SCOPE. This book is a retrospective bibliography of one year's production of fanzines--amateur publications dealing with science fiction, fantasy, comix, movies, wargames, and other overlapping interest areas. Fanzines are not "little magazines" in the usual sense of the term, altho the categories do overlap.

The coverage of the directory is world-wide, and a good deal of effort has been expended to include information on titles in languages other than English.

The directory is not limited to publications that I have seen a copy of. I am well aware of the reasons for limiting a bibliography to items that the compiler has personally examined, but in the interests of completeness I have included information gathered from fanzine reviews and other sources. The fanzines that I have seen myself are marked by an asterisk (*) at the end of the entry. It cannot be stressed too strongly that information on fanzines indicated by * is much more reliable.

LIMITATIONS. This volume of the directory covers only the year 1977, and notes about duration and suspension (such as "ceased publication" or "not yet published") refer to the end of that year. Changes since then have not been included, except changes of addresses. The compiler will be glad to answer specific requests for more current information (be sure to include a SASE or IRC).

Due to the compiler's personal interests, the coverage of science fiction and fantasy fanzines is more comprehensive than that of the other categories.

Information on current fanzines may be obtained by examining several issues of Fanzine Fanatique and Whole Fanzine Catalog (the latter is published by Brian Earl Brown).

PURPOSE AND NEED. The Fanzine Directory is intended as an aid to the collector and bibliographer. Its purpose is to provide a bibliographic record of fanzine publishing during the year. This is needed because no single source has all-inclusive information on current fanzines. Fanzine Fanatique and Whole Fanzine Catalog review only publications that their editors have received. Peter Roberts' British Fanzine Bibliography is limited to Great Britain and has not yet reached the 1970s. The comprehensive bibliography that Bruce Pelz is compiling from his own collection is not yet ready for publication. Standard reference works such as Ulrich's International Periodicals Directory cover only a tiny fraction of all fanzines that are published. (All of these of course are valuable bibliographic aids within their limitations.)

CRITERIA FOR SELECTION. The directory does not include professional publications, convention progress reports or program books (unless they have articles), or publications composed solely of house ads. Apas and apazines are not included (except those that have a wide circulation outside the apa), because they are covered in South of the Moon (now published by H. J. N. Andruschak).

In deciding which publications are fanzines and should be included in the directory, I have made much use of Don Markstein's functional definition: "A fanzine is a magazine that I get in the mail in trade for my fanzine."

Serial publications (that is, an indefinite series of issues of the same title) are classified as semi-professional or fully amateur. A semipro zine is one which aspires to professional status, or which pays some of its contributors, or whose publisher intends to earn part of his living from it. The semipro category is not used for books and oneshots, due to the different nature of their distribution.

GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS OF THE TEXT. The listings in the directory are not advertisements; the fanzine publishers have not paid or requested to have their publications listed. When a title is listed, that only means that at least one issue was published during 1977; it does not guarantee that future issues will be published.

The information given for each fanzine is: title, publisher, subjects covered, editor if different from publisher, variant titles, and other bibliographic notes.

Frequency of publication is not given, because nearly all fanzines are published irregularly. Prices are not given in this volume because they would mostly be outdated now.

ARRANGEMENT OF ENTRIES. Entries are arranged alphabetically. Serial publications are entered by title; books and oneshots are entered by author or editor. A supplemental listing includes titles that were not published in 1977, but were mentioned in other fanzines in such a way that readers could conclude that an issue may have been published in that year.

Addresses of publishers are in a separate section. This arrangement saves space and has made it easier to update addresses during the process of compilation.

INDEX. There is an index, with entries for publishers, editors, alternate titles, and co-editors. Books that were entered by author in the main listing are indexed by title, not by author. Possibly some serials were misclassified as oneshots or vice versa, so look in both the index and main listings.

THE NEXT VOLUME. Corrections and additions will be appreciated and acknowledged. A list of corrections to this volume will be published in the next volume. Criticisms, reviews, and suggestions for improvement in the format of future volumes will be given as much attention as the commenter gives to the explanations in this introduction.

A combined volume covering 1978 and 1979 will be published late in 1980.

Ceci est l'Annuaire des fanzines. Le prix est $1 aux Etats-Unis et en Australie, $1.15 au Canada, 60p en Grande-Bretagne, ou 5 Coupons-réponses internationaux. Le prix est 8 CR$ pour voie à l'outremer par avion. L'Annuaire est aussi disponible en échange des autres fanzines. On accepte des timbres-postes non annulés.

Ce livre est une bibliographie retrospective des fanzines qu'on a publiées en une année. Les fanzines sont des journaux amateurs qui s'agissent de la science-fiction, de la littérature fantastique, des bandes dessinées, du cinéma, des jeux de guerre, et des autres sujets alliés. Les fanzines ne sont pas des "little magazines" au sens usuel de l'expression, quoique les catégories s'impient l'une sur l'autre.

La portée de l'Annuaire est mondiale, y inclue des fanzines aux langues autres que l'anglais.

L'Annuaire n'ignore pas les journaux dont le compilateur n'en a pas vu des exemplaires. J'ai conscience des raisons pour limiter une bibliographie aux articles que le compilateur a examinés lui-même, mais en cherchant la plénitude, j'ai inclue des renseignements tirés des critiques des fanzines et des autres sources. Les fanzines que j'ai vues moi-même sont indiquées par * aux bouts de leurs notices. On doit noter bien que les renseignements de ces fanzines sont certainement plus corrects.

Ce numéro de l'Annuaire reporte seulement sur l'année 1977; les annotations de l'état de publication des fanzines s'agissent du bout de 1977. Des changements de plus tard, sauf des adresses, ne sont pas inclus. Le compilateur repondrait aux demandes spécifiques des infos additionnels. (Incluez un Coupon-réponse international.)

Grace aux préférences propres du compilateur, la reportage des fanzines de la science-fiction et de la littérature fantastique est plus complète que celle des autres catégories.

On peut obtenir des renseignements des fanzines courantes aux numéros plusiers de la Fanzine fanatique et du Whole Fanzine Catalog (publiée par Brian Earl Brown).

Le but de l'Annuaire est comme aide au collectionneur et au bibliographeur. Il pourvoit une reportage bibliographique de toutes les fanzines qui apparaissent dans une année. On en a besoin, parce qu'il n'y a rien de sources qui ont beaucoup des infos des fanzines courantes.

L'Annuaire n'inclut pas des publications professionnelles, des reportages de progrès ou des livrets de programme des congrès (sauf quand ils ont des articles), ou des publications qui se comprennent seulement des avertissements de leurs éditeurs. Les APAs (associations de la presse amateur) et les journaux des apas ne sont pas inclus, parce que South of the Moon (publié maintenant par H. J. N. Andruschak) les reporte.

En décidant lesquelles publications soient des fanzines et doivent être incluses à l'Annuaire, j'ai employé beaucoup la définition efficace de Don Markstein: Une fanzine est un journal qu'on reçoit aux postes en échange de sa propre fanzine.

Les publications en série se classifient comme demi-professionnelles ou comme amateurs complètement. Un journal demi-professionnel est celui qui ambitionne à l'état professionnel, ou qui remunere quelques de ses rédacteurs, ou dont l'éditeur a l'intention d'y gagner une parte de sa subsistance. On n'emploie pas la catégorie demi-professionnelle pour des publications non en série, grace au caractère différent de leur distribution.

Les enregistrements de l'Annuaire ne sont pas d'avertissements. Les éditeurs des fanzines n'ont pas demandé qu'on y s'inscrive leurs publications. L'enregistrement d'une fanzine veut dire qu'au moins qu'un numéro a apparu en 1977; ce ne garantit pas que des numéros additionnels apparaîtraient.

Les renseignements de chaque fanzine sont: le titre; l'éditeur; les sujets et la portée; le rédacteur en chef, s'il n'est pas le même que l'éditeur; les titres différents; et des autres annotations bibliographiques.

L'Annuaire ne montrent pas les fréquences de publication. La plupart des fanzines ne se publient pas régulièrement. Les prix ne se montrent pas, parce que la plupart serait démodés.

Les inscriptions sont rangées alphabétiquement. Les notices des journaux en série sont sous le titre; les notices des publications non en série sont sous l'auteur ou sous le rédacteur en chef. Si la notice d'un livre est sous l'auteur, l'index l'inscrit sous le titre et pas sous l'auteur. Peut-être il y ont des classements erronés; pour cette raison, on doit chercher à l'index et à la section principale, tous les deux.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Steve Sneyd, Robert Smets, Graham Poole, Robert Runté, and Charles Jensen provided large amounts of information on fanzines outside the United States. Thanks are also due to the fanzine reviewers, of whom Keith Walker was the most inclusive in 1977.

INFORMATION SOURCES FOR CURRENT FANZINES

Fanzine Fanatique, Whole Fanzine Catalog, and West of Minster's Library list all of the fanzines that their editors receive. FF is available for 15p, 3/US$1 bill, F 50, or trade from Keith Walker, 6 Vine St, Greaves, Lancaster, Lancs, United Kingdom. WoFan is available for 50¢ or trade from Brian Earl Brown, 16711 Burt Rd #207, Detroit, MI 48219, United States. WoML is available for 30¢ or trade from Marc Ortlieb, 70 Hamblinn Rd, Elizabeth Downs, SA 5113, Australia.

Amateur press associations are covered in South of the Moon, edited by H. J. N. Andruschak, PO Box 606, Ia Canada, CA 91011, United States.

A list of fanzines (primarily comix fanzines) is in the annual Fandom Directory, $5.95 from Harry A. Hopkins, PO Box 873, Langley AFB, VA 23665, United States.

There are regular fanzine reviews in the newszines File 770 (4/$2 from Mike Glycer, 14974 Osceola St, Sylmar, CA 91342, USA) and D N Q (4/US$2 from Victoria Vayne, POB 156 Sta D, Toronto, Ont M6P 3J8, Canada).

ATTENTION NEW FANZINE EDITORS

The compiler would appreciate it greatly if editors starting new fanzines would send details about the zine (title, address, price and other forms of availability, and scope and form of subjects covered) or a sample copy, so that information can be included in the next edition of the Fanzine Directory. A sample copy of your zine will get a free copy of the Directory! (If you wish to trade with the Fanzine Directory only, and not with my genzine Photron, please so indicate on the sample copy.) Fanzines in languages other than English are especially sought.

AUSTRALIA IN '83!

I believe that the World Science Fiction Convention should be kept truly international, so I support the committee bidding to hold the 1983 Worldcon in Sydney, Australia. This would continue the trend since 1965 of holding the Worldcon outside North America once every 4 or 5 years. The site of the 1983 con will be voted on by the members of the 1981 con (Denver II, POB 11545, Denver, CO 80211). The Australia in '83 committee is at POB A491, Sydney South, NSW 2000, Australia.
