EDITOR HAS BUSY TIME

Your Editor attempting to keep interest in the UFO topic alive has been running loose through the tri-states of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania and plans now include trips to Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Accompanying the Editor is the Director of the New Jersey Association on Aerial Phenomena, Edward J. Babcock Jr., who together have been attempting to make hasty plans for a flying saucer convention on the East Coast. So far nothing definite has been planned, but work is continuing in this direction. Willing to appear as speakers include, among others, James W. Moseley, August C. Roberts, Mike Campione, and a representative from a local Unit of UNDERSTANDING Inc.

As if this hasn't taken up 24 hours a day your Editor has written an article entitled SAUCERS CHASE JAPANESE AIRLINER which appears in the August edition of FATE MAGAZINE, given lectures for various groups and is scheduled to appear on various radio shows including the all night WOR Amazing Randi program along with Jim Moseley editor of the famed SAUCER NEWS.

And as this is going to press Mr. Moseley has purchased from us the INTERPLANETARY NEWS SERVICE REPORT which will hence forth be combined with his publication. Your editor wishing to concentrate more so on editing THE SEARCHLIGHT and publishing various UFO books since he feels this is mainly where the future in saucer literature exists.

And don't forget we always want to hear from you. Send us those news clippings, personal experiences, so others may too read about them. And remember each book you purchase from us (we carry all titles by all authors) helps us to continue with our research. May we have the kind opportunity to hear from each and every one of you out there?

MORE LANDINGS IN NEW JERSEY

Famed for its noted landing at Glassboro last September, New Jersey has been hit by another wave of possible UFO landings. On June 24th Mrs. Lorraine Moore of Vincetown reported having been chased in her car while returning home about 1 in the morning. The object followed above her car so close that she felt she could reach out and touch it at any time. It had kept pace with her car for nearly two miles until she returned home to get her husband to come see the "platter" as she described it. She described it as glowing brightly and having antennae and windows and a red light.

To add credibility to this encounter a young boy by the name of Harry Reci, living in the small out of the way community of Hampton Lakes (near Vincetown) ran across a series of strange depressions in the ground near his home. He thought right away that something of great weight had left its mark and then vanished. After telling his find to parents in the community investigator's from the Red Lion State Police Barracks found a circular imprint on white sand in a clearing of a wooded area. This imprint is made up of a series of "concentric circles", the largest about 16 feet in diameter, in the sandy earth. Each of the rings has a ridge about five inches high made of sand that has acquired a strange crusty consistency. No tracks could be found coming or going from it in any direction.

Trooper Frank J. Caldwell checked the spot with a geiger counter but got only negative results. Investigating even further Mike J. Campione discovered that the area surrounding the depression was solidly packed and he couldn't even make an indentation in the ground when he drove on it with his two ton automobile which contradicts the idea that the depression was caused by a tractor.

If this is not enough to warrant further investigation a little girl upon looking at the strange disfiguration claims that she has seen many identical ones "way back in the woods" while on Brownie hikes. Editor Beckley and Special Investigator Babcock are now planning an exploratory mission deep into the wooded area of Hampton Lakes in search for these markings. In case we are eaten alive by some giant ant from Mars or are kidnapped by space creatures from the Outer Limits we hope that Assistant Editor John Robinson will take over our work, and if we do return we should have some very interesting details to relate to you shortly.

THE WATCHERS

BY J.P. FARRELL

Is Earth under constant observation by strange inhabitants of another planet?

It came like a roll of thunder -- thunder quite close at hand. It had a staccato sound like explosions in sequence. And like approaching thunder the explosions grew louder as the object came nearer. Previous reports of unidentified flying objects have seldom mentioned noise. But this one, sighted in Rome, made a roaring sound, and thousands of Roman citizens heard it. When the noise stopped, the object also stopped, or appeared to stop, at an altitude of about 6,000 feet. It hung suspended in the sky for awhile. Certainly for minutes, then suddenly it soared upward, trailing an exhaust of milky white smoke. Rising vertically it then disappeared, leaving only a stream of smoke as evidence of one of the most authentic flying objects of strange sightings ever reported. It wasn't only the speed with which it disappeared that astonished observers but it was the fact that it was able to hang vertically in the air for several minutes, and apparently without any expenditure of power. It registered on radar sets in the Roman area for 36 minutes. There was unanimous agreement that the object was shaped like a cigar, and was colored silver on one side and red on the other. It travelled Northwest in direction and at one time it appeared to approach the earth as close as 1,000 feet.

Among the persons who witnessed it were an associate press correspondent Mario Andrelo, and an United States Ambassador Calre Boothe Luce. They both stated that it looked like a luminous silver pear-shaped object, or an inverted sawed-off cone in half. This was not the only sighting of an object in Italy. One was reported to have been seen shortly before that, of a similar nature, which also appeared in Southern Italy this time giving out a great deal of heat from a height of 3,000 feet. It performed gyrations and scorched a grove of popular trees.

Another sighting appeared over New Mexico where the people were startled by a eerie brilliant light of greenish-white which flashed across the sky, leaving a luminous trail. It melted into a cloudlike formation visible for about 15 minutes. It was described as a tremendous skyrocket, which left a trail of brilliant light behind it. Experts from the University of Meteorics, New Mexico stated that it was not a meteorite, and was not a Fireball, as they accompanied by an odd grating sound. It was decided to be "something of peculiar and unusual."

A few days after more strange reports came to light about this sighting. It was said to have caused interference on aircraft radio channels, and it caused T.V. sets to be out of focus. Yet amateur radio operators had no opposite experience! In fact they picked up as many as ten stations they had never heard before coming on loud and clear on their sets.

In Eire (England), controversy has been caused by the appearance in the sky of a brilliant disc which was seen by people living as far apart as Kildare in the South and Sligo in the West. Some observers have mentioned that the disc was surrounded by colored streaks trailing from its base as it travelled slowly in an east-west direction.

In Canada the "Vancouver News-Herald" have calculated that these reported sightings are valid, and that they are alien and come from another astral body like earth--or even possibly from another dimension which we do not yet comprehend. Possibly these strange objects are flown by pilots with bodies similar to our own although their brains and emotions are much more advanced and 'harder' than ours.

Meanwhile one of the most strangest mysteries connected with the UFO phenomena is the fall of Angel Hair after many sightings. When picked up by hand, the glass-like filaments simply dissolve and vanish. Yet they can be gathered by inanimate clamps and bolders, and have been. The United States Air Force is known to have examined samples of this filmy stuff but no public reports have been made. Are there Watchers in Outer Space?

MORE SAUCERS?

Berlingske Times (Danish) Translated from the Danish by Dr. Bo Prytz Ph.D

"LIGHTS IN THE SKY WERE METEORS"

"As reported in the newspaper "Berlingske Times" yesterday, many people were frightened when they saw a half a dozen "fire-balls" pass across the sky from south toward north Sunday past midnight.

"The paper explained that it was probably meteors, and this theory was supported by the astronomical observer Axel V. Nielsen from Ole Romer Observatory in Aarhus who said: It could have been several fire-balls following one fireballs from which they originated by disintegration in the atmosphere. A good example of this we saw in 1954 when a large fire ball which had divided itself into three separate fire balls rushed across the sky 60 Kilometers up.

"Observer Nielsen said that he would be very interested in reliable information about the phenomena last Sunday night - particularly about the course in relationship to the stars so that one could calculate height and direction of movement."

"AN EYEWITNESS ACCOUNT"

"A formation of 12 to 14 unknown bodies, each with a long fire tail passed over my head in a great heights coming from South-Southeast toward North-Northwest with no sound.

In my long life I have never seen the like of it. It appeared that the lighted bodies were guided on a definite course and then two of them stayed behind and then suddenly rejoined the formation again.

"They stayed at the same height as long as I could see them. I have seen meteors before but they always went in a curve and were extinguished in front of my eyes.

"Observer Axel V. Nielsen has said that it could be fireballs or it could have been one fireball disintegrating in the atmosphere.

"The light intensity and the length of the tails were the same for all of them and the way the formation moved indicated to me flying bodies under control. It will interest me and others to hear if any one else has seen such a phenomena.

"IT WAS NOT METEORS"

"An American Satellite Burned Up In the Atmosphere Over Denmark During the Night of April 5 (1965)"

"It appears, that the people who doubted that the lights in the sky during the night of April 5, were meteors, were right in their doubt. We have been informed that an American satellite burned up over Scandinavia at that time.

"Many people at 0:28 0' clock that night saw a half a dozen fire balls passing from horizon to horizon SSE to NNW. The passage lasted about 45 seconds.

"Observer Axel V. Nielsen who himself did not see the phenomena said that they couldn't be much doubt about it that it was meteors. Many millions of small meteors hit the Earth's atmosphere every day, and most of them disintegrate. The ones who saw the phenomena doubted this theory. One - the newspapers' artist Otto C., who several times has seen meteors, was convinced that they could not be that. He said 'I have never seen anything like it, and will never forget it.'"

"Strange, deep iceless valleys are a part of Antarctica's geography.

"They resemble detached fragments of the Sahara, somehow shifted into the far south.

"These curious geographic features are reported by Dr. Edmund A. Schonfield, of Clark University, from Victoria Land, which can be reached by helicopter from the permanent American station at McMurdo sound. These long, deep valleys apparently were gouged out by glaciers which long since have disappeared, Schonfield says. No snow or ice accumulates, and they are as dry as any desert."

This report came from the North American Newspaper Alliance and was reported world wide late last September. Amazing yet very true.

Yet even more amazing is the report from two Argentine bases confirming reports by British and Chilean scientists of the appearance on July 3, 1965 of an unusual celestial body over the frozen subcontinent.

The object, observed and photographed by the Argentine Navy men was shaped like a double-convex lens. It was colored mainly red and green, a Navy statement said.

The craft made no noise and moved generally eastward at changing speeds before disappearing. An even earlier report from a British Antarctic base said the object made geomagnetic instruments go wild.

This is by no means the first such report from the area of Antarctica. They come in every so often, ever so mysterious. Perhaps the UFO too have a base on this frozen part of the world or maybe flying saucers are coming (as many have suggested recently) from a vast HIDDEN LAND inside our own planet.

HERE WE GO AGAIN

Yes! Here we go again. Within the past few weeks reports of unexplained objects in our skies have been numerous. So much so that many are talking about this being bigger than the 1952 flap, which is the largest on record.

Here are but a few of the many reports:

On July 11 a UFO which interfered with electric power was observed over a Texas weather station. The object made sharp turns hovered for a while and then disappeared at a fast clip. It was observed by hundreds and reported on TV and radio nationwide.

Also on July 11 a UFO was observed over Lisbon, Portugal. It interfered with radios and showed electro-magnetic disturbances. The color was orange-red with green rays shooting out the side. The object, cylindrical in shape, was said to be about 24,000 feet up. An official release said the object was probably a balloon - one, we might add, that shot rays out the side and orange-red in color and interfered with radios.

Two following day, July 12, thousands of residents in at least four states (Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland) called newspaper offices, police stations and air bases to report a huge object that travelled across the sky. Official Air Force release stated that it was a balloon. Our comment REPORTED BY THOUSANDS?

July 17 saw the return of UFOs to Buenos Aires. They flew at "great speed" were disk shaped, white in color and photographed. What were they no answer! Other sightings continue to come in as the Mariner 4 continues to send pictures of the planet Mars back to earth. You explain it we can't.
