LIGHT FLASHES

On page 5 you will find a poem on the virile four letter words that exist in the Anglo-Saxon tongue. It was submitted by Sam W. McCoy. Sam doesn't know who the author is. He says it is GIVEN as "A. P. Herbert", and wonders if he isn't a fairly well known English author.

You will note that LIGHT sports but 10 pages this issue. Blame it on the recent dollar devaluation. Until I can find a Canadian-made or British-made stencil and ink to replace the American brand which has increased in price, LIGHT will remain at the 10 pages per issue size. Appearance will be as of yore-- when the mood inspires.

Please note that the 44rd issue of LIGHT will be dated February 1950, and the deadline for all material, letters, and so on, will be January 31, 1950. Govern yourselves accordingly. This doesn't necessarily mean a return to a bi-monthly appearance. It just means I am going to try to give in advance the date of the next issue, and the deadline for it. Every effort will be made to issue the magazine within the month following the deadline, though no promise will be made to do so.

Anyone with an 8MM movie camera who wishes to can send me approximately a five-foot movie portrait of himself, and in return I will send him approximately the same footage of myself. Exchange will not be by return mail, naturally, but as soon as I have the roll in the camera processed. I will send black and white only, so you needn't bother with color. Each projection length sent by me will have an identifying title at the start and a short THE END title at the end. This is an attempt by me to build up a reel or so of movie shots of as many for who wish to participate.

Ted White, whom you know through the medium of "Mimeo Ink In My Veins", has recently sold a book-length novel to a Canadian publisher of pocket books. Not fantasy. Not science fiction. Not weird Hostage on the current FAPA mailing from Helene, 11¢. What was yours?

Silliest and most futile thing in the mailing, the 49th: The Comct. It doesn't merit caps when being mentioned. Or am I too hard on the boys?

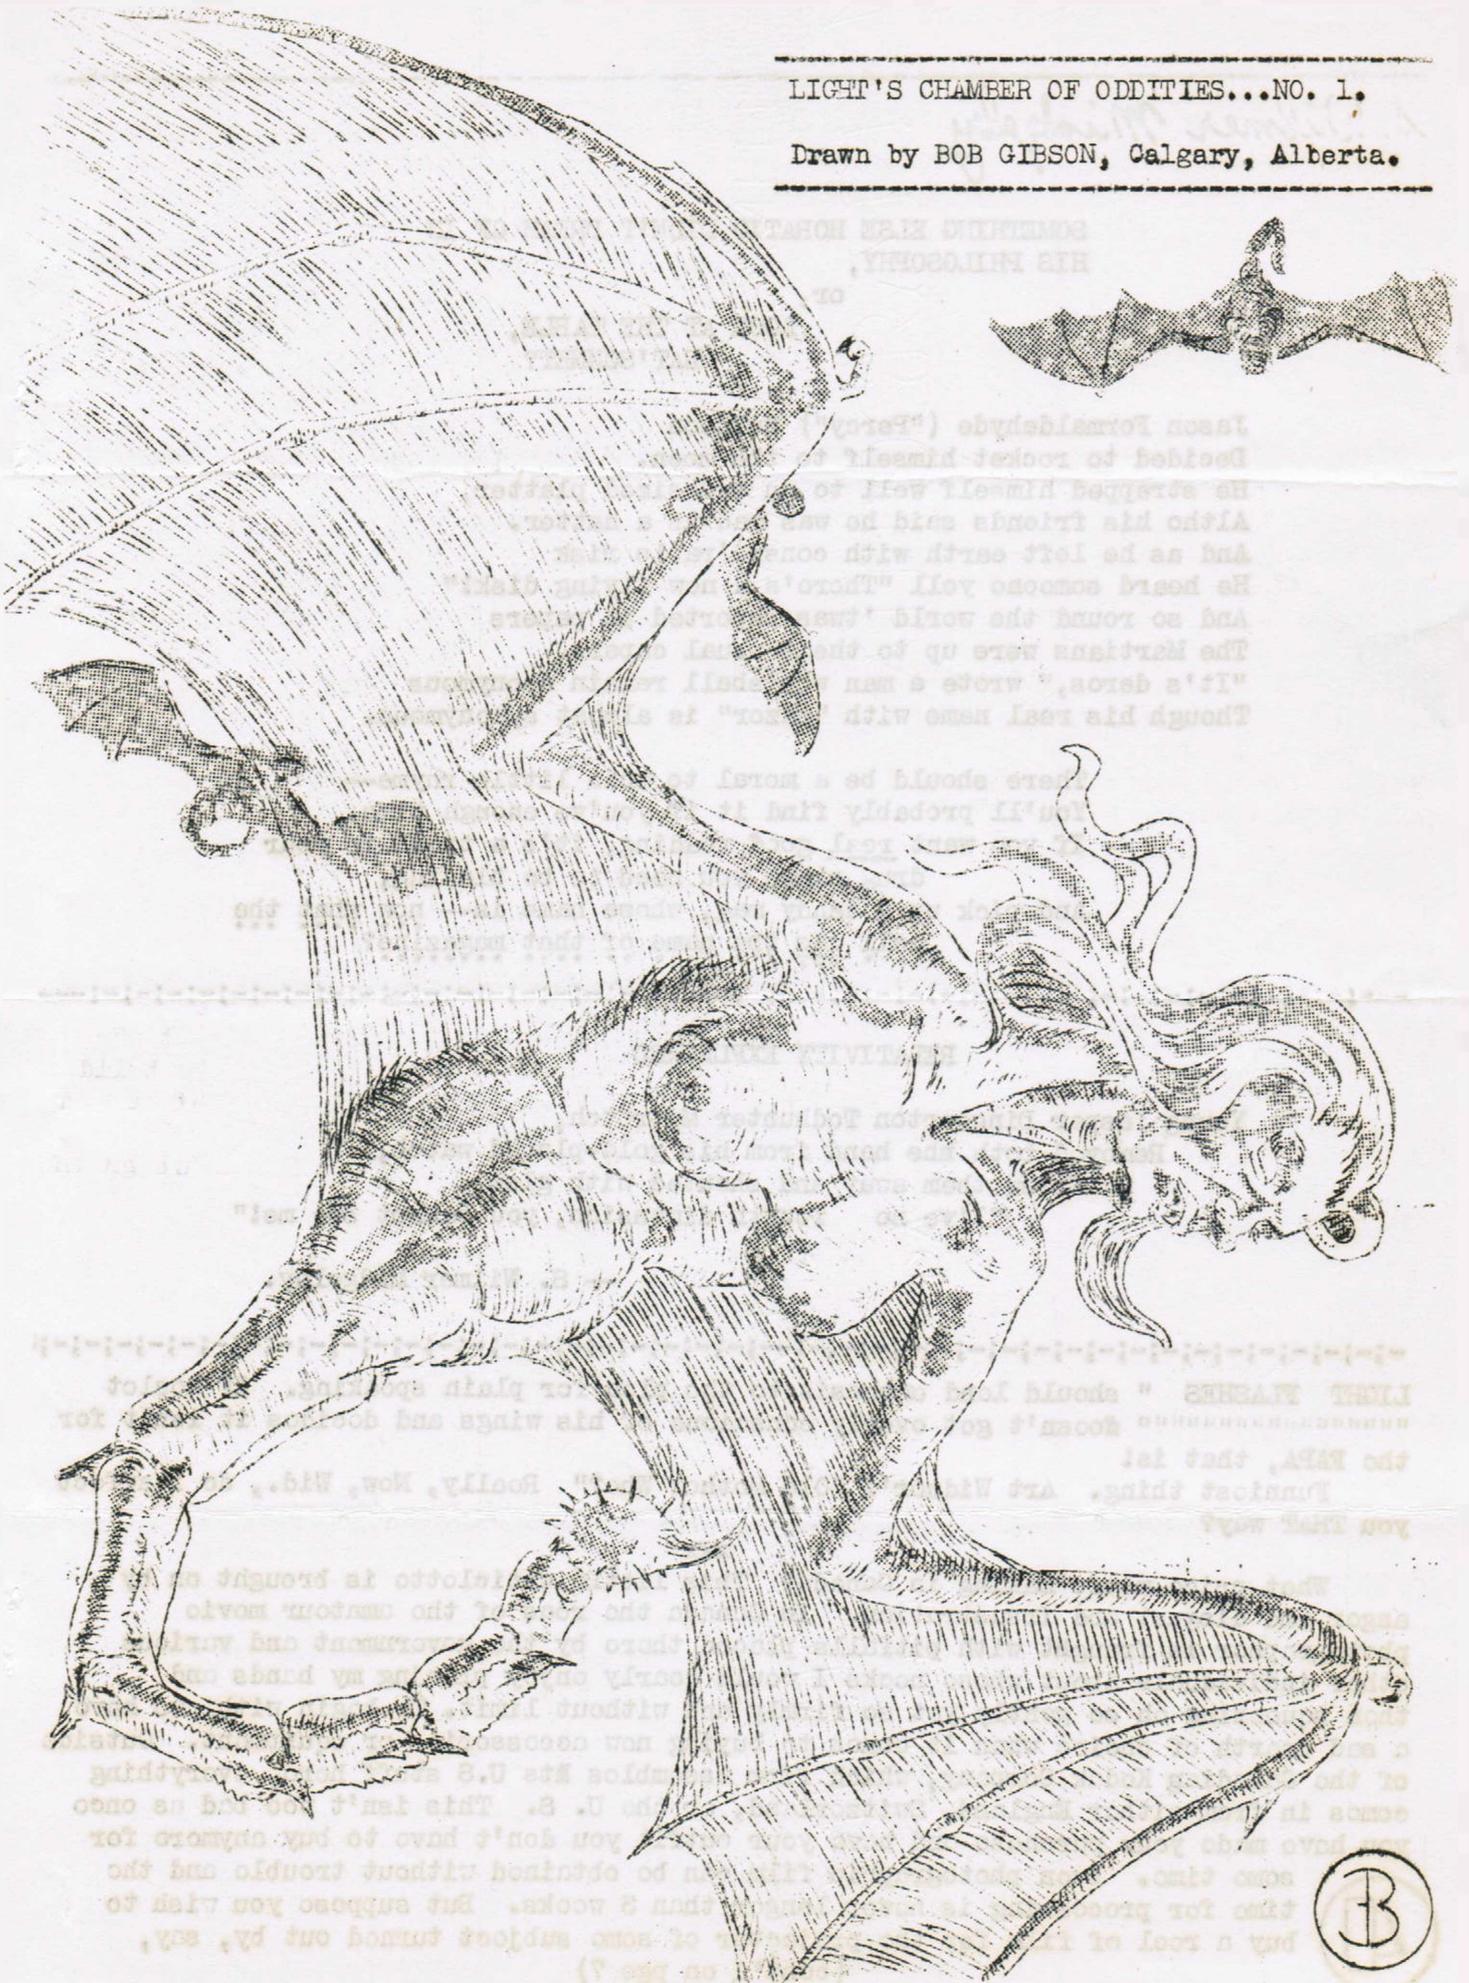

The number of purple sheets this mailing lends a colorful air to the output of the members. Ditto duplicating? It is interesting me more and more every time I see it.

Best cover. Is there any doubt? Can there BE any doubt? Rapp's MIND-WARP.

Most interesting publication. Warnor's HORIZONS because of his remarks on Rudolf Flesch's "The Art of Plain Speaking". Finally, it seems, MY plain speaking has met with some approval. Thank you, Harry. The verso on page 5

SOMETHING ELSE HORATIO DIDN'T DREAM OF IN HIS PHILOSOPHY,

OR,

LOOK AT THE TABLE,
WHAT SONNET?

Jason Formaldehyde ("Percy") Muldoon
Decided to rocket himself to the moon.
He strapped himself well to an oversized platter,
Altho his friends said he was mad as a hatter.
And as he left earth with consid'able risk
He heard someone yell "There's a new flying disk!"
And so round the world 'twas reported in papers
The Martians were up to their usual capers.
"It's deros," wrote a man who shall remain anonymous
Though his real name with "razor" is almost synonymous.

There should be a moral to this little rhyme--
You'll probably find it if you've enough time.
If you want real good reading, it's a trail to your drug store you need to be blazing,
And pick up a dandy rag, whose name is-- now what the hell was the name of that magazine?

RELATIVITY EXPLAINED

Young Jasper Dingburton Todhunter McCrotch,
Removed both the hand from his gold-plated watch,
Threw them away and shouted with glee
"I've no fourth dimension, you cannot see me!"

LIGHT FLASHES " should lend emphasis to the plea for plain speaking. IF Coslot @ocsn't got overly conscious of his wings and decides it isn't for the FAPA, that is!

Funniest thing. Art Widnor's "Old Mother Who?" Really, Now, Wid., do I affect you THAT way?

What price movie making in Canada? This little articlette is brought on by anger and disgust and frustration. In Canada the road of the amateur movie photographer is fraught with pitfalls placed there by the government and various other individuals about whose necks I would dearly enjoy placing my hands and then squeezing oh so gently yet so firmly and without limit. To begin with, we have a sad dearth of choice when it comes to buying new accessories or equipment. Outside of the Canadian Kodak Company, which firm assembles its U.S. stuff here, everything comes in from either England, Switzerland, or the U. S. This isn't too bad as once you have made your purchase and have your outfit you don't have to buy anymore for some time. Even photographic film can be obtained without trouble and the time for processing is never longer than 3 weeks. But suppose you wish to buy a reel of film for the projector of some subject turned out by, say,

(cont'd on page 7)

CONCERNING THOSE VIRTUE
FOUR-LETTER ANGLO-SAXON
WORDS

Let us banish the use of the four letter words,
Whose meanings are never obscure,
The Angles and Saxons, those bawdy old birds,
Were vulgar, obscene and impure,
But cherish the use of the wheedling phrase,
You'd better be known for your hypocrite ways
Than be vulgar, obscene, or impure.

Yes, banish the words that Elizabeth used
When she was a queen on the throne;
The modern maid's virtue is easily bruised
By four letter words used alone.
Let your morals be loose as an alderman's vest
If your language is always obscure;
Today, not the act, but the word is the test
Of the vulgar, obscene and impure.

EXPLANATION

The poem on this page is a cut version of the entire thing. Four lovely stanzas have been left out of the middle. Presented here are just the first and the last. It had been planned to run the whole thing, but it was decided at the 11th hour not to. It was a case of discretion being decided as being better than valor. The middle stanzas concern certain four letter words. To wit: concerning the passing of water; the frontworks of such ladies as Jane Russell; the organ of procreation; and the act of said creation. The entire poem is mimeographed and there are 110 copies of it.

ERRATA

The following errors were made in LIGHT FLASH-or. According to the very latest film received, the U. S value of which was $3., this was the final cost:

Cost of film (U.S)	3.00
10%	.30
Money order	.12
Stamp	.04
	3.46

Customs and taxes:
20% on U.S value	.60
Sales tax, 8% on $3. plus duty, or $3.60	.29
Excise tax, 10% on $3. U.S value plus duty, or $3.60	.36
Total duty and taxes	1.25

Total cost of film 4.71

The dealer paid the way .

Latest film purchased from a Canadian firm (U.S. film) took exactly 3 weeks and 1 day to arrive. Figuring duty and taxes on this film, if I had purchased it in the U.S., and paid duty and taxes, it would still have been 98¢ cheaper than Canadian price!

THE JAPS ARE AT IT AGAIN!

Warnings have been issued by Toronto and other Canadian fire marshalls that Japanese toys coming in for Christmas are highly inflammable and therefor dangerous to store in warehouses, stores, and in the home. The material bursts into flame at the slightest provocation, according to newspaper reports. Stores are reported removing this stuff from stock. Apparently the Japanese still excell at cheapness. And apparant! American control doesn't mean a damn. Personally I refuse to purchase Japanese made material. And if I get skinned much more on British made material I'm going to thumbs down on it too. British-made used to mean something!

My faithful old duplicator was starting to get tired. Well, maybe it wasn't so old, but it was a cheap one and things were occurring that were giving me a case of the whim whams.

Business was good then and I was really pulling in the shekels. I decided suddenly that I wanted a better mimeograph. Color work was starting to interest me and I thought that a second machine would make two-color work casior. Being a lazy guy, I didn't fancy cleaning the drum every time I wanted to print a second color. Nope, I'd sooner have two mimeos.

As my first move I purchased an inexpensive English flat bed affair which works fine but is rather slow. The all-green cover for LIGHT, May 1946, was turned out on it. I have used it very little due to the extra work ontailed. As I've said, I'm a lazy guy, so I just never used this flat bed one as much as I thought I would.

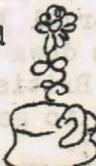

Then the Hamilton duplicator broke down and the manufacturer no longer was making that machine and couldn't supply the part. So stuck I was.

I wrote Mimeograph Co. in Toronto and asked them about a Model 90, selling for around $130. I thought they'd just send me the dope on it but instead the salesman drove up to the door with it. It was a lovely thing but for the price I just couldn't see it. It didn't do a damn sight better than my little $30. job that I could see so I rebelled and didn't buy it. I don't think the salesman was very happy.

Fen in the States were using Speed-O-Print machines and those were available in Canada for $60. from the same mail order house I bought the Hamilton from. I took a chance and ordered it. Come to think of it, it wasn't really much of a chance either for this store sells on a money back guarantee if you are not satisfied. When the machine came and I set it up and tried it out I was more than pleased. It did work equally as good in quality as the more expensive Mimeograph. And the automatic feed worked even better. Naturally I kept it and I was back in business again.

LIGHT for May 1946-- Number 32, was the first issue turned out on the Speed-O-Print. It has done youman service ever since. I heartoly recommend it to whoever is interested.

I started getting ambitious again. It was about time for another mammoth issue! Number 33, Fall 1946, was the result. 34 pages of it, this time. A blue cover and yellow and white pages. LIGHT dropped from bi-monthly to quarterly for the foud in the FAPA was over and I started sending LIGHT through the mailing again. I just decided that I wasn't going to be buffaleed by any bunch of officers that didn't see the same way I did!

And  damned if they didn't get huffy again! Either this set was hard to please or I have a decided talent for getting peoples' nanny goats. Maybe I have but what the hell-- it takes a needle now and then to to stir things up. Anyway, the lead story, one of mine, contained a few luscious phrases in it that scared the editor and he withheld the magazine. As with a former issue, when it did come out, later on, no one seemed to see anything so terribly bad about it.

I think the last six issues are so recent that they need not be more than touched on. There have been some highlights-- of which newer readers may be uninformed: the lithographed cover of Cthulhu, angelled by Cockroft, that appeared on the January 1948 issue, being one.

Outside of that there is nothing much to mention, except the fact there were no issues of LIGHT during 1947. I didn't have the time, and I was sitting back, waiting to see what the FAPA would finally decide over that Number 33.

WHAT HAS PUBLISHING A FANZINE MEANT TO ME? It has meant pleasure-- a hobby that has kept me occupied-- a hobby that I have shared with friends, and I have found that that kind of hobby gives the greatest joy. It has meant contacts with people I have liked, and like. In its small way, it has carved out for me a niche among people that like the same things I do. LIGHT will likely be remembered long after I have removed myself, voluntarily or involuntarily, from the scene. In fact, I understand the magazine is already somewhat of a collector's piece. But the greatest pleasure has been the knowledge that its voice has been the loudest and most consistent Canadian one in American and world fandom. CANADIAN FANDOM and CENSORED have shouted loudly too, but LIGHT does it the most often. AND LIGHT will be remembered for being so damned irritating at times, for always sticking its foot in it and printing stuff that made people sore at one time or another.

And the future. . . what of it? I don't know. I never plan ahead anymore. I just want to keep it that way, printing entertainment, sticking up for what I believe in, and being always willing to print anything that will pass the postal laws. The fuddy duddies, the narrow-minded lovers of issas will always find LIGHT ready to tramp on their toes. I believe in freedom of speech, in the freedom of a democratic person to say what he likes when he likes.

There is only one definite thing that I know-- I intend to stay in the FAPA, so the members might as well become reconciled. And I also intend to keep on printing the experimental in writing and art work. Because LIGHT does NOT believe that fantasy is the end of all things-- and therefore will never be a die-hard exponent of that belief.

Castle, Official, or the Encyclopedia Britannica Films. These firms have dealers in Canada who are always very prompt in sending catalogs and promising "immediate delivery". Immediate delivery! Holy Mackeral. There is apparently NO stock of films in Canada. You order what you want-- you remit-- and then you wait from 2 to 3 weeks! And it's usually closer to 3 weeks before delivery is effected than anything else! Suppose you buy from a U. S. firm, directly. Ah-- delivery is much better-- usually 7 days, believe it or not-- for eastern firms, and around a week and a half for western firms. But then our god damned civil servants have to get their long stick into the puddle and stir up the mud. First, you get a notice from your customs office confiding that they have received the film, but that due to regulation so-and-so subsection this-and-that the film has to go to Ottawa for inspection. They also tell you that this isn't because you have ordered anything naughty but they must be sure no little Canuck is going to have his morals corrupted. You put up with this and wait and wait and wait and finally in

"DREAMS THAT MONEY CAN BUY" SURREALIST MOVIE FILM.

GREAT MOMENTS IN THE MOVIES # 1
by William D. Grant

about four weeks the film finally comes back to the customs. Are you still through with monumental red-tape? No! The customs clerk gets his little in in the form of a multitude of taxes. The government shrieks about the cost of living and how profits pyramid but they are the worst. Consider. Down goes the cost of your film. Then they compute 10% on top of that-- that's due to the devaluation. Then on this base plus 10% they figure out 25%. That's the duty. Then on the base plus the 10% plus the 25% they figure out another percentage-- about 8%. That is the excise tax. Then on the base plus the 10% plus the 25% plus the excise tax they figure out another 8%. That is the sales tax. By now you are sweating. Finally, your film has cost you-- and this is an actual tabulation on some I got last fall: First-- cost of film plus 10% plus money order plus stamp to get the blasted stuff. Note the government, in the form of the harpy behind the money order wicket has already added 10% on. Then the customs boys add another 10%-- pure graft if you ask me or pure ignorance-- plus all the rest noted above. By the time you have your film, it has cost you the base price plus about 75%!

It's a hell of a lot to go through, but if you buy from a Canadian firm, you pay almost all of that plus the doubtful delivery plus the fact that the choice through Canadian firms is blasted small.

AND you have to be an artist or some other liar the customs can't catch you up on to get in such items as "art" films, "art" slides, and so on.

So whenever I read in an American photographic magazine the boofs about your own tax on photographic equipment, and so on, I laugh. You boys still get it cheaper than we do, and at least YOU CAN BUY IT!

You record collectors-- check Webster-Chicago-- this firm manufactures two VERY good triple speed changers. Handle all sizes, all speeds, and automatically, too. A full inch stack of ANY size. NOT intermixed. This is positively the smoothest line of changers I have yet seen. Price in the States should be down around $25. to $40. as a guess.

Reports show that for the first time, Ford has sold more cars for the past year in Canada than any of the others, thus putting it ahead of its biggest competitor, Chevrolet. Usually, Ford lagged behind Chevrolet, Pontiac, Dodge and Plymouth, in that order.

On page 10 of this issue you will find another page of swaps. If anyone is wondering why the big difference in prices compared to the list run in the last issue, let me explain. I've been out of this swapping game for a long time. I had lost complete touch with prices and values. I think I am getting more in the groove now. The blurb "nothing more than a buck" means just that. I would like to clean out what I have here to make room for other things. Cash sales will take precedence over swap. Any item you think is overpriced and that you want, make me what you believe is a reasonable offer. In swap, I want current copies of ASTOUNDING, FANTASY BOOK, or any fantasy magazine not appearing in Canada. Currently appearing on our stands are FFM, FANTASTIC NOVELS, A. MERITT'S FANTASY, TWS, SS, Ziff-Davis publications NOT desired as there seems to be little demand for them. From our British readers I'll take current British science fiction, fantasy, or weird magazines. Not fussy right now on books but it won't hurt for you to list what you can get for me. I'd sooner deal with three or four Britishers than with a great number-- less work and bookkeeping.

If you are interested, apply now!

NOTE

(Don't delay-- write today!)

I am desirous of opening a swap route with England, such as I have had in the past. I don't want an indiscriminate route. I desire to contact two or three Britishers who will swap me British fantasy in return for Canadian and American fantasy. Once I have made this contact with no more than 3 fans, I will swap with no others. This will give those fans a chance to profit on their deals if they so desire. NO MONEY NEED CHANGE HANDS. IT WILL BE 100% SWAP.
