@ @ @ @ @ (a)(a) (a) (a)(a)(a) (a) (a) (a)(a)(a)(a)(a) (a)(a)(a)(a)(a)

Mt. Holz Science Fiction Society Club Notice - 06/15/90 -- Vol. 8, No. 50

MEETINGS UPCOMING:

Unless otherwise stated, all meetings are on Wednesdays at noon. LZ meetings are in LZ 2R-158. MT meetings are in the cafeteria.

06/20 LZ: PRENTICE ALVIN by Orson Scott Card (Hugo Nominee)

07/11 LZ: HYPERION by Dan Simmons (Hugo Nominee)

08/01 LZ: A FIRE IN THE SUN by George Alec Effinger (Hugo Nominee)

08/22 LZ: RENDEZVOUS WITH RAMA by Arthur C. Clarke

09/12 LZ: STAR MAKER by Olaf Stapledon (Formative Influences)

06/16 NJSFS: New Jersey Science Fiction Society: Social/Dance (phone 201-432-5965 for details) (Saturday)

07/13 Hugo Ballot Deadline

07/14 SFABC: Science Fiction Association of Bergen County: TBA (phone 201-933-2724 for details) (Saturday)

HO Chair: John Jetzt HO 1E-525 834-1563 hocpa!jetzt LZ Chair: Rob Mitchell LZ 1B-306 576-6106 mtuxo!jrrt MT Chair: Mark Leeper MT 3D-441 957-5619 mtgzx!leeper HO Librarian: Tim Schroeder HO 3D-225A 949-5866 hotle!tps LZ Librarian: Lance Larsen LZ 3L-312 576-3346 mtunq!lfl MT Librarian: Evelyn Leeper MT 1F-329 957-2070 mtgzy!ecl Factotum: Evelyn Leeper MT 1F-329 957-2070 mtgzy!ecl All material copyright by author unless otherwise noted.

1. The film festival has been taking a rest for the last few months, but it is back and we are starting with two very powerful black comedies about bucking the system in unusual ways. On Thursday, June 21 at 7 PM, we will be showing:

Going for It BLUE COLLAR (1978) dir. by Paul Schrader KING OF COMEDY (1983) dir. by Martin Scorsese Paul Schrader's directorial debut (before making films such as _ C_ a_ t P_ e_ o_ p_ l_ e and _ M_ i_ s_ h_ i_ m_ a) starts out as a comic heist film about three THE MT VOID Page 2 Detroit auto workers their union, but it becomes much more than that when the plan turns to blackmail and they find themselves riding a tiger. Danny Peary called it an "excellent, unusual film ... strongly written, provocative, extremely well-acted." Richard Skorman said, "The acting throughout is outstanding. [Richard] Pryor gives one of his most controlled performances to date and [Harvey] Keitel and [Yaphet] Kotto are equally convincing." One of Robert DeNiro's most memorable characters is Rupert Pupkin, who idolizes the celebrity of superficial talk show host Jerry Langford (played by Jerry Lewis). Thwarted too often in his plans to become famous on Langford's program, he decides to take matters into his own hands. While the character is very different from the one in Scorsese's _ T_ a_ x_ i_ D_ r_ i_ v_ e_ r, there are some surprising parallels. 2. We now begin our annual cycle of discussions of the Hugo nominees (at least those available in paperback), and our next Lincroft discussion book is therefore P_ r_ e_ n_ t_ i_ c_ e_ A_ l_ v_ i_ n by Orson Scott Card, of which Lance Larsen says: "_ P_ r_ e_ n_ t_ i_ c_ e_ A_ l_ v_ i_ n is the third book in _ T_ h_ e _ T_ a_ l_ e_ s o_ f_ A_ l_ v_ i_ n_ \overline{M} \overline{a} \overline{k} \overline{e} \overline{r} . You can read this book without having read the previous two volumes $(_\ S_\ e_\ v_\ e_\ n_\ t_\ h_\ S_\ o_\ n\ and\ _\ R_\ e_\ d_\ P_\ r_\ o_\ p_\ h_\ e_\ t),\ but\ I\ would$ recommend reading them all--in order. This fantasy series is set in an alternate United States (that aren't) where magic works. Alvin Maker is the seventh son of a seventh son; hence he is blessed with very potent abilities that he must learn how to use. In this volume, while apprenticed to a blacksmith, Alvin comes of age and learns to use (and not use) his magical abilities. In this novel, as in the previous two, Card does a wonderful job of storytelling in this alternative history. The characters struggle and grow throughout the story. He is creating an epic, and getting it right!" [-lfl]

3. The following donations have been made to the Lincroft science fiction library from Patricia Eisenstein via Kathleen Kennedy:

Robert A. Heinlein

Robert A. Heinlein

Robert A. Heinlein

ROCKET SHIP GALILEO

Mark Leeper MT 3D-441 957-5619 ...mtgzx!leeper

Of tyrannies on human kind
The worst is that which persecutes the mind.
-- John Dryden

THE UNCONQUERED COUNTRY by Geoff Ryman Bantam Spectra, 1987 (1986c), ISBN 0-553-26654-3, $2.95.

A book review by Evelyn C. Leeper (with some comments on CHEAP TRUTH)

Copyright 1990 Evelyn C. Leeper

[This started out as a review of _ T_ h_ e _ U_ n_ c_ o_ n_ q_ u_ e_ r_ e_ d _ C_ o_ u_ n_ t_ r_ y, but, like some mutant plant, it grew off in a different direction and ended as much about _ C_ h_ e_ a_ p_ T_ r_ u_ t_ h as about the book in question.]

When I reviewed _ F_ u_ 1_ 1_ S_ p_ e_ c_ t_ r_ u_ m last year, I said that Andrew Weiner's "This Is the Year Zero," whether intentionally or not, was basically the story of the Pol Pot takeover in Kampuchea (now once again named Cambodia) presented as science fiction and that rewriting a historical event as science fiction rarely results in good science fiction, no matter how tragic the event. Someone suggested T h e

_ U_ n_ c_ o_ n_ q_ u_ e_ r_ e_ d_ C_ o_ u_ n_ t_ r_ y as another, better written, example of the same phenomenon. And then I saw that $C_h = a_p T_r u_t + h$ #16 had listed this as one of its top ten (at least for that issue), and described it as a "slightly expanded version of the instantly classic _ I_ n_ t_ e_ r_ z_ o_ n_ e novella, a shocking, brutally depressing SF tragedy that directly confronts the reader with high-voltage visionary excess." In addition, the novella version had won the British Fantasy Award a n d the World Fantasy Award in 1985. There are some basic differences between Weiner's story and Ryman's. In Ryman's book (expanded from the novella, but still only novella length--30,00 words) the story is presented as fantasy rather than science fiction, and in fact is written in such a way than it is about the Pol Pot takeover itself rather than an imitation or copy of it. But the fantasy makes the entire story so surreal as to detract from the human beings involved in it. (For example, houses are apparently living beings with feelings.) There is a certain distancing, a certain coldness, that the reader may find conflicts with the sympathies that s/he knows s/he should have for the victims of this. Lisa Goldstein's R e d M a g i c i a n is a fantasy set in a Nazi concentration

Lisa Goldstein's _ R_ e_ d_ M_ a_ g_ i_ c_ i_ a_ n is a fantasy set in a camp that avoids this distancing, at least for me, so it does not seem to be a necessary element. It could be that some critics will say that the distancing is intentional and part of the literary style of the novel. But for me, I found it disturbing (in a negative sense--one would hope a book about Pol Pot would be disturbing) and it seriously detracted from the book. Also, because the book is so clearly a representation of events in Cambodia, I found myself trying to map all the names and events onto real names and events. This, too, provided distraction from the flow of the story.

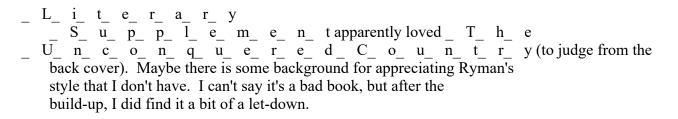

The structure of the narrative is unusual. Although short itself, the novella is divided into several sub-stories. The structure and the style seemed alien enough that I found myself wondering if Ryman were copying the style from Southeast Asian literature in the same way that Charles Whitmore copied the style of Scandinavian sagas in _ W_ i_ n_ t_ e_ r'_ s _ D_ a_ u_ g_ h_ t_ e_ r.

Unconquered Country June 12, 1990

Page 2

In fairness I should say that $_$ $L_$ o $_$ c $_$ u $_$ s and the $_$ $L_$ o $_$ n $_$ d $_$ o $_$ n $_$ T $_$ i $_$ m $_$ e $_$ s

And what of C h e a p T r u t h's rave review? Well, in #10 C h e a p $T_r_u t h$ says, "You've already heard about Gibson's N_ e_ u_ r_ o_ m_ a_ n_ c_ e_ r, and if you've got any sense you've already read it. This book had half again as many recommendations as its closest competitor to get on the preliminary Nebula ballot, and its brilliant depiction of a credible future has appealled [sic] to the sense of wonder in even the most hardened of intellects." Then when everyone has read it, in #12 we read, "Now that NEUROMANCER has garnered so many accolades, maybe it's time to sit back and see just what heights have been climbed. ... The book has, yeah, STYLE.... Wonderful! ... And that slick style carries us forward on a garbage-reeking tide for about a hundred pages. ... But then you become uncomfortably aware that Gibson doesn't actually k n o w much about computers beyond brand names, and you are enmeshed in a standard pulp plot." And on, and on, demolishing what two issues ago they had been lauding.

So what has replaced N_ e_ u_ r_ o_ m_ a_ n_ c_ e_ r in C_ h_ e_ a_ p T_ r_ u_ t_ h's eyes? Well, in that same issue #12, they rave about Greg Bear's B_ l_ o_ o_ d_ M_ u_ s_ i_ c: "In a triumph of the human spirit that makes one glow, Bear has shattered the limits of formula and is delivering truly superior fiction. B_ l_ o_ o_ d_ M_ u_ s_ i_ c in its award-winning short form was a fine, visionary piece; as a novel, it's staggering." Of course, come #14, they describe it as a novel which "expands predictably his earlier ... short story" and in a later paragraph goes on to other works saying, "Even the good stuff here [...] is tainted with guilt and predictability."

So it seems as though recommendations from _ C_ h_ e_ a_ p_ T_ r_ u_ t_ h are designed more to stir up the waters than actually to present a coherent and consistent critical viewpoint. (Yeah, I know--who am I to criticize Bruce Sterling and Lewis Shiner? The only answer to that is: I don't know; who do I have to be?) But they were right about one thing: "Really great illustrations!" (I should note that the illustrations are by Sacha Ackerman and the cover is by Ilene Meyer.)

