- EDITORIAL -

This month's deadline finds us in a familiar position... short of paper again. No matter how much or how often we order and re-order, we always seem to be short of the regular when publication time rolls around. So, it appears this issue will be a conglomeration of various paper types, again...

One reason for the paper shortage was an unexpected demand for sample copies; mostly from the middle west. We were at a loss to account for this until John Moon was kind enough to send us a clipping from the Minneapolis "Tribune" of Jan 16th.

Will Jones' "After Last Night" column was so interesting (at least to us) that we are taking the liberty of reprinting a portion of it:

"After mentioning that there's a market for Big Little Books I got so many inquiries I ought to know better, but I can't resist noting this new find.

The Fantasy Collector, the same magazine that caters to BLB collectors, also carries ads for collectors of old comic books and pulp magazines.

A Man in Seattle, Wash., runs a full page ad listing particular issues he wants ("I have been after a lot of this stuff for years and now that I have the money, would like to obtain as much as possible. I'll pay good prices, not exorbitant..."). His tastes run to Beyond Fantasy Fiction, Captain Future... Weird Tales & like that.

...After the Big Little Book experience, I'd better add this note:... please don't write me. The Fantasy Collector, 714 Pleasant St., Roseville, Calif. is the publication you want" To which we say "Amen & many, many thanks, Mr Jones!" GB

by

-- C.R. KEARNS --

Although TELEPATH (Arthur Sellings - Ballantine - 50¢) is published in the U.S., it is a brilliant book by a British author. Sellings brings a new slant(?) to the subject and the present work towers over the efforts of Van Vogt and Bester.

It is a towering tour-de-force exploring telepathy as never before; he explores the minds of two people, who suddenly, terrifyingly, find they are total telepaths. The knowledge tears them asunder and their final reunion climaxes a moving, passionate love story, which is, however, subsidiary to the main plot.

Ranging from the back streets of London, through the English countryside and via an Australian rocket range, back to London, the book lacks the cosmic sweep of vV only in locale. This is more than compensated for by the brilliance of Sellings' wit and the pungency of his epigram, plus the shattering denouement which will make you return to the beginning and start again--because you missed the whole point the first time around!

Here is none of the whimsy and whamsy of SLAN, it is better than DEMOLISHED MAN; very likely it will become a milestone in the history of S.F. -- Sellings is here to stay!

Although Ballantine are the publishers of TELEPATH, they are also responsible, I regret to say, for PRIMAL URGE by Brian Aldiss. This is the book form of "Minor Operation" previously reviewed here... let us pass quietly on....!

The S.F. Book Club programme for the next few months includes: December - Amis & Conquest-SPECTRUM; January - Pohl-DRUNKARDS WALK; February - Budrys-THE UNEXPECTED DIMENSION; March - E.F. Russell - THE GREAT EXPLOSION; April - C. (Fishhook) Simak- TIME IS THE SIMPLEST THING; April - Clifton - EIGHT KEYS TO EDEN.

Old time fans who treasure, as I do, the October 1948 issue of FAMOUS FANTASTIC MYSTERIES with Lawrence's superb cover for THE LION'S WAY (A Novel of Dark Trails) by C.T. Stoneham, with Finlay's masterful interior illustrations for the same yarn, will be interested to know that Stoneham is still writing "Jungle" fiction. In "Boy's Own Paper", my son found his MAGIC OF THE MASAI over a year ago; occasional similar yarns have appeared. I have written him an exploratory letter, but am beginning to think that, unless he live in the jungle somewhere (could be, at that), I'm not going to get an answer.

Best yarn in "New Worlds" No. 121 is THE COLONIST by J.L. Green..... Sam Harper, colonist on "Refuge", has trouble with trees...telepathic ones... sacred ones... and calls in a tree surgeon -- telepathic! A beautiful pastoral piece, strongly reminiscent of Simak at his best. J.L. Green will be remembered for his INITIATION RITES and on this showing I could bear to see more of him without feeling much pain.

THE THOUSAND DEEP by E.R. James is a claustrophobic item about a girl from a thousand levels down (below the earth's surface) who can't bear to come up in life by marrying into the upper crust...she has lover boy shanghied on a space ship. Very well written if you can bear life at that depth.

The Guest Editorial S.F. & ESCAPE LITERATURE by Bob Silverberg is another fine piece of writing although Silverberg lets the side down a little by admitting that teleology isn't his strong point; it isn't mine, either, - but I wouldn't admit it in public!

(Let me answer a few questions regarding my auctions... quite often fans, ask me what the high bid is, stating that they will pay more, or send in a bid asking that they be notified if they are overbid. In order to be fair to all bidders, I will not do either of the things mentioned above. When the 30 days are up, the high bidder always takes and all bidders are notified of high bids on all items. If the high bid is much larger than the 2nd place bid, the high bidder is notified and does not have to pay his full bid.
