The Transatlantic Fan Fund -- Candidates' Platforms.

TERRY CARR: Since entering fandom in the late 1940's via the prozine letter columns and the Golden Gate Futurian Society, Terry has been a serious collector, clubfan, humorist, reviewer, carouser, con-committee member, satirist, and columnist. He co-edited FANAC, the newszine that won the 1959 Hugo, as well as publishing IN-NUENDO and other fanzines too humorous to mention. Today, in New York, he works closely with his old friend science fiction as Associate Editor of Ace Books — and writes it on the side, while still remaining active in fandom. He might claim you could find a better TAFFman — but you couldn't.

Nominated by: Walt Willis, Peter Mabey, Tom Perry, Avram Davidson, and Redd Boggs.

BILL DONAHO: A Good Man - with gavel at the rostrum, stencil at the typer, or wit (and wits) in company - you name it; Bill's with it... Reader-collector since 1935-40... Attendee of 7 Worldcons, 9 major regionals, numerous 'conferences': Bill worked on NyCon II, Metrocon II; and on the current Pacificon II Committee (also producers of the excellent Westercon '63) has demonstrated the ability and fortitude to take decisive action and stand firm under difficult circumstances.

Fanzines: member of FAPA, OMPA, the Cult and (ex) IPSO, Bill is best known for fabulous HABAKKUK, which topped the 1960 Fanac poll and ranked high among 1961 Hugo-nominees.

Vote Donaho (indorsed by responsible elements of all brandes of fandom) and Get the Most For Your Money!
