

THE FANCLAST WEEKLY V4 N2

SPECIAL SPRING IS ALMOST HERE, HOORAY, HOORAY ISSUE

Yes, my fellow Fanoclasts, (you, too, Tom) Spring, as they say, has "Sprung", Almost. The crickets are chittering, or whatever it is they do, in my backyard; the low flying birds have begun to express their opinions on the new cars (and the old cars, too, it must be admitted), and the Baseball Teams are in Spring Training. Spring brings to mind all sorts of Questions which need answers, or Answers. How are you at going to your left, John? Do you still have that old range, or are you losing a couple of steps this spring? Are you still getting to first base as fast, Ted? Or maybe the pitcher is throwing you out by a step this time around. How's the old Inshoot, the old curve ball, rich? Are they begining to wise up and hit it for a triple.... or even a home run? I mean, these are questions that have to be asked occasionally. Like in the Spring. Anyone for a quick game of Catch-a-fly-is-up?

Yesterday, Thursday, was Hate America Day in North Viet Nam. Ah, the possibilities that opens up. I can already see Hate Nigras Day being proclaimed throughout the Sovereign State of Mississippi. The main event would be a Coon Hunt Or Something.

I noticed that Murray the K and Scotso have left for parts unknown. I can't say I will miss them much. Murray the K was all right, but Joey Reynolds is the King. I suggest, Ted, that if you want to hear a real DJ, you try 1520 on your radio dial. WKBW is a clear channel station, and reception isn't too bad even in New York.

Speaking of rock and roll, has anyone besides me seen the Freddie, the hottest dance going? One thing I have to say for it is that it busts out of the jerk-swim-twine-etc mold for pop dances. The Freddie is much wilder than any of those, or how about the Bostella? The Bostella is the great new dance where the participants fall on the floor. Some dancers have been known to lie out the whole dance.

I have a hilarious story I could tell you about how I was a Teenage Idol One Time, but I'll tell it in person, since no one ever reads TFW anyway.

This is published by Arnie Katz soon to return to the scene of his greatest triumphs, NYC on a more permanent basis. It is Meow Pub #48 and Katsac #54. -AK
