (7,500) and seventeen thousand five hundred (17,500) words.
- SECTION 5: Best Short Story: The rules shall be the same as those for Best Novel, with length less than seven thousand five hundred (7,500) words.
- SECTION 6: Best Non-Fiction Book: Any non-fictional work relating to the field of science fiction or fantasy appearing for the first time in book form during the previous calendar year.
- SECTION 7:Best Dramatic Presentation: Any production in any medium of dramatized science fiction or fantasy which has been publicly presented for the first time in its present dramatic form during the previous calendar year. In the case of individual programs presented as a series, each program is individually eligible, but the series as a whole is not eligible.
- SECTION 8: Best Professional Artist: An illustrator whose work has appeared in the field of professionally published science fiction or fantasy during the previous calendar year.
- SECTION 9: Best Professional Editor: The editor of any professional publication devoted primarily to science fiction or fantasy during the previous calendar year.

- SECTION 10: Best Fanzine: Any generally available fannish publication devoted to science fiction, fantasy, or related subjects, which has published four (4) or more issues, at least one (1) of which appeared in the previous calendar year. The words "fanzine" and "fannish" shall be defined only by the will of the membership, and the Convention Committee shall impose no additional criteria.
- SECTION 11: Best Fan Writer: Any person whose writing has appeared in magazines of the type defined in Section 10 above.
- SECTION 12: Best Fan Artist: An artist or cartoonist whose work has appeared through publication in magazines of the type defined in Section 10 above or through other public display during the previous calendar year. Any person whose name appears on the final Awards ballot for a given year under the Professional Artist category shall not be eligible for the Fan Artist Award for that year.
- SECTION 13: Additional Category: Not more than one special category may be created by the current Convention Committee with nomination and voting to be the same as for the permanent categories. The Convention Committee is not required to create any such category; such action by a Convention Committee should be under exceptional circumstances only; and the special category created by one Convention Committee shall not be binding on following Committees. Awards created under this Section shall be considered to be Science Fiction Achievement Awards, or Hugos.
- SECTION 14: Name and Design: The Hugo Award shall continue to be standardized on the rocket ship design of Jack McKnight and Ben Jason. Each Convention Committee may select its own choice of base design. The name (Hugo) and the design shall not be extended to any other award.
- SECTION 15: No Award: At the discretion of an individual Convention Committee, if the lack of nominations or final votes in a specific category shows a marked lack of interest in that category on the part of the voters, the Award in that category shall be cancelled for that year. In addition, the entry "No Award" shall be mandatory in each category of Hugo on the final ballot. In any event, No Award shall be given whenever the total number of valid ballots cast for a specific category is less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the total number of final Award ballots (excluding those cast for No Award) received.
- SECTION 16: Nominations: Selection of nominees for the final Award voting shall be done by a poll, conducted by the Convention Committee, in which each Society member shall be allowed to make five (5) equally weighted nominations in every category. Nominations shall be solicited for, and the final Award ballot shall list, only the Hugo Awards and the John W. Campbell Memorial Award for Best New Writer. Assignment to the proper category of nominees nominated in more than one category, and eligibility of nominees, shall be determined by the Convention Committee. No nominee shall appear on the final Award ballot if it received fewer nominations than the lesser of either: five percent (5%) of the number of nomination ballots cast in that category, or the number of nominations received by the third-place nominee in that category.
- SECTION 17: Voting: Final Award voting shall be by mail, with ballots sent only to Society members. Final Award ballots shall include name, signature, address, and membership-number spaces to be filled in by the voter. Final Award ballots shall standardize nominees given in each category to not more than five (5) (six (6) in the case of tie votes) plus "No Award." The Committee shall, on or with the final ballot, designate, for each nominee in the printed fiction categories, one or more books, anthologies, or magazines in which the nominee appeared (including the book publisher or magazine issue date(s)). Voters shall indicate the order of their preference for the nominees in each category.
- SECTION 18: Tallying: Counting of all votes shall be the responsibility of the Convention Committee, which is responsible for all matters concerning the Awards. In each category, votes shall first be tallied by the voter's first choices. If no majority is then obtained, the nominee who places last in the initial tallying shall be eliminated and the ballots listing it as first choice shall be redistributed on the basis of those ballots' second choices. This process shall be repeated until a majority-vote winner is obtained. The complete numerical vote totals, including all preliminary tallies for first, second, . . . places, shall be made public by the Convention Committee within ninety (90) days after the convention.
- SECTION 19: Exclusions: No member of the current Convention Committee nor any publications closely connected with a member of the Committee shall be eligible for an Award. However, should the Committee delegate all authority under this Article to a Subcommittee whose decisions are irrevocable by the Convention Committee, then this exclusion shall apply to members of the Subcommittee only.

ARTICLE III — Future Convention Selection

- SECTION 1: The Society shall choose the location and Committee of the Convention to be held two (2) years from the date of the current Convention. Voting shall be by mail or ballot cast at the current Convention with runoff ballot as described in Article II, Section 18, and shall be limited to Society members who have paid at least ten dollars ($10.00) towards membership in the Convention whose site is being selected. The current Convention Committee shall administer the mail balloting, collect the advance membership fees, and turn over those funds to the winning Committee before the end of the current Convention. The minimum voting fee can be modified for a particular year by unanimous agreement of the current Convention Committee and all bidding committees who have filed before the mail ballots are set. The site-selection voting totals shall be announced at the Business Meeting and published in the first or second Progress Report of the winning Committee, with the by-mail and at-convention votes distinguished.
- SECTION 2: Site-selection ballots shall include name, signature, address, and membership-number spaces to be filled in by the voter. Each site-selection ballot shall list the options "None of the above" and "No preference" after the bidders and with equal prominence. The minimum fee in force shall be listed on all site-selection ballots.

- SECTION 3: The name and address information shall be separated from the ballots and the ballots counted only at the Convention with two (2) witnesses from each bidding committee allowed to observe. Each bidding committee may make a record of the name and address of every voter. A ballot voted with first or only choice for "No preference" shall be ignored for site selection. A ballot voted with lower than first choice for "No preference" shall be ignored if all higher choices on the ballot have been eliminated in preferential tallying. "None of the above" shall be treated as a bid for tallying. If it wins, the duty of site selection shall devolve on the Business Meeting of the current Convention. If the Business Meeting is unable to decide by the end of the Convention, the Committee for the following Convention shall make the selection without undue delay. When a site and Committee are chosen by a Business Meeting or Convention Committee, they are not restricted by region or other qualifications and the choice of an out-of-rotation site shall not affect the regional rotation for subsequent years. If no bids qualify to be on the ballot, the selection shall proceed as though "None of the above" had won.
- SECTION 4: Bids from prospective Committees shall be allowed on the ballot by the current Convention Committee only upon presentation of adequate evidence of an agreement with the proposed sites' facilities, such as a conditional contract or a letter of agreement. To be eligible for site selection, a bidding committee must state the rules under which the Convention Committee will operate, including a specification of the term of office of their chief executive officer or officers and the conditions and procedures for the selection and replacement of such officer or officers. Written copies of these rules must be made available by the bidding committee to any member of the Society on request.
- SECTION 5: To ensure equitable distribution of sites, North America is divided into three (3) regions as follows: Western: Baja California, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Saskatchewan, and all states and provinces westward; Central: Central America, Mexico (except as above), and all states and provinces between Western and Eastern regions; and Eastern: Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York, Quebec, and all states and provinces eastward. Convention sites shall rotate in the order Western, Central, Eastern region.
- SECTION 6: A Convention site outside of North America may be selected by a majority vote at any Convention. In the event of such outside Convention being selected, there shall be an interim Continental Convention in the region whose turn it would have normally been, to be held in the same year as the overseas World Science Fiction Convention, with rotation skipping that region the following year. To skip a region without giving it an interim Continental Convention shall require a three-quarters (3/4) majority vote. Selection of the site of such Continental Convention may be by vote of the Business Meeting or by such other method as the competing bidders might agree upon.
- SECTION 7: Each World Science Fiction Convention Committee shall provide a reasonable opportunity for bona fide bidding committees for the Convention to be selected one year hence to make presentations.
- SECTION 8: With sites being selected two (2) years in advance, there are therefore at least two Convention Committees in existence at any given time. If one should become unable to perform its duties, the surviving Convention Committee shall determine what it is to do, by mail poll of the Society if there is time for one, or by decision of the Committee if there is not time.

ARTICLE IV — Constitution and Powers of the Business Meeting

- SECTION 1: Any proposal to amend the Constitution of WSFS shall require for passage a majority of all the votes cast on the question at the Business Meeting of the Society at which it is first debated, and also ratification by a simple majority vote of those members present and voting at a Business Meeting of the Society held at the World Convention immediately following that at which the amendment was first approved. Failure to ratify in the manner described shall void the proposed amendment.
- SECTION 2: Any change to the Constitution of WSFS shall take effect at the end of the World Science Fiction Convention at which such change is ratified.
- SECTION 3: The conduct of the affairs of the Society shall be determined by this Constitution together with all ratified amendments hereto and such Standing Rules as the Business Meeting shall adopt for its own governance.
- SECTION 4: Business Meetings of the Society shall be held at advertised times at each World Science Fiction Convention. The current Convention Committee shall provide the Presiding Officer and Staff for each Meeting. Meetings shall be conducted in accordance with Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, the Standing Rules, and such other rules as may be published by the Committee in advance.
- SECTION 5: The Constitution of WSFS, together with an explanation of proposed changes approved but not yet ratified, and the Standing Rules shall be printed by the current Convention Committee, distributed with the Hugo nomination ballots, and printed in the Convention book, if there is one.

The above copy of the WSFS Constitution is hereby Certified to be true, correct, and complete:

Business Passed on to Chicon IV

Items 1 through 5 were passed for the first time at Denvention II, and will become part of the WSFS Constitution if ratified at Chicon IV.

ITEM 1: MOVED, to amend the WSFS Constitution as follows:

A) Insert the following as a new section in Article I:

Every Worldcon Committee shall include the following notice in each of its publications: "'World Science Fiction Society', 'WSFS', 'World Science Fiction Convention', 'Worldcon', 'Science Fiction Achievement Award', and 'Hugo Award' are registered service marks of the World Science Fiction Society, an unincorporated literary society."

B) Substitute "Hugo Awards" for all occurrences of "Hugos".

C) Insert "(hereinafter referred to as the Worldcon)" after the first occurrence of "World Science Fiction Convention" and substitute "Worldcon" for "World Science Fiction Convention" and "Convention" (except in the phrase "Continental Convention") thereafter.

ITEM 2: MOVED, to amend Article IV, Section 2, of the WSFS Constitution by adding the following:

except that no change imposing additional costs or financial obligations upon Convention Committees shall be binding upon any Committee already selected at the time when it takes effect.

ITEM 3: MOVED, to amend Article II, Section 7, of the WSFS Constitution by altering the last sentence to read:

In the case of individual programs presented as a series, each program is individually eligible, but the series as a whole is not eligible; however, a sequence of installments constituting a single dramatic unit may be considered as a single program (eligible in the year of the final installment).

MOVED, to amend Article III of the WSFS Constitution by inserting the following new section between the current Sections 3 and 4:

The deadline for bids from prospective Committees to be included on the ballot, as well as all information needed for filing such bids, shall be published by the current Committee and sent to all members of the Society at least four (4) months before the deadline for such bids. (Publication in a progress report prior to the date specified shall meet this requirement.)

ITEM 5: MOVED, to amend Article II of the WSFS Constitution by adding the following new section:

Extended Eligibility: In the event that a potential Hugo nominee receives extremely limited distribution in the year of its first publication or presentation, its eligibility may be extended for an additional year by a three-fourths (3/4) vote of the intervening Business Meeting of the Society.

Report of the WSFS Mark Registration Committee: This Committee was continued at the Denvention II Business Meeting to seek protection for the names used by WSFS.

Report of the WSFS Constitution Drafting Committee: This Committee was formed at the Denvention II Business Meeting with instructions to report to Chicon IV. The draft new Constitution for the World Science Fiction Society was referred to it. The new draft produced by this committee appears elsewhere in this Program Book.

New Business for Chicon IV

As of the time this text was set for the Program Book, the following pieces of new business had been received. The first item is numbered zero because, as a change to the Standing Rules, it is expected that it will be considered before the business passed on by Denvention II. Additional business can be submitted as set forth in the Standing Rules.

ITEM 0: MOVED, to amend Rule 2 of the Standing Rules for the Governance of the WSFS Business Meeting by inserting the words "(for procedural reasons, as opposed to simple dislike of the motion in question)" after the words "object to consideration".

The above motion was submitted by Louis Epstein and Gregory Baker.

MOVED, to amend Article III, Section 5, of the WSFS Constitution by deleting all text beginning with "Central:" and substituting the following, provided that this change shall not take effect until after the selection of the Worldcon site for 1986:

Southern: Central America, Mexico (except as above), Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, and all states southward; and Northern: all states and provinces east of the Western region and north of the Southern region. Convention sites shall rotate in the order Western, Southern, Northern region.

The above motion was submitted by Jon Estren and Wilma Fisher. This motion would replace the current Central and Eastern regions by new Southern and Northern regions; the submitters state that this change would encourage growth in the South as well as stronger bid campaigns in the North.

ITEM 9:

MOVED, to amend Article II, Section 10, of the WSFS Constitution by adding the word "Amateur" between the words "Best" and "Fanzine" in the title of the category. The following sentence to be inserted between the first and second sentences of the current description:

Fanzines and similar publications which pay contributors and/or staff in other than copies of the publications and/or provide a substantial portion of their editor's income are not eligible for this award.

The above changes, when added to the current wording, to become Section 11 of Article II of the WSFS Constitution. The WSFS Constitution to be further amended by the addition of a new Section 10, the current Sections 11 through 18 to be renumbered one higher, and the new Section 10 to read:

Best Semi-Professional Publication: Any generally available fannish publication devoted to science fiction, fantasy, or related subjects which has published four (4) or more issues, at least one (1) of which appeared in the previous calendar year. To qualify for this category a publisher/editor must pay his/her contributors and/or staff in other than copies of the publication and/or derive a substantial portion of his/her income from the sale of the publication and/or advertising therein. Any publication that receives at least 25% of its nominations in this category can only appear in this category and is not eligible in the "Best Amateur Fanzine" category.

If this amendment is accepted it will necessitate minor revisions in the wording of the "Best Fan Writer" and "Best Fan Artist" categories.

This motion was submitted by Marty Cantor and Mike Glicksohn. The submitters state the following: The intent of this motion is to recreate the original concept behind the Best Amateur Fanzine category, namely to recognize excellence in a part-time fannish hobby activity and to recognize that those editors/publishers who make at least a substantial portion of their incomes from their publications deserve recognition for their efforts in a manner that removes them from unfair competition with true amateurs.

ITEM 10:

MOVED, to amend the WSFS Constitution by deleting Article II, Section 10, "Best Fanzine", and in Sections 11 and 12 replacing the phrase "magazines of the type defined in Section 10 above" with "any generally available fannish publication devoted to science fiction, fantasy, or related subjects".

This motion was submitted by Keir Santanos and John Mitchell. It eliminates the Best Fanzine Hugo Award category.

ITEM 11:

MOVED, to amend the WSFS Constitution by deleting Article II, Section 19, substituting "Awards Subcommittee" for "Committee" or "Convention Committee" throughout Article II except for Sections 13 and 14, and adding the following as Article II, Section 2:

Awards Subcommittee: The Convention Committee shall select three persons who have not engaged in activities eligible for awards as defined in this Article to serve as an Awards Subcommittee. The Awards Subcommittee shall have sole authority to solicit and count nominations and votes for awards as defined in this Article and to decide questions of eligibility.

This motion was submitted by Louis Epstein and Gregory Baker. It mandates use of an Awards Subcommittee, which was previously optional.

ITEM 12:

MOVED, to amend the WSFS Constitution by deleting Article II, Section 6.

This motion was submitted by Louis Epstein and Gregory Baker. It eliminates the Best Non-Fiction Book Hugo.

ITEM 13:

MOVED, to amend the WSFS Constitution by deleting Article II, Section 7.

This motion was submitted by Louis Epstein and Robert Sacks. It eliminates the Best Dramatic Presentation Hugo.

ITEM 14:

MOVED, to amend the WSFS Constitution by substituting the following for Article II, Sections 9 and 10:

Best Professional Magazine: Any periodical devoted to science fiction and/or fantasy published during the previous calendar year, produced primarily by persons for whom it is the main source of income.

Best Amaleur Magazine: Any periodical devoted to science fiction and/or fantasy published during the previous calendar year, produced primarily by persons for whom it is not the main source of income.

Best Non-Periodical Editor: Any person engaged in the editing of science fiction and/or fantasy for non-periodical publication (editors of anthology series shall be eligible).

This motion was submitted by Louis Epstein and Laurie Mann.

ITEM 15:

MOVED, to amend the WSFS Constitution by inserting the words "with the right of general attendance at the current convention" between the words "members" and "who" in the second sentence of Article III, Section 1.

This motion was submitted by Louis Epstein and Gregory Baker. It restricts site-selection voting to those holding an attending membership in the current convention (but does not require them to be in attendance to vote).

Standing Rules for the Governance of the Worldcon Business Meeting

- Business of the Annual Meeting of the World Science Fiction Society shall be transacted in one or more sessions called Preliminary Business Meetings and one or more Main Business Meetings. The first session shall be designated as a Preliminary Business Meeting. At least eighteen (18) hours shall elapse between the final Preliminary Business Meeting and the one or more Main Business Meetings. One Business Meeting session shall also be designated the Site-Selection Meeting where site-selection business shall be the special order of business.
- The Preliminary Business Meetings may not pass, reject, or ratify amendments to the Consitution, but the motions to "object to consideration", to "table", to "divide the question", to "postpone" to a later part of the Preliminary Business Meetings, and to "refer" to a committee to report later in the same Annual Business Meeting are in order when allowed by Robert's Rules. The Preliminary Business Meetings may alter or suspend any of the rules of debate included in these Standing Rules. Motions may be amended or consolidated at these Meetings with the consent of the original maker. Absence from these Meetings of the original maker shall consitute consent to amendment and to such interpretations of the intent of the motion as the Presiding Officer or the Parliamentarian may in good faith attempt.
- The deadline for the submission of non-privileged new business shall be two hours after the official opening of the Convention or eighteen hours before the first Preliminary Business Meeting, whichever is later.
- Six (6) identical legible copies of all proposals requiring a vote shall be submitted to the Presiding Officer before the deadline given in Rule 3 above. All proposals or motions of more than seventy-five (75) words shall be accompanied by at least one hundred (100) additional identical, legible copies for distribution to and intelligent discussion by the Meeting attendees unless they have actually been distributed to the attendees at the convention by the Convention Committee. All proposals or motions shall be legibly signed by the maker and at least one seconder. The Presiding Officer may accept otherwise qualified motions submitted after the deadline, but all such motions shall be placed at the end of the agenda. The Presiding Officer will reject as out of order any proposal or motion which is obviously illegal or hopelessly incoherent in a grammatical sense.
- Debate on all motions of less than fifty (50) words shall be limited to six (6) minutes. Debate on all other motions shall be limited to twenty (20) minutes; if a question is divided, these size criteria and time limits shall be applied to each section. Time shall be allotted equally to both sides of a question. Time spent on points of order or other neutral matters arising from a motion shall be charged one half to each side. The Preliminary Business Meeting may alter these limits for a particular motion by a majority vote.
- RULE 6: Debate on all amendments to main motions shall be limited to five (5) minutes, to be divided as above.
- Unless it is an amendment by substitution, an amendment to a main motion may be changed only under those provisions allowing modification through the consent of the maker of the amendment, i.e., second-order amendments are not allowed except in the case of a substitute as the first-order amendment.
- A person speaking to a motion may not immediately offer a motion to close debate or to refer to a committee. Motions to close debate will not be accepted until at least one speaker from each side of the question has been heard, nor will they be accepted within one minute of the expiration of the time allotted for debate on that motion. The motion to table shall require a two-thirds vote for adoption.
- RULE 9: In keeping with the intent of the limitations on debate time, the motion to postpone indefinitely shall not be allowed.
- A request for a division of the house (an exact count of the voting) will be honored only when requested by at least ten percent (10%) of those present in the house.
- RULE 11: Motions, other than Constitutional amendments awaiting ratification, may be carried forward from one year to the next only by being postponed definitely or by being referred to a committee.
- These Standing Rules, and any others adopted by a Preliminary Business Meeting, may be suspended for an individual item of business by a two-thirds majority vote.
- The sole purpose of a request for a "point of information" is to ask the Presiding Officer or the Parliamentarian for his opinion of the effect of a motion or for his guidance as to the correct procedure to follow. Attempts to circumvent the rules of debate under the guise of "points of information" or "points of order" will be dealt with as "dilatory motions" as specified in Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised.
- Citations to Articles, Sections, or specific sentences of the Society Constitution or Standing Rules are for the sake of easy reference only. They do not form a part of the substantive area of a motion. Correct enumeration of Articles, Sections, and Rules and correct insertions and deletions will be provided by the Secretary of the Business Meeting when the Constitution and Standing Rules are certified to the next Worldcon. Therefore, motions from the floor to renumber or correct citations will not be in order. The Secretary will also adjust any other Section of the Constitution equally affected by an amendment unless otherwise ordered by the Business Meeting. Any correction of fact to the Minutes or to the Constitution or Standing Rules as published should be brought to the attention of the Secretary and to that of the next available Business Meeting as soon as they are discovered.

RULE 15: At all sessions of the Business Meeting, the hall will be divided into smoking and non-smoking sections by the Presiding Officer of the Meeting.

The World Science Fiction Society Business Meeting is a mass meeting of the Society's membership which the Convention is required to sponsor in accordance with the WSFS Constitution and these Standing Rules. Therefore, (1) the quorum is the number of people present and (2) the decisions of the Chair as to who is entitled to the floor are not subject to appeal. The motion to adjourn the Main Meeting will be in order after the amendments to the Constitution proposed at the last Worldcon Business Meeting for ratification at the current Business Meeting have been acted upon.

RULE 17: If time permits at the Site-Selection Meeting, bidders for the convention one year beyond the date of the Worldcon being voted upon will be allotted five (5) minutes each to make such presentations as they may wish.

RULE 18: These Standing Rules shall continue in effect until altered, suspended, or rescinded by the action of any Business Meeting. Amendment, suspension, or rescission of these Standing Rules may be done in the form of a motion from the floor of any Business Meeting made by any member of the Business Meeting, and such action will become effective immediately after the end of the Business Meeting at which it was passed.

IT'S ALMOST HERE!

Volume 3 of Don Tuck's ENCYCLOPEDIA OF SCIENCE FICTION AND FANTASY

(completing the coverage through 1968)

Volume 3 will include:

- MAGAZINES Detailed discussion of nearly every magazine in the field, with checklists of issues and lists of notable stories. Included are some general magazines of interest.
- PAPERBACKS Listed by Author, Publisher, and Title. Includes many lesser-known titles not covered in Volumes 1 and 2.
- PSEUDONYMS Listed by pseudonym and by author's real name.
- CONNECTED STORIES, SERIES, AND SEQUELS Listed by series name and by title of the first story in the series.
- GENERAL A miscellary covering many things, including sf activities and personalities in many countries, notable television and radio series (such as Dr. Who and Star Trek), conventions, award winners, book club selections, specialty publishers, notable fanzines, films not covered in the author entries, and the more noted foreign-language publishers and their title series.

We expect to have Volume 3 ready shortly before the end of the year, maybe in time for Christmas. It will be about 300 pages, at $30.00 — but prepublication orders will be accepted at $27.50.

Volumes 1 and 2 are still available at $27.50 each, but will go to $30.00 when Volume 3 is published.

By the way, this won't be the end. We have every intention — time, health, and money permitting — of starting all over again with volumes covering 1969—1975 and so on.

BERKLEY/ACE— TWO STRONG LINES

BRINGING YOU THE BEST IN SCIENCE FICTION

A BARNSTORMER IN OZ, Philip Jose Farmer. One of science fiction's best-loved authors strikes out in a new direction-toward the Emerald City of Oz, in the company of a daredevil pilot who always dreamed of finding the Yellow Brick Road. He knew it was impossible-until lightning struck his plane, and he woke up absolutely sure he wasn't in Kansas anymore...

THE WOLVES OF MEMORY George Alec Effinger. Unfortunately for Sandor Courane, Earth's future has no place for bumblers. The penalty for incompetence is exile to a penal colony on Epsilon Eridani, where all is cheerful except that the exiles are all dying of a slow disease that first destroys their memories and then kills. Sandy knows he can save them all-if only he can remember his mission long enough to carry it out!

DARKCHILD, Sydny J. Van Scyoc. Here is the first volume of a major new science fantasy trilogy. On the world called Brakrath, the power of the faint and cooling sun is harnessed by Brakrathi queens in their own bodies, and the survival of all life depends on each queen passing this precious talent on to her daughter in turn. Until one princess rebels...

EARTH DREAMS, Janet Morris. The fabulous story that began in DREAM DANCER and continued in CRUISER DREAMS comes to its conclusion, marking a new high point in Janet Morris' career, as the fiery Earth-born Shebat finds her most surprising place in the vast Kerrion Empire.

GOLDEN DREAM, Ardath Mayhar. Of all the late H. Beam Piper's great creations there is no doubt that the most popular is "Little Fuzzy." Now Ardath Mayhar has recreated the tale of "Little Fuzzy"-this time giving the Fuzzies' side of the story. This is sure to be one of the biggest SF trade paperbacks of the year.

JANISSARIES: CLAN AND CROWN, Jerry Pournelle. Pournelle, co-author of LUCIFER'S HAMMER and OATH OF FEALTY, follows the great success of JANISSARIES with this sequel, continuing the hard-hitting adventures of Rick Galloway and his band of mercenaries as they struggle to carve out a place for themselves on the alien world that seems destined to be their permanent home.

STORM SEASON: The Thieves' World Adventure Continues. Edited by Robert Asprin. The various rogues and knaves who live in the town called Sanctuary find their lives taking a serious turn as rumors of war ripple through their world. The phenomenally successful series continues, with stories by C.J. Cherryh, Janet Morris, Andrew Offutt, and many more.

THERE IS NO DARKNESS, Joe Haldeman and Jack C. Haldeman II. The space-faring university called 'Starschool' tries to teach its students-hand-picked young people from every corner of the galaxy-what they need to know to help their planets develop and prosper. The first lesson is simple survival-and for some it will be the last.

AMAZING joins George and the Dragon!

AMAZING Science Fiction Stories, the world's very first science fiction magazine, has been acquired by Dragon Publishing, a division of TSR Hobbies, Inc., the DUNGEONS & DRAGONS® people. George Scithers, formerly editor of Isaac Asimov's Science Fiction Magazine, has joined Dragon Publishing as the editor of AMAZING and to work on other SF projects.

The new publisher plans substantial investments to make AMAZING first in every way, with more pages per issue, more money for writers, and more frequent publication. E. Gary Gygax, the President of TSR Hobbies, Inc., hopes to see the revival of AMAZING's sister publication, FANTASTIC Stories, as well.

AMAZING is looking for the same wide range of fantasy and of science fiction that Elinor Mavor used so effectively. Our rates are 4¢ to 6¢ per word (shorter stories receiving the higher rate), payable on acceptance, for First North American Serial Rights, plus a non-exclusive option at a specified additional payment, when exercised, for use in anthologies based on the magazine.

The address of record of the magazine and the publisher is: AMAZING Science Fiction Stories, Dragon Publishing, P.O. Box 110, Lake Geneva WI 53147, Members of SFWA may send manuscripts directly to the editor at P.O. Box 8243, Philadelphia PA 19101.

or everyone! The EON tradition of unique gaming concepts, combined with outstanding graphics and fast-paced fun, began with COSMIC ENCOUNTER. Since its introduction it has received critical acclaim from the tops in the field:

"Highly playable, fanciful and fun"... DRAGON Magazine "So much fun you forget how don't miss the 1st ANNUAL COSMIC ENCOUNTER WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP!!!

strategic a game it really is."

GAMES Magazine

"The best social game in years."

CONTEMPORARY TIMES

"Fast, fun, exciting . . ."

"... an exceptional game ..."

GAMES Magazine
"...a classic..."

GAMES AND PUZZLES

But it's players that keep a game going (and selling!), and here's what they think:

"The most enjoyable game on the market today." Stan Mullins, Anaheim, Ca.

"It's the most exciting, action-packed game I've ever played." Grant Luton, Akron, Ohio.

"Absolutely one of the most fascinating and inventive games I've ever played. Each game is completely unique."

James L. Bailey, Beaverton, Ore.

"After over 70 playings, surely the finest multi-player fun game I own or know of." L. Arthur Lane, Roseburg, Ore.

"Terrific combination of skill, bluff, and chance... Great!" Tim Kelly, Dallas, Tex.

"In the game you are always doing something for the full 45 minutes. The alien power cards add excitement to it like no other game." D.W., Philadelphia, Pa.

"Better than D & D - faster paced - each game is a new adventure."

Toni Marte, San Jose, Ca.

"This is one of the most original, challenging, and fun experiences I have seen in a long time! Good work."

Steven Bard, Hazelton, Pa.

"Cosmic Encounter is without a doubt the best science fiction game I have ever played. And with such short, easy to learn rules, it is far and away better than the more expensive and more complicated games."

Thomas Metcalf, Riverside, Ca.
