-- EDITORIAL --

We are happy to report that at least four subscribers read the editorial page; at least that was the number that remarked on the date goof in the last issue -- "January 1963" instead of "January 1964". We didn't read it either, as the first we were aware of it was when Greg Shaw mentioned it in a letter. However, will have to state that we are a bit dubious that this issue will "undoubtedly become a rare collectors item" as remarked (tongue in-the-cheek?) by Randy Fields....

Actually, we were surprised that the issue was not more fouled up than it was. The spare bedroom cum stock room, shipping office, printing department, etc, etc. was occupied during the crucial time by a lady aunt which gave the whole operation of getting this number together a distinct resemblance to having been produced in a revolving door!

A short letter from Charles Kearns reports that he is now working 12 hours a day on "Rate Estimates" and will be occupied with this esoteric business till about the last of February. "The British Scene" and answering correspondence will both be a bit in arrears until this time, so Kearns' fans will have to patient until a new column can be prepared and dispatched.....

After a number of complaints from the production department regarding running this page too long, will cut it off with a whole line of space left....I think....! G.B.

INTRODUCING: A NEW CONCEPT IN COMICS...

This is FANTASY ILLUSTRATED, a brand-new amateur produced comic book that features some of the finest art and stories to be found outside the pro comics. It is created by comic book fans FOR comic book fans—if you want to see the unusual, the different, we think you will like FI.

Its format is flexible; running the gamut from science fiction/fantasy to superheroes and yes, even horror stories and satire. All of these story categories shall make their appearance in FI at one time or another, and some are to be found in issue number one.

To give you an idea of what to expect in the way of artwork, please take a look at the samples printed on the reverse side of this sheet. Those represented in the first issue are Richard Green, Buddy Saunders, D. Bruce Berry, Alan Weiss, and Landon Chesney, who drew the cover, shown at left. In addition to all the top-flight artwork, Fantasy Illustrated features stories by known authors; first issue has two yarns by pro writer, Otto Binder, whose work will also be presented regularly in future issues.

Fantasy Illustrated is edited and published by Bill Spicer, who will now list the specifications as follows:

- a) Printed offset-litho throughout
- b) 40 pages, 7" x 10", wrap-around binding
- c) Black and white interior, FOUR COLOR COVER
- d) All copies mailed flat in sealed envelopes
- e) Published irregularly, although the editor stubbornly insists that "a quarterly schedule is not impossible".
