'53 Convention Initiates Achievement Awards!

MEMBER'S VOTES TO BE FINAL IN HONORING SCIENCE FICTION GREATS

At the Eleventh World Science Fiction Convention in Philadelphia on Labor Day weekend, a new tradition in the annals of science fiction will be established, with the formal awarding of the First Annual Science Fiction Achievement Awards to those writers, editors, artists and fans whom the members of Convention feel have distinguished themselves during the past year. This is the first time in the history of Science Fiction that such Awards have been made to include all fields of science fiction endeavor.

It has long been felt that some formal system of Awards should exist in modern science fiction whereby outstanding accomplishments of writing, editing, and artistry in the field could be properly recognized and made known to the world. It is a practice well established in other fields; among the motion picture people and the mystery writers, to mention only two. Yet it has been acknowledged that science fiction fandom is unique in the history of literature, and it is quite fitting that these awards be made according to the vote of the science fictioneers assembling at the World Convention.

On the opposite page is your official ballot. At this Convention winners of the all-member poll will be awarded handsome statuettes for outstanding achievement. All Convention members are eligible to vote.

What are your choices for this year's outstanding novel? Short Story? Fan personality? Pro magazine? Read the categories to be voted upon, and mail the ballot on the opposite page to Convention headquarters, P.O. Box 2019, Philadelphia 3, Pa., before August 25th.

CATEGORIES

Novel (Either published in hard-cover, paper-back or in a magazine. Regardless of length, if the contents page or the publisher describe it as a novel, we'll consider it one.) To be awarded to the author.

Short Story or Novelette (Any fictional writing too short to qualify above.) To be awarded to the author.
Fan Personality (What person has done most for fandom in the past year?)

Professional Magazine (On the basis of over-all excellence in the past year.) To be awarded to the editor, for the entire staff.

Cover Painting To be awarded to the artist.

Interior Illustrations or Illustration (Illustrating a single story) To be awarded to the artist.

Fan Magazine To be awarded to the editor, for the entire staff.

Fact Article or Article Series To be awarded to the author.

New Discovery (Author or artist with little or no work published before August, 1952, who has contributed most significantly to sf this past year)

Judgement of the voters will be final. There will be no qualifying or disqualifying judges. Votes alone will determine eligibility in each category. Please describe choices fully to avoid chances of mistake. Please include name and date of magazine in which work appeared, if possible.

The Awards Committee assumes no responsibility for illegible ballots.

CONVENTION NOTE

by Milton A. Rothman, Chairman

Occasionally there comes a time when one asks, "What am I doing here?" One stops suddenly in the middle of an activity and begins wondering what it is all about.

This frame of mind has come to me in the midst of all the preparations for the forthcoming Convention. Now, I've been to quite a few science fiction conventions-----eight or nine, I think, and I've been to numberless minor conferences and confabulations. You'd think that by now I'd know what it's all about.

However, it is just this feeling of having been to so many conventions in the past that makes me stop and wonder just what new pleasure I can get from the next convention. Are we going to roll along through the time-worn ruts of typical convention programs, or are we going to strike out on some new and exciting path that will make even an old has-been like me sit up and take notice? This is one of the major problems that concerns me as chairman of this convention.

Another problem is even more basic. It gets right down to the root question: what is it all about? What is the purpose of a science fiction convention in the first place? I ask this question in the light of comments that have been made by many of the older fans during the past year. They get the feeling that maybe the conventions are getting too big. It's hard for them to have a good time because there is too much confusion and too many people.
tion Committee has no plans for changing the method of choosing convention sites; the traditional method will be followed this year. However, discussion of the question may lead to improved methods in the future.

There also exists the question of a permanent organization to sponsor the conventions. Such an organization was recommended at Chicago, and it is the policy of the present Convention Committee to encourage the formation of this organization, with the hope that it might be given name and substance here in Philadelphia this year.

It is our feeling that all these questions are interrelated: how big should conventions get, how can a convention be operated so as to maintain a feeling of intimacy among the attendees, how can convention sites be chosen more fairly? It is also our feeling that these questions should be brought out into the open and discussed honestly. Therefore we promise that sufficient time will be allowed at the 11th World Science Fiction Convention for consideration of these matters.

Milton A. Rothman, newly chosen Chairman of this year's Convention, was born in Philadelphia 33 years ago. He studied at the University of Pennsylvania, and received his Ph.D. in physics there in 1952. At present he is doing research work in nuclear physics at the Bartol Research Foundation of the Franklin Institute, Swarthmore, Penna.

Milt has read science fiction since the age of ten. In 1935 he was a founder of the Philadelphia Science Fiction Society and was the chairman of the 5th World Science Fiction Convention in 1947, and many other conferences held in Philadelphia since 1936. He has published science fiction stories under the name of Lee Gregor, and science articles under his real name, but does not consider himself to be a professional author. At one time one of the more active fans, he has been president of the Fantasy Amateur Press Association, and in the period between 1939 and 1949 published the Science Fiction Debater, Milty's Mag, and Plenum.

At the present time the exigencies of making a living prevent fannish activities other than Chairmanning the Convention, this being the reason that he may be a stranger to the newer fans. His wife, Dori, is also an active fan— in fact they met at the Philadelphia Science Fiction Society. (Indeed, rumor has it that she joined the club for the express purpose of catching this man.) Their son Anthony Randall Rothman, born April 29, 1953, is the youngest member of the Eleventh World Science Fiction Convention.

Milton A. Rothman
For the Convention Committee.
It is with deep regret that the Convention Committee must report to the convention members the death of the chairman of the convention, James A. Williams, who passed away quite suddenly in March of this year. We who had been working closely with Jim since September in preparing for the coming convention particularly feel the loss of his work, leadership, and enthusiasm. No one who knew him could doubt his sincere love for science fiction, and he will long be remembered for his able leadership of the Philadelphia Science Fiction Society and his work as partner in the Prime Press.

The convention work will go on, under the guidance of Milton A. Rothman, who was elected Chairman to fill the vacancy left by Jim. Milt's experience as the chairman of the convention in 1947, and in numerous regional s-f gatherings has prepared him well to step into the breach, but as Lester del Rey said in his column in SPACE Science Fiction, "...we remember how hard Jim worked to get the convention for Philadelphia during the hectic days at Chicago. It just won't seem right not to have him there."

A NOTE ABOUT CONVENTION RULES
By L. Sprague de Camp

Some fans have misunderstood the functions of the Rules Committee. This committee's duties are: to draw up rules for the whole Convention Committee, which you have just read; to draw up rules for the conduct of the Convention itself, to be submitted to the Convention for its approval at its first meeting; to settle questions of parliamentary procedure during the Convention; and to act as a credentials committee for fan clubs meaning to nominate their cities as sites for the next Convention. The Rules Committee has been charged with the duty of seeing that all such nominations are bona fide bids made by real functioning fan organizations, and are neither mere tactical maneuvers nor hoaxes. Beyond this the Rules Committee has neither the right nor the intention to discriminate among cities or fan clubs or to seek to impose its preferences or prejudices upon the Convention's choice.

The Convention Committee has received proposals from fans to change the method of choosing convention sites; that is, to replace the present system of a vote by the whole Convention by a permanent Convention Committee composed of representatives of all the fan clubs. Some cogent arguments have been advanced for such a change. On the other hand some fans have written us objecting to the proposal. If the subject seems lively enough, we may work a discussion of this question and a vote on the proposed change into the program. In any case this change, if adopted, could hardly be put into effect before the 1954 Convention. We welcome suggestions and opinions on this subject.

You will note that the Rules say nothing about amateurs vs. professionals in the science-fiction field. We make no distinction, holding anybody interested in imaginative fiction (paragraph 3) to be a fan by definition. Our problem is not to favor amateurs over professionals or vice-versa, but to get done the large amount of work that a convention entails. There is plenty of work to go around, and we welcome help from any reputable source.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

With the work of many people on the Publicity Committee in the past few months, and with the splendid cooperation of the professional science fiction magazines and the fan magazines alike, members of the Convention can be assured that the 11th World Science Fiction Convention has been and will be brought to the attention of every stf reader and fan in the country, time and again. As we reported in the last PR, many of the pro mags had advertised the Convention gratis; since then others have joined in giving the Convention publicity, and still others have promised notices and ads for the Convention in the summer months.

Our efforts are now concentrated on getting publicity in magazines and fanzines hitting the stands and mails during the month of August. Besides, ads, full-length articles have appeared in certain magazines (cf. SPACE SCIENCE FICTION April 1953, articles in the Fan column of IMAGINATION and in Bob Madle's columns and articles in SFQ and DYNAMIC, etc.) Alan E. Nourse has written an article for OTHER WORLDS that hits the stands in August, and there will be large ads in both OTHER WORLDS and MADGE prior to the rush just before the Convention.

Meanwhile, plans are being made for the final stage of publicity, the publicity of the Convention itself, aiming at newspaper and radio coverage, and bringing attention of the national news magazines to the Convention. Particularly new and interesting at the present time are the Convention Commemorative Stamps, designed by Russell Swanson, samples of which are enclosed with this PR. They were designed primarily to bring the Convention wider and more colorful notice.

We hope they will be seen far and wide throughout the country as the summer wears on, and as the time of the Convention draws near.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE

The program is beginning to jell. Its form is beginning to clarify. Certain features of past conventions have been retained as traditional. Others have been altered. The alterations are, we hope, changes for the better. In a few cases, certain changes have been required by force or necessity.

One major change has been made after a good deal of thought and cogitation. This year we are dropping the costume ball. We feel that with conventions becoming so large, a very small percentage of the membership come in costumes; and those who do just stand around and look at each other.

In place of this, and to give an opportunity to those who really want to put on a costume and strut their stuff, we are having the skit contest, which is described elsewhere in this Progress Report. We hope that many of you will contribute to this contest.

The general form of the convention will be the customary Saturday, Sunday, and Labor Day Monday. The Saturday program will begin at 2PM, with a welcoming address, introductions, and announcements and the guest of honor address by Willy Ley. Saturday evening will see part of the auction, and a meeting of the NFFF, leaving plenty of time for everybody to go out on the town and get together in private parties.

Among other features, the Sunday program will include a talk by our guest from Japan, Tetsu Yano, a bit of humor from George O. Smith, a symposium on Science Fiction as a Career, the skit contest, the annual banquet, the presentation of awards to those chosen by you, and diverse pieces of fan entertainment, featuring Theodore Sturgeon and his guitar.

The third day will be given over largely to talk. There will be discussions on matters of interest to fans, and of course, the election for the next convention site. In the evening, the remainder of the auction will be completed.

This is not the entire program, nor is it the definitely final form of the program. But it makes a rough outline of the convention that we are planning. You will see that this program tends less towards the supercolossal promotional aspect and more towards the thoughtful, the creative, and above all, the interesting.

We hope that you will like it.

ARRANGEMENTS COMMITTEE

Anyone who has a car and wants passengers, or anyone who wants transportation to the convention should write now. To save time, write directly to the Chairman of the Arrangements Committee,

THE PROGRESS REPORTER

Well, here we are with the third PR—and we feel justifiably proud, because this issue contains much more news of interest to you fans. For one thing, here is your chance to start plugging for your favorite authors, artists, and editors for the Achievement Awards. Your votes decide the winners, and the Awards will be the pride and envy of the science fiction world for years to come.

Also, any of you fans who have ideas for your skit contest should send your plans as soon as possible to the Chairman of the Convention.

Another suggestion has been made by LYLE KESSLER, the youngest member of the Publicity Committee (and of the PSFS): He suggests that all you fanmag editors who are plugging the Convention send a copy of your fanzine to the editor of the Progress Report. Credit where credit is due—we'd like to name the fanmags who have given the convention real and invaluable publicity support in the next PR.

Another piece of news worthy of note is that TETSU YANO, a young translator and s-f fan from JAPAN is coming to the US for the convention. He is stopping off for the WESTERCON in California, and will travel to Philadelphia by motorcycle. His sponsor is FORREST J. ACKERMAN, who is hosting YANO in Los Angeles, and paying his expenses while he is in the U.S. Since this is a sort of one-man East-Meets-West Fund, Ackerman has asked that any fans who wish to contribute to this worthy cause send their donations to FORREST J. ACKERMAN, 915 S. Sherbourne Drive, Los Angeles 35, Cal. This is the farthest any person has travelled to a World SF Convention, and we think it's wonderful, and hope Forry has a flurry of response to his plea. We will bring you much more detail of YANO'S trip in the next PR.

We promised once that we would publish a bus and train schedule for fans coming to the Convention. However, we have been deluged with yowls of protest, screaming that any goon could call up and ask when the train leaves, give us more convention news. So we bow to the will of the public. Look up your own trains, and we'll give you more detail of what to expect when you get here.

THE CAR AND TRAIN POOL

Marion Mallinger of the Pittsburgh Science Fiction Association writes: "We are coming to Philly by train, specifically the B & O Streamliner, leaving Friday, Sept. 4 to arrive Philly Friday evening. Speed, relaxation and fun, none of the headaches of driving, and round trip costs $19.00 or less, depending on how many come. And you have your return ticket, so you don't have to save money while you're there. There will be 15 or 20 of us going on that train----a small convention in itself----so ANY FANS IN OR NEAR PITTSBURGH ARE INVITED TO RIDE WITH US. Drop a card to MARION MALLINGER, 734 Mellon St., Pittsburgh 6, Pa."

A letter from U. of Chicago club says, "We are organizing a car pool for the Convention for benefit of science fictionites living in or around Chicago. Persons either (a) desirous of auto transportation to the convention or (b) driving to the convention and willing to take one or more passengers in a share-the-expense plan, please

SKIT CONTEST

Among the features of the forthcoming Convention will be a larger participation by FAN GROUPS. To this end we are planning a contest of short skits or plays. All fan clubs and individual fans are invited to enter this contest. A special prize will be given from the Auction for the best skit performed. Awards will be made on the basis of audience applause.

The following rules will govern the contest:

1- Material may be in the form of a skit, play, monologue, or other dramatic form.

2- Maximum time for each offering is ten minutes.

3- No scenery should be needed beyond that readily available in the hall. (Table, chairs, etc.)

4- A short resume of your offering should be in the hands of the Convention Chairman before August 15th, so that it can be scheduled. In event that there are more presentations than time, the first ones in will be used.

Just a reminder about reservations: the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, the convention hotel, is accepting reservations now. For that warm feeling deep inside, it's wise to get the room you plan to take reserved well in advance. The hotel plays a critical part in the fun of convention time, and you'll want to be in the center of things. For your convenience, we're enclosing a reservation card, which can be filled out and posted to the Hotel. Do it now, and get it off your mind!
