The Sahara is beginning to notice strange things happening to postcards and such put out for the public to use.

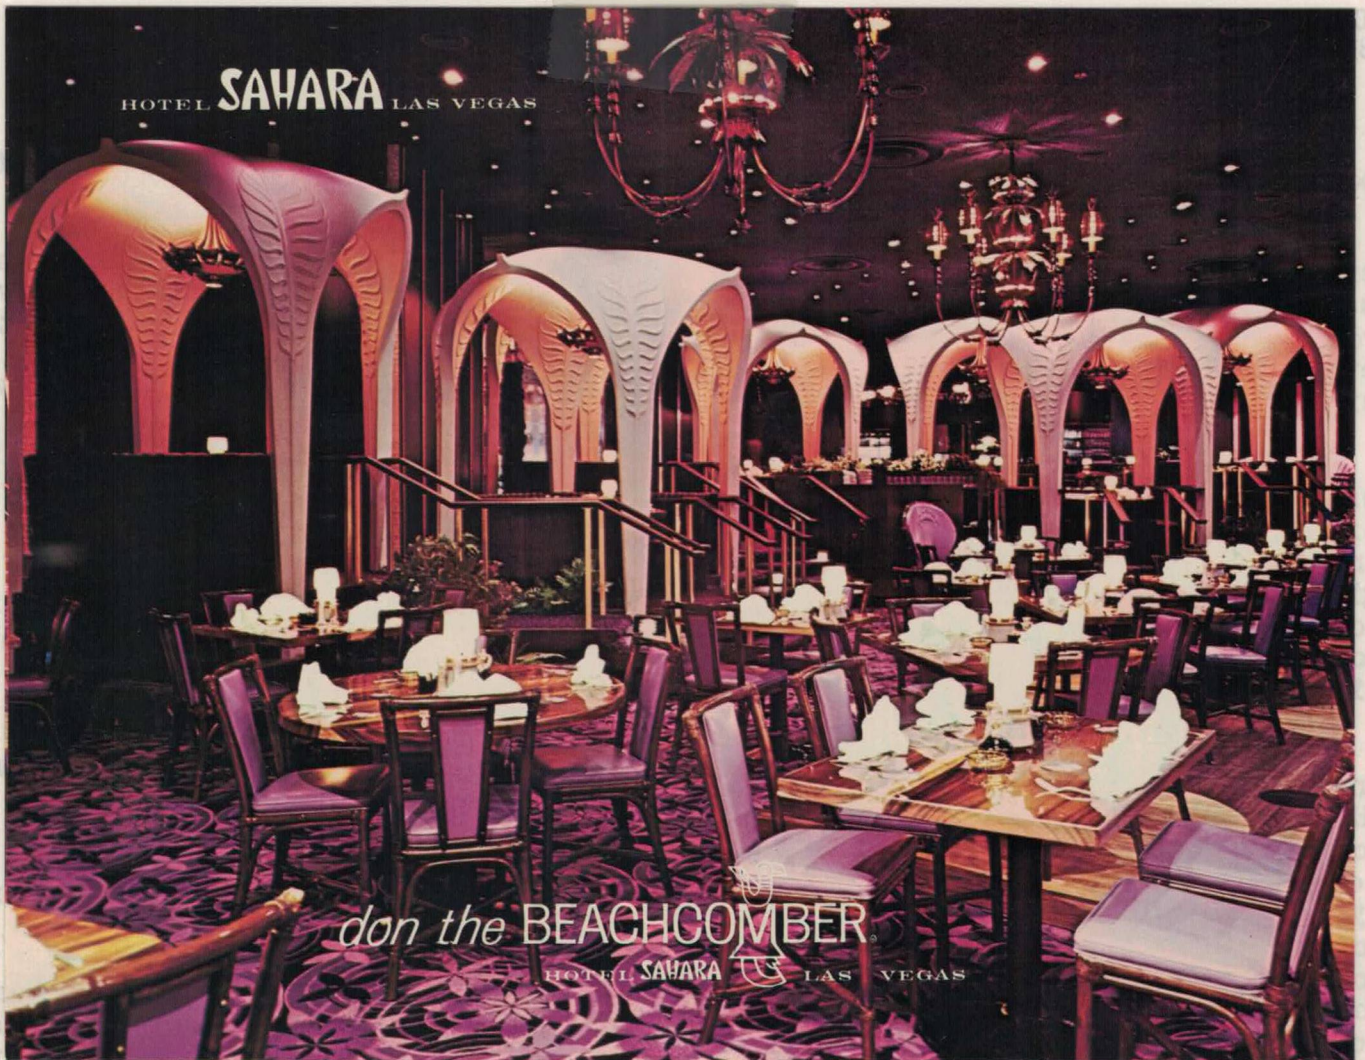

For example, in one day something like five hundred postcards, of about six different makes, at least 300 to 400 booklets and such from the travel section, disappeared. They are hardened to the fact that if you leave these things out they will disappear, that's natural isn't it, even more if they put them out to be taken, but visitors to this "best-city-of-them-all" seem to be taking more than ever. HMMMMMMMMM?

Lynn Pederson and I have a system worked out to "receive" those postcards from the Sahara and other such strip hotels. In fact it's a lot of fun, since we are in no hurry we can take our time and watch the girls in the pools, try to pick them up, or whatever we feel like doing. The girls all tend to be pretty (well, most of them), easy to pick up, and lots of fun. After all they are down here to have fun and who are we to spoil their visions of a great holiday. (Don't look at me, I live here!)

The end results of Lynn's and my "collection drive" will be seen on the back of a lot of future DEATH AND THE BNF's, or/and THE HOUSE OF THE GAMES. All sorts of interesting things can be picked up at the hotels, and we are picking up a lot of this kind of stuff. Our drive is being done quicker than we've ever done it before for one reason, neither Lynn nor I (with luck, or bad luck or whatever) will be living here in a month. Lynn will be going to a Art college in the L.A. area, and right now it's quite certain that I will be living in Upland. SO...we want something to remind us of our life in Vegas Fangdom, and life in Las Vegas, besides Lynn says it's easier to tape a postcard of a hotel to the back of a issue of my APA L zine that it is for him to draw something. Who can argue with that kind of logic?
