SECOND APRIL 1954 ISSUE

Vol. 9-No 6a

"BEYOND" CUTS
PAGES TO 128

New York, NY, 23 April, (CNS) - It was announced today that starting with the September 1954 issue, Beyond will cut its page total from 160 to 128. Tho the sales of the magazine are good, this move has been taken to insure the magazine's healthy condition. Starting with this issue a bulkier paper will be used, giving the magazine about the same thickness as it now enjoys.

At about the same time the paper of Galaxy will also be changed to the heavier type. Galaxy will continue at 160 pages.

Tho the number of pages of Beyond have been cut there will be no other changes made. The magazine will continue on a bi-monthly schedule and the rate of pay for stories etc will remain the same.

"SCIENCE FICTION ADVENTURES" SKIPS AN ISSUE

New York, NY, 25 April, (CNS) - Harry Harrison, editor of Science Fiction Adventures, made a dramatic announcement at the 4th ANNUAL FANVET CONVENTION today, when

NEXT FANVET CONVENTION
SCHEDULED FOR SUNDAY
APRIL 17, 1954

New York, NY, 25 April, (CNS) - About 100 persons attended the 4th Annual Fanvet Convention Today, somewhat less than usually attend these annual New York Conventions, but the convention was termed highly successful by all there.

The high spot of the afternoon was an impressive talk by Willy Ley, who spoke on a book coming out shortly telling about the development of the V-2 under the Nazi Government. A story tagged by Mr. Ley as unsalable as "fiction"-as it violates every rule for a successful story. Mr. Ley told the story in his usual high humorous style that has made him so successful.

he announced that Space Science Fiction, which folded last Fall, will be revived. The sales returns of the last issue published were so good that the publisher has decided to again issue the magazine on a bi-monthly basis. It will be the same as before 160 pages, digest-size and 35¢.

With the reviving of Space, its sister magazine, Science Fiction Adventures HAS HAD TO SKIP AN ISSUE, but, Harry assures us, will continue, also on a bi-monthly schedule, and will remain at 160 pages.

Harry is working on both magazines now. Line-ups and release dates on both will be announced as soon as they are set.

Since the serial Space was publishing at the time it folded is now out in book form and will shortly be out in pocket-book form it will not be continued in the revived Space.

Thomas S. Gardner gave a short talk on the humorous side of comments he has received in doing review works including the

Science-Fiction Plus, authors John Victor Peterson and Edward S. Staub, artist Ed Enshwiler, David
A. Kyle and others.

Mort Weisinger, making a business trip to the West Coast, was unable to attend, but sent a message to the convention.

The auction brought in about $100.00 in profits
which was turned over to Secretary Frank R. Prieto
of the Fantasy Veterans Association; most of which will be used to mail magazines and books to readers of s-f in the US Armed

A Paul cover from the old Wonder Stories brought in $7 at the auction; while one of the last Bergey
covers from Space Stories brought in $10.50. About the highest price for an original interior was $5, while the lowest was 25¢.

Group illustrations
along with the original manuscripts from Galaxy averaged about $4.00 for each set. Of the magazines auctioned off, Vol. 2--No. 1
of Carnell's New Worlds went for $1.75.

The next, 5th ANNUAL FANVET CONVENTION, will be held at the same place, Werdermann's Hall, 3rd Ave
at E. 16th St., New York City, on Sunday, April 17,

"Science fiction . . . creates and enters . . . a world of new frontiers." J. Donald Adams in the New York Times Book Review

The rising popularity of science fiction among the cultural leaders of the nation, as well as among the people at large, is ample testimony of its vitality and maturity.

Engineers, physicians, chemists, statesmen, educators—they have all found pleasure and enlightenment in science fiction.

Now, J. Donald Adams, former editor of the New York Times Book Review, author and editor of its celebrated page 2, "Speaking of Books," gives science fiction the accolade of the highest standards of literary criticism. He says:

"I am . . . convinced that science fiction, in spite of the vast amount of silly and clumsy writing the genre has spawned, is deserving of the serious attention it is only now beginning to receive. . . . It is at once a literature of escape and one deeply and earnestly concerned with mankind's present plight and its problematical future."
