Honoring Japan

Edited by Yasusuke Sonoyama, presented by JASFIC

This video presentation, created by Japanese fans, reflects back on the challenges that the Japanese people have faced in 2011, and how Japanese fandom has responded. The video includes the winners of the Seiun Awards, as announced in July 2011. The Seiun Award (星雲賞 Seiunshō) is a Japanese science fiction award for the best science fiction published in Japan during the preceding year, as voted by attendees of the annual Japanese Science Fiction Convention.

Other Awards

Forrest J Ackerman Big Heart Award

Presented by Dave Kyle

The Big Heart Award was created in 1959 by two prominent fans, Forrest J Ackerman and Walter Daugherty, in memory of the well-known fan and pro E. Everett Evans, who had died the previous year. It is meant to recognize fans and professionals in the science fiction world who epitomize the spirit of big-hearted generosity. In 2006 the award was renamed in honor of Ackerman himself.

John W. Campbell Award for Best New Writer

Presented by Stanley Schmidt

Saladin Ahmed
Lauren Beukes
Larry Correia
Lev Grossman
Dan Wells

The John W. Campbell Award for Best New Writer is given to the best new science fiction or fantasy writer whose first work of science fiction or fantasy was published in a professional publication in the previous two years. It was created by Condé Nast Publications, then publisher of Analog, in honor of former editor John W. Campbell. It is now sponsored by Dell Magazine, the present publisher of Analog and Asimov's.
