-- EDITORIAL --

We were very much saddened by the recent report of the death of Jules Unger. Details were lacking, but we did learn that he passed away January the 15th after a stay in the hospital. As many of you know, Julie had suffered a series of heart attacks in the past few years so, in all probability, another one was the culprit. Julie had been on the receiving end of a tough breaks in the past few years, culminating with his illness and a disastrous fire that destroyed much of his stock and collection.

He never gave up or complained, however; in fact he had just revived his old "Fantasy Fiction Field" with the co-editorship of Harvey Inman just prior to his death. Fandom and his many friends will find that his loss leaves a tremendous gap, for he was one of the real old timers, prodigally generous of time in helping his fellow fans.

The paper situation has finally eased, with the purchase of 50 reams in San Francisco. Of course, the delayed shipment of 20 reams arrived shortly after last month's issue was in the mail, so we have lots of paper for the time being. We still have quite a varied selection of weights & colors so a little more experimentation will be a usual occurrence for the next few issues.

Charles Kearns writes he has been a bit under the weather lately, so that copy for his column "The British Scene" may be somewhat delayed. We most certainly hope that spring will bring a return to good health for him and the end of what must have been an exceptionally rough winter for our friends in Great Britain. . . . G.B.

I am starting a new service to all fans and collectors of SF and Detective-Mystery fiction. I am binding pocket books. A lot of the older titles are almost impossible to find and this applies even to pocket book reprints as well. I have done quite a few for friends and other collectors.

This is areal hard cover job from start to finish. I do any size of book from the Pocket Books Inc. size up to the Ballantine size.

The charge is $1.25 which includes postage from Vermont and either gold foil for you to write the title on the spine or 3/8" high gold letters die stamped and enough for complete title on the spine.
