Kaor: Thank you for your enquiry. Please excuse this printed reply, only since ERBANIA received a plug in the Ace books I have been overwhelmed with enquiries and it has become impossible to answer every one personally and still find time to work on ERBANIA itself. For the same reason some of you may have had to wait a while for a reply, if you did, please accept my apologies.

ERBANIA is a magazine that is devoted to Edgar Rice Burroughs and the many fascinating characters that he created. It has been published for over twelve years and is still going strong. The magazine is profusely illustrated with illustrations by several excellent artists as well as photographs, and besides featuring articles on ERB and his characters, we occasionally feature articles on other authors that have written stories that are similar to Burroughs' and which we think would interest any real fan of ERB.

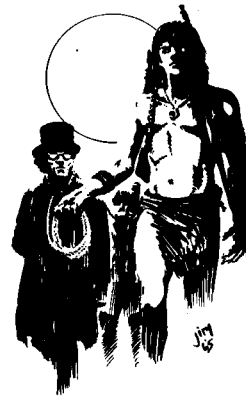

We are always on the look out for interesting articles and artwork, so if you have ideas you would like to put down on paper don't hesitate to send them in. We also welcome letters of comment on each each issue and we will publish the most interesting ones in our letter column in the following issue.

Subscriptions are 3 issues for $1, starting with the current issue #23. There are a limited number of back issues available of #19, 21 and 22 at 50¢ each, plus a reprint of 1 & 2 in a combined issue, also 50¢.
